Harper Finally Finds Sweet Young Alice
By Glenn Gemini
After interviewing scores of sweet, young, prospective for the part of Alice in Wonderland in this year's Varsity Show, director Bill Harper finally found the perfect Alice. Strangely enough, it was not a girl after all who was selected, but a young man. This is the first time, however, that a boy has played Alice, and whose blushing innocence made him a natural to take the role in Watch Your Step Teer. The fortunate winner of the part was none other than Jeep Friedman, whom interpretation of the little girl parts on the stage, but Blair Kenneson, the director, designed to transfer the University of Virginia band to the stage.

Nevertheless, there is some method in the madness of the Watch Your Step musical. Everything more or less has some kind of significance and meaning. We're working on a strain of music that we've made, use of this freedom—the scenes turn on the trials and tribulations of a struggling actor in the 1949 Varsity Show, "The Father." He has also been a member of the Colonial Echo staff.

Land Reveals Loss Of 1,342 Volumes, Valued at $366

Results from the latest library inventory, an account of all stock on hand, taken after an elapsed of 11 years, reveals the loss of 1,342 books valued at $366 per year which at the estimated cost of three dollars per volume amount to an annual loss of $366.

Robert Land, librarian, stated that the rule of books lost is greater at William and Mary because of the open-stack system. He still affirms that the benefit of open stacks as against the system of runnels, is greater for the students than an annual loss of 122 volumes is a tragedy to the library.

He feels, however, that this annual loss is too high and requests that students be more careful in their future use of library resources.

Land further explained that the added expenses of establishing a foot item, recording and processing it in order to reduce the volume to its former shelf position are not taken into account in the $366 estimate.

This inventory required eight months to complete. Although only a few library staff members were assigned to it, Plans for future inversions have been designed to cover one fourth of the stacks each year over a period of four years.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I refer to the stop-bullvation which exists between all major varsity sports and the Athletic Association. It is a significant problem.

The tennis team to date this year has been unable even to pres­ent athletic seats for use in out-of-town matches. A similar situation exists in track and field, where the members of the track team are unable to attend contests due to the lack of athletic support. It is time the Athletic Association assumed the responsibility for producing a schedule which is fair to all sports.

Sincerely,

Indian Baseballers Capture Two on Mountain Trek

Hampton-Sydney, Richmond Lead Week’s List of Opponents

By Hugh Moore

William and Mary’s fine baseball Indian found one mountain air much healthier than the Tidewater smog last week end and garnered themselves a twist in win.

Coach Howard and crew made Leonard’s League trip with less attack, plastering a 7-5 defeat on Delaware State, after they had been returning to hand W&L its first defeat of the season.

In between, however, the Brewster moved over to New York and suffered a 15-0 shelling at the hands of VPI.

W&L dives into a formidable week of activity that included a strong collection of opponents, champion outfit and this year’s probable successors.

Hampton-Sydney, undefeated thus far and possessor of the first place, however, twisted a diamond performer, Gladstone Smith, blow into town for a game at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Woo Four Games

Simultaneous trips will get the grab solo against the Indians, has won the four runs on the hill thus far and musk in between to provide the Vermont players with a better than .500 batting average.

For are the Tigers a one-man club as they bid for the State flag. All but one player is pasting the bat and only 3.500.

Richmond, defending title-holder, is here Saturday and Washington College is due to tangle with the George Washington U. Wednesday.

Hi Wardwell hurled the victory over the A’s yesterday and added two more in the second game.

Three for Seven

Paul Webb led the slugging, bunting, and hitting with three for seven; and Charlie Mears added a homer and double to drive in five runs. Bill Watson had four singles in 4 trips.

Wardwell for 4 in both games for three and en Capt, Captain Billards, with a two-hugger good for three RBIs.

Indian Grubbers Ed Sport- were the villains as the winners showed over 9 runs in the first and added two more in the second to coast home.

Again led the hit parade with two long triples and an account- ing of 4 RBIs in the Tribe’s scores.

VPI Like Piebalds

VPI found Indians patchy, in the form of Spencer, Bill Stone and Ed Watts to their Belling, putting three circuit clouts and two three-baggers among their nine safeties.

Spencer came back stronger the next day, however. He was eight-burner over the Generals. He also surmounted a triple and two singles to improve his own cause.

Captain Hedgeman proved the next man making a home run in the seventh.

He was hot in the inning when the Generals scored again, putting over two runs, but he came through to knock them out of the way.

William and Mary's tennis strength wasn't measured up to that of previous seasons, but the Tribe can boast of a good prospect for future years since the current squad is moulded around a promising quartet of sophomores. And one of the foremost of the youthful and sound body of second-year men is Garner Anthony, now playing in the number three position.

The days of Larned, Kovaleski, Barlow, and Miller, old-time amateur with the tennis club have long since passed. Garner Anthony feels the Indian teams of the future years since the current strength won't measure up to that of previous seasons, but the Tribe can boast of a good prospect for the near future.

Saturday the Women's Athletic department sponsored a state wide sports day attended by representatives from 109, Mary Baldwin and Washington, and Randolph Macon. The featured activities for the day were tennis, fencing, archery, and softball.

The strictest competition occurred in the tennis matches which were played all morning and afternoon. W&M was represented by a team of two freshmen, who were picked indubitably from the harbor, and a pair of Latecomers, a Mary Washington representative, made a fine showing with her fast and steady shot.

Charles J. Duke Announces Dining Hall Price Reduction

Food prices in the college dining hall will be reduced in some cases, according to Charles J. Duke, dining hall manager. "I hope we will be able to keep an eye on the prices," commented Duke. "There has been a recent slight reduction in raw food costs of certain items, which enables us to reduce the prices of several entrees." The reduction effect will go into effect immediately.

Patties will take a 10 cent cut. Baked Virginia ham and sausage will be 85 cents, while grilled ham steak, coming down from one dollar to 95 cents, will be effect immediately.

Room Supper

Duke also announced plans for a buffet supper to be held in conjunction with the May Dance on May 19. The supper will be held in room 312 of the large dining hall, from 5 to 8 p.m., with faculty and student parents invited to eat. The students and their guests are to be accommodated in the large dining hall. Arrangement of a handsome buffet with a large assortment of foods, and elaborately decorated dining tables. The cost will be one dollar per person for all they can eat.

Washington and Lee, Rensselaer Combine

Washington and Lee has just announced the start of a combined course with Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute leading to a B.S. degree in engineering. The colleges will require three years at Washington and Lee and follow by two years at Rensselaer. The three years at Washington and Lee will be spent studying fine arts with emphasis on mathematics and physics. The time at Rensselaer will be spent in the study of engineering courses. The end of the program, the student receives a B.S. degree in engineering.

This plan is very much like the idea that has been in effect for some time at William and Mary in combination with MIT. "Life is the price we pay for a ticket to Eternity," said the college. "We serve in the interests of the students and yourselves, and thus contributing nothing to the cause of the program."

A Review —

Critic Lauds Selection, Ability of Auber

By Martin Herman

Stefan Auber,cellist, presented by the Williams and Mary Concert Association, Thursday evening, April 25th. The first half of the program contained the Beethoven Variation series and Allerius in A Major, and Beethoven's Variations in E Major. Following the intermission, Auber returned with Haydn's Concerto in D Major, and concluded his program with Variations on a Rococo Theme by Tchaikovsky. The encore followed the formal part of the program.

To me, this concert was of particular interest for two reasons. First of all, good music, well played, and secondly enjoyed by all, 900, is always worthy of note. Secondly, much can be seen by appraising the merits of Auber's concert while memory of the first three concerts. The concert was held from 5 to 8 p.m., with seniors and juniors interested in their programs

"This is a program, is a most difficult selection, and I feel that last Tuesday evening there were few who appreciated the program. It is too difficult a selection to control and make appealing.

Auber's music has the admirable distinction of being always fresh and direct. And how many coaches and parents believe this? Today's generation is a little bit of frightful.

'Country Too Large For Strong, Central Executive'-Putnam

Friday afternoon several members of the faculty and student body heard Claude A. Putnam, president of the National Manufacturers Association and the American Machine Company, deliver a group of lectures and guest assembled in the Jefferson Room.

Quoting the words of Thomas Jefferson, Putnam asserted that "our country is too large for a centralized government." He said, "We have not been aware of the mushrooming of national government. To the expense of local and state governments. We have been gradually losing states rights to the overwhelming power of the federal government."

"The sectional spirit," he continued, "has been spinning a web about our lives and we are too politically lazy to recognize or do anything about it."

Governmental expenses have increased about 200 per cent since 1918. To make up for this expense, the federal government is trying to dominate taxation. In 1918, they took 71 per cent of all taxes collected.

"Our founding fathers fought against a tyrannical government," Putnam continued. "Today it is for us to speak out against the invasion of the states by the federal government and national so that competition and initiative will not be stifled."

Four trucks and want to make a good investment, run down to the recent shop and latch on to this parcel of music, Charlie Spivak and his orchestra left a fine impression on us with the fine program that he presented at Mid-Winter dances. Now Charlie has invited us even more with his latest London recording of "Mona Lisa." It is truly a beautiful composition and is admirably handled by Tommy Lynn and the choir accompanied by Spivak and the orchestra. The other half, "If Love Were Love," one of W. C. Handy's tunes, and features the "Green Acres" symphony sounds unusually good on this recording and the orchestra really outshines the music that we shall hear next week.

McCuclly to Speak On Faith Tomorrow In Chapel Services

Cecil M. McCuclly, English in­structor, will be the chapel speak­er for tomorrow's services at 6:30 p.m. The discussion topic will be "Faith and the Analytical Method."

Last week's chapel speaker was Rabbi Sylvan D. Schwartzman, of Wise Street Temple, Nashville, Tenn., who spoke on The Return to Religion.

Rabbi Schwartzman emphasized the failure of education and science to relieve the tensions un­der which modern man lives. Man must therefore swing back to re­ligion and a standard system of morality, he said. This return, however, must not be without hope or reason, but rather a recreation which challenges the mind to use all possible means to create a better place.

Moreover Rabbi Schwartzman stated it must be an American re­turn which believers man's position to be "but little lower than the angels." Any approach short of this must be considered anti-demo­cratic, and will result in the truth of the biblical quotation that "those who burn strange fires at the altar of the Lord will be con­sumed by the fire."
