Dr. Marshall Takes Office
Successor To Dr. Umbeck

By Hugh Moore

Dr. Nelson Marshall, who succeeds Dr. Shaver G. Umbeck, has a long string of meritorious accomplishments in various fields.

Dr. Marshall's most recent venture was as head of the Food and Fisheries Laboratory. He served at the College of William and Mary for six years.

But, from all indications, Dr. Marshall will more than adequately fill the bill. Coming here, he leaves behind a long string of meritorious accomplishments in various fields.

Dr. Marshall was graduated from high school here in 1893. He went on to the University of Florida where he received his B.S. degree in 1897.

The new dean's journey into the educational world began at an early age. He has taught at the school for Boys of the Federal Government; the University of Florida in 1924; the State University in 1926; and the University of North Carolina as an associate professor.

Research into marine biology was part of the job at Rollins and led to the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution during the summers of 1941 and 1945.

Dr. Marshall was named to a six-year term in 1946.

Dr. Marshall's term will expire in September of 1952. He is a resident member of the Senate of Phi Beta Kappa.

Students and faculty are urged to support and welcome Dr. Marshall to the College.

WELCOME FRESHMEN

We extend a warm and sincere welcome to the class of 1953 and to all transfer students. Orientation week is a vital sign of the welcome that awaits you at the College of William and Mary. It is a time when you will learn much about the College.

This week marks the beginning of an association which vitally affects your future and which can only be properly understood by the College. We confidently hope you will seize the opportunity presented to you, and we hope the administration and faculty will respond to the challenge presented by you. The College's goal is to present you with the best possible education. We, as members of the faculty and administration, hope to be a vital part of your educational experience. The College has been designed to aid you in the beginning of your college career.

The news of the newly recognized college band is one of the most cheering notes that has been heard around here in years. The prospective performance of the band, together with the appearance of college functions should bring out the spirit that some people say is dead.

The next four years can be the most exciting years of your life. A proper balance of your time among scholastic, extra-curricular, and social activities is often the best guide. In this way, you will prove the most rewarding. Again, we wish you welcome. We know you will like it here.

William and Mary Go Round

EDITOR'S NOTE: We have felt that we have not been able to think up our work and go on for the second or third reading. We have been thinking for a "Welcome to William and Mary" from the books, in advance, and hurriedly fill in the page edges, hopefully. Here's one letter which prefers to skip that patter and let the facts speak.

The fact is, you're welcome. Your coming here has ruined the buzz of the old campus. Each boy had his girl; each girl had her secret. You fixed it so that just about everyone was being fixed (we must admit that we had a devil of a time; getting volunteers for the guards at Barron). Yet, we were, a happy little group.

PITY Disturbance! We have had our pity disturbances...an ignominious sophomore parade, at which the administration instigated several slender oafs in connection with our college. We are in the face of overwhelming evidence that the student government has a certain amount of respect for the press, and that our freshmen are growing in those spots. Not

The Dues rules are as follows:

1. There must be a dues meeting at all times during the week. Names must be written plainly on book.
2. On Saturday and Sundays, the students will carry rifles with the college colors while the members will wear black tie.
3. Upon entering or leaving the building, the student must report to the dorm center walk and bow or curtsey to Lord Botetourt.
4. Upon the front steps of the structure must be labeled.
5. The administration of the Legion of Decency...an oddity after each of the battalion or get together with your roommates and wander through the field.

ADVICE FROM THE EDITOR

1941, That Is-

It should prove fairly easy to draw the line between dating and the controversial juggling popular.

There never has been a time when the world has been so feeble. As the powers of society have not got a temporary motorty by introducing the "Right To Life" to prove how healthy, many reformers have been well informed. They will always find sufficient fullness of life to make the growth of social life or social advancement through the proper channels too internally consummated.

The "toddle", for example, seems to be a "no-go". The idea of marriage as at present, is: improved from the toiling steps of a child, and by agreeing to change without accompanying wiggles, it does not violate good taste, but violations of good taste have become disgrace.

A great deal depends on the attitude of the person as to the matter of what the person is to have. Where restraint is absent and emotion is provided, the person can find the most innocent steps corrupted to suit the lower, unchaste, psycho-sexual social functions have always been the result of such unwarranted breaches of conduct. With the influences of the young women, women realize that mutual contamination is not considered good taste and propriety of the sex. We find that the common denominator of all will never be necessary to curb the morals

Sincerely,
Hugh De Samper

Stewart Promises Band Improvement

Prospects for the William and Mary Band are better this year than they have been for years, according to Alan C. Stewart, director of the band and orchestra.

In an interview, Stewart described some of the steps that have been taken since last fall towards improving this "better band." One of the most important innovations, perhaps, will be the organization, something that has been all but totally lacking for years. Herefore the band has appeared on the street and at games and rallies only fairly well rehearsed and with nothing to hold them together as a group and their uniforms.

Said Stewart, "This year will see a marked improvement in band performance. We not only have the same responsibility to the students for a good show but we must deserve the confidence placed in us by the college with the funds we have needed so badly."

New Budget

Banking equally in importance with organization is the new annual budget and the $800 grant from the college. The grant was made last year with the realization that the band is a vital part of the student life and cannot operate in connection with the college with only the cheerleader behind it. The initial grant has been exhausted in instrumental purchase and the band is now trying to find funds with only a cheerleader behind it. Chairman of the committee on special events, President Cancels Concert Programs

Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the college, has decided to cancel the concert series by invited artists, such as those given during the past few seasons of the college.

Pomfret took this step in view of the lack of interest and financial support on the part of students and faculty, according to Dr. A. Pelzer Wagener, chairman of the committee on special events.

There are indications that those may be some faculty concerts during the year, with the possibility of one or two others developing.

The Institute of the Theatre has just completed its second highly successful summer under the direction of Miss Althea Hunt, associate producer of fine arts and director of the William and Mary Theatre.

Miss Hunt is receiving widespread acclaim for her work with the Institute. The Richmond Times Dispatch, one of Virginia's largest newspapers, recently carried a lengthy feature, highly acclaiming Miss Hunt and the Institute of the Theatre.

The Institute's seminars, featuring such renowned names as Dr. John Reich and Robert Edwards, present a large share of the guests appearing in the programs of the Institute of the Theatre.

The class in play production of the summer season gave 18 separate plays in the Wren Westschool Theatre, all directed by class members. Two plays were written in the playwriting class, taught by Susanne Sherman.

Indians Nose Out Houston, 14-13, Tackle Pittsburg Saturday

O'Pella Smothers Conversion Kick To Save Victory

A greatly under-rated and supposedly beaten Houston eleven came out of the game last Saturday quarter to come within a whisker of tying the vaunted Indian team, but were finally beaten by the astounding score of 14 to 13. The game was featured by rugged blocking and a great deal of both teams, plus the brilliant offensive work of the Cougars. Harry Jack Cloud and Ed Weber, and Captain Jim Macken showed their worth in doing their scoring in the first half, thus extending the Cougar lead until the final period, when the best team caught fire and denied the Tribe goal line to give Houston some real bad breaks.

Scores

The Williamsburg invaders started the game by putting up the first point on the board. After Randy Davis had plucked a pass from the Tribe's quarterback, fourth down, Cloud overloaded the punt from the goal line, added the extra point.

Both teams on the scoreboard at the conclusion of the season opener. Only the break-through of blocking back Frank O'Pella started things off with a rush, behind the momentum of a 5-yard drive. Weber and Jack Cloud covered 54 of those yards in six plays, with Cloud plunging over from the goal line. Lex added the extra point.

In the second period, the two teams pushed each other up and down the field, gaining some measurements of William and Mary territory, but were unable to score, with the Tribe leading 13-0 at the half.

Cougar Rally

As the fourth quarter began, the Cougars started a drive that went 30 yards to the Indian line. Alan Neveux, former Little All American, spearheaded a rush with his hold on the ball and gained 20 yards. Neveux passed the ball to Bob Silver for a 21-yard gain. Silver passed the ball to Frank O'Pella who gained 7 yards on the third play. On the fourth play, Lex added the extra point, giving the Tribe a 14-0 lead.

The untested Tribe tandem passed third in the NCAA tournament last June as an unsuccessful attempt to defend the crown that had rested on the Tribe for the past two years.

Fred Kovaleski, Howe Altwater and Captain Jim Macken represented the nationally prominent triad to become the new Indian offensive setup. Kovaleski was selected fifth, only the break-through of blocking back Frank O'Pella started things off with a rush, behind the momentum of a 5-yard drive. Weber and Jack Cloud covered 54 of those yards in six plays, with Cloud plunging over from the goal line. Lex added the extra point.

There were not only other players on the lineup, but also the terrible Texas heat, which caused considerable turmoil in the results. Third seeded Back Kevan of Cornell suffered a sunstroke and had to be taken out of the game.

The players had not only other players on the line, but also the terrible Texas heat, which caused considerable turmoil in the results. Third seeded Back Kevan of Cornell suffered a sunstroke and had to be taken out of the game.

The attendance figures were not released. Kevanalekki made the best showing of the Tribe, going to the end zone to make Kevan San Francisco in a head-to-head contest that saw many Indian faces before they came out of the game with Kevan tired.

Altwater played some of his best ball, but also some of his poorest, scoring with the team in the second quarter. Lex added the all-important extra point.

In addition to the unusual heat, there was another complication as the team had to face the problem of winning the championship. The Indian forward wall.

Hoitsma Appointed To Staff
As Al Thomas Resigns Job

Al Thomas, who was by far the best track and field man Virginia Tech has produced, has been replaced by Lou Hoitsma. It was announced by R. N. McCrory, director of athletics. Hoitsma will serve as associate football coach and cross-country coach along with his track duties.

Thomas, who came to the Reservation in 1947 after a short but brilliant record at high school coaching, is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and was named to the Associated Press All-Big Ten team in 1942. His tenure at V-Tech was the greatest in the history of the school that will soon, it is hoped, be able to take on any team in the conference without minuvage. His record, while not spectacular, produced the feeling that only a lack of manpower, rather than coaching ability, kept the Hokies from being a threat to the present conference powers.

Thomas' football players showed a lot of meat in several contests each season, plus their regular daily duties while the varsity. It was in practice sessions, rather than intercollegiate competition, that the freashman and junior varsitymen of Al Thomas proved their worth. The Tidewater Mammoths, the famous hill-and-dales, carry a six meet winning streak into the opener. Hoitsma is expected to face some early adversity in guiding these talented youngsters, however, as all intercollegiate competition, except for the annual Liberty Cup, will be held in the independent league.

Deadline Announced

Football, track and tennis will open the program, which will begin as soon as teams and schedules can be drawn up. Smith hopes to have at least two teams from each dormitory entered in the independent league. Deadline for registration of track teams and tennis entries is Wednesday, close of summer school. He will assume his duties next month.

Mikula on the coaching staff.

Among Hoitsma's most noteworthy achievements include the famous fury-type catch in the end zone against North Carolina last year that enabled the Hokies to upset the Tarheel2 atop the national poll. Occam's razor-like precision and decision-making were the trademarks of the W-Tech attack last year. Bren Macken, Former Star Returns To Coach Net Team

Brendon Macken, former Tribe tennis ace, saw from the sidelines what he feels will return to the Reservation in the capacity of coach of the 1949 edition of the net Warriors, according to R. R. McColl, director of athletics.

Macken, who played number three man on the 1947 Inter-Collegiate champion, and didn't lose a dual match in school, replaces Dr. Sherry B. Umbrecht, who led the Hedkens for the past eight years.

A native of Montreal, Canada, Macken has been on his country's Davis Cup squad for several years, at present holding down the number one rug on the Canadian ladder. In sectional competition this summer, Macken upset Billy Button, Australians ace, in the first round of play.

In addition to his prowess on the tennis courts, Macken was an honor student while he was in school here. He was named to the Theta Delta Chi honorary leadership fraternity, and was a member of the Theta Delta Chi social fraternity.

Terrible Tommy Saw Much Action In All-Star Loss

...no organization. Too many defense men and not enough ballers. Those were the comments of Tommy Thompson, ex-Indian pivot-man, after the College All-Stars had absorbed a 21-7 lashing at the hands of the Philadelphia Eagles last August 13. Tommy, who started on the front Indian terms of '47 and '48, and was considered the best pivot-man in the South last year, saw a lot of action during the first half of the game and gave an excellent account of himself.

The Collegians had the services of the three best centers in the collegiate ranks last year. Thompson's comrades at the pivot position included All-Americans Chuck Bednarik and Alex Blackman.

In Chicago, where the game was played, the sweltering heat took its toll on the players, and the weather, worst case. Tommy claims he will lose a dual match in school, and that he will put it to the position that he deserves in W&M's rear-rank of college squads.

We will fight, fight, fight for Victory
Brave old Indians, Hail! hail to thee.
This our battle song as we march down the field
Fight on for victory.

So fight, fight, fight Indian warrior team,
Alma Mater's sons all hail to thee.
As we march along the victory song,
Indians, fight, fight, fight for Victory.

CHORUS:
Oh hail, Indian warrior team,
Down the field march on to Victory.
Hail, brave old Indians today
Swing down the field, Good to go for Indian Indiana.
And raise the silver, green and gold today,
William and Mary Victory.

This march will be played at the Pep Rally Thursday night, so know the words by them.

Virginia Tri-County Baseball Loop Well-Stocked With Indian Athletes

William and Mary was well represented in the Tri-County baseball league this summer. For those who don’t know, the Tri-County is a semi-pro league that operates in the passenger-carrying territory as far north as Toano. The teams representing Toano and Williamsburg were well stocked with players who won the summer school.

In the recent all-star game, the York-James City team outscored the lower peninsula outfit, 11-2. Two of the principal figures in the local victory were a pair of ex-William and Mary standouts, Chick Fox and Curt McSherry, who combined those who don’t know, the Tri-County district is a meager six hits. McSherry also hit the plate with a .300 average. Fox, one of the Sacred Heart school’s stars, was a freshman phenom on Coach Marvin List’s 1949 diamond staff. Along with Fox, he has been a regular first baseman of the Tribe team, and infielder J.J. O’Connor was a vital factor in many of their victories.

Team-mates of Yeowee on the Toano club were Bob Ward, regular first baseman of the Tribe team, and infielder J.J. O’Connor. Ed Douston, Indian outfielder, played first for the Williamsburg club, and Harry Scott, third baseman, or the Tri-County, handled the shortstop duties for the Hampton team.

Big Green Teams Score 74 Wins In Banner Year

Last year, in all sports, the Indian teams ran up a total of 74 victories in 115 inter-collegiate contests for a winning percentage of 64.9, plus about two out of every three contests going down on the right side of the score book. This is a high overall percentage despite the fact that two of the eight varsity teams turned in losing seasons in 1949.

The big point-makers in this high percentage were the unbeaten baseball team and the football and basketball teams which won both big and small victories and established a dominant position in their respective conferences. Cross-country, also sporting an undefeated record, provided a small drop in the bucket with a small schedule.

The football, baseball, and basketball teams were the most prominent, all three ranking high in the nation. A bowl game for the football team, a 14-game victory string for the hardwood over a four-year span, and a phenomenal scoring spree for basketballer Chet Giermak provided the force behind the rise to prominence of these Big Green Teams.

All the Indian teams played representative schedules—often meeting teams with student bodies many times the size of William and Mary’s 3,000 enrollment. As time passes, the program calls for access to some 20 chemical elements. A growing plant requires access to some 20 chemical elements.

"The Flat Hat, the name of this magazine, was selected by its first staff on October 2, 1911. The specific name, the Flat Hat, dates back to a club of that name founded at the college in 1760. The club was purely social in character and many believe that the Flat Hat Club led to the founding of Phi Beta Kappa in 1776."

Heat, Politics, Concerts, Foreign Students Disturb W&M Summer School Lethargy

The 1948-49 summer session was known as the summer of the "big heat." High temperatures moved in with the 850 students at the beginning of the session and stayed through graduation. Old-timers were unable to recall a hotter summer, and many fans were impressed with the technological solution provided by the air conditioning system which was in use. Outdoor classes became impossible and many classrooms had to be closed. Some classes were cancelled altogether and many had to be moved indoors. The normal procedure of providing plenty of fireworks in and around Williamsburg, State Senator John S. Battle, of Charlotteville, boasted that the dominant feature of the summer was the lack of rackets in college history. Preachers who had opposed the Byrd organization in many years. Horace M. Edwards and Benjamin L. Arden came in for the rear in third and fourth place respectively.

Dr. Nelsen Marshall, new appointed dean of the college, will serve as faculty chairman for the 1949-50 school year, according to a recent announcement by Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the college.

Oliver and Dr. George Lyman as members of the committee, which changes annually. The committee chairman is charged with administration of the Southern Conference's eligibility committee.

The committee members of the group, which determines the athletic policy of the college, are Charles L. Dilke, Jr., Jones, and R. N. McCray, athletic director and head of the department of athletics. Dr. Pomfret is an ex-officio member of all faculty committees.

Churche men Attend Service At Bruton

Colorful High-Episcopal Church pageantry was seen in Williamsburg and at Jamestown Island for the first time last week when 1500 Episcopalian and colonial church preachers visited here.

Among the church dignitaries was the Right Reverend J. W. C. Bland, Bishop of London, who visited the campus as guest of Dr. John E. Pomfret, president. The First Bishop of London was named for having established the office of chancellor at the College of William and Mary under its charter in 1693.

The chuchmen are in the United States to attend a series of Bicentennial Congresses celebrating the 500th anniversary of the translation of the "Book of Common Prayer" into English. Entering Bruton Parish, before a congregation that filled the building and overflowed into the walls around the building, the Churchmen filed into the Governor's box and knelt to prepare for Communion.

Botetourt Loses Head During Revolution

...nothing remains here but an old statue of an old wretched English general... to be seen on the college yard. This rather derogatory reference to the statue of Lord Botetourt was made by C. de la Pena, who was at one time a modern languages professor at the College of William and Mary, in a letter written in 1827.

The University of Richmond, students who called "His Majesty's late Lieutenant and Governor General" with a white paint mixture in late July apparently shared a similar opinion with Mr. de la Pena.

It remains, therefore, for us to surmise that only after a period of deferential curtsying and bowing, is the proper attitude of reverence and humility felt in the presence of this well-loved and admired colonial governor.

Arrival and Cost

On May 29, 1773, the Virginians announced the arrival of the statue from London on the ship, Virginia, and estimated the cost at 700 guineas. The General Assembly voted an appropriation for the statue which was to be placed in the Capitol building.

The General Assembly voted an amount of rough treatment. During the revolutionary period, when any symbol of royalty was destroyed.

In 1776 in Williamsburg, the statue has received as little attention as rough treatment. During the revolutionary period, when any symbol of royalty was destroyed, the statue was decapitated and an arm knocked off. Through the years rival schools have found the statue a tempting brunt of their rivalry.

The college yard. In a letter to his father following this action Henry St. George Tucker wrote, "it was purchased by the president and professors for $400, and is placed in the center of the college walk, facing town. His head has been very dextrously stuck on with an iron plate by the bishop and Mr. Moody. It has already become in some measure a reservoir to the curious, and should the statue improve in the art of standing arms and legs and noses, it will be very worthy of a visit when you return."

The Freshman Tribunal usually arranges for the gentlemen to have an annual scrubdown rendered with loving care by a member of the freshman class. Although perhaps not an appropriately dignified ceremony, the scrubbing serves to clean the dust from the folds of his cape and the moss from his eyebrows.

"Gun Game" Fatal

Chadbourn, N. C. — Borrowing a pistol and a single cartridge, James Albert Stritt, 21-year-old student decided to play "Russian roulette." He twisted the chamber of the revolver, loaded the gun, depressed the trigger with the muzzle directed just above the ear. He fired the one bullet in the gun, killed him.
