Student Holds Own Responsibility
In Acceptance Of Honor System

Last week there appeared in The Flat Hat a letter to the editor from C. M. Andrews, editor of The Roanoke World-News, in which he accused the school of making its honor code "a pathless campus.

At the same time, the honor student body of Roanoke is now ready to throw over its honor code for an alternative plan which would take the responsibility out of the hands of the students, and place it in the hands of the administration.

In the Tuesday, Mar. 11, edition of The Roanoke World-News, Mr. Andrews' editorial appeared. It is apparent from this editorial that the college honor system principle is in the midst of a trial period. Mr. Andrews also makes it very clear that he is in the opinion that the system is worth maintaining: we are in agreement with him.

We think now is the time for the student body of William and Mary to consider the trend of the system here. It has been under attack numerous times recently. But while suggestions for changes have been made, we are of the opinion that even minor alterations will result in the eventual dissolution of the code as we know it.

We might be the William and Mary counterpart to the suffragist, apologize for likening ourselves to her, and set her up as the occupant of the alter to which we must fill in for various and sundry things.

This issue is fundamentally not a question of changing the mechanics of the honor code, but rather one of willingness to accept the individual responsibility required by the system and let each student ask himself if he can be an honorable person—that's all the honor system requires.

Letter To The Editor Asks
Cooperation in ODK Campaign

It was recently announced that the ODK circle of ODK is sponsoring a "spare the campus" campaign. This announcement had little or no effect on the students as campus cutting and throwing away of scraps on the grounds is just as prevalent as before. We feel certain that no effect on the students as campus student government. On the other hand, the "oh, what a beautiful morning" type of student is fully aware of it, laziness is their keyword. They are ultra-cynics and indifferent to the "stabilitas et fides" of the past.

"Value of Co-eds: "Blank Filling"

Since we've decided to start a spring campaign about social rules, we have received some comment from the front office. One of the first floor Territorial-Wythe folk said that the day we were a free-flying feminist with equal rights that we might as well treat the women students as equals. Our story ends if not negligent. All the time he is saner than the rest of the story of William and Mary. Coeds Begin Net Practice

Tennis practice got underway last week with Miss Martha Barkdine as coach. Unless the weather permits practice will be held in Boyw Gym on Tuesday and Thursday nights, at 7 p.m.

Prospects for a successful season look bright with Elaine Pasmore, Betty Cosbey, Pat McKeen, Marjorie Oak and Elizabeth McLaughlin, returning from last year, according to Miss Barkdine. Showing great promise are Ruth Liljegren, Jean Morgan, Jan Brimforth and Jane Oldendorf.

The schedule for the season has not been announced but will feature several matches, the first being against Swarthmore college on May 1.

There is a definite need of more players to afford competition for the varsity team and to compete in the minor meets. All persons interested in trying for the team may see Miss Barkdine or report in Boyw Gym on Tuesday or Thursday at 8 p.m.

FRANCIS HOUSE

The swimming season which is breaking all the standing coed records is proving to be quite something but "loudly" when the dip across Boyw pool in varsity swim meets which is under the direction of the tennis house of Francis House and occurs every Thursday at 8 p.m.

The swimming session, which has been added to the already large William and Mary club, will have Miss Ada Morison, Director, and Mr. "Rushe" Mc-Cray, Director, in charge.

The schedule for the season has been announced for the following dates: May 9 and the National for Air Day, with both games to be played in Williamsburg. The addition of these two teams will increase the schedule to 18 games.

By BETTY COUMBE

Reviewing the records of the co-ed varsity teams this year and the lack of spirit or public enthusiasm toward Intramurals it would seem that either an intercollegiate program should be set up—an intramural program—but NOT BOTH.

Poor Varsity Records

The varsity hockey team had a disastrous season, winning none and losing five or six matches. Intramurary hockey was conducted on a class basis and was generally considered a failure.

Intramural basketball produced some interesting matches but the lack of spectator enthusiasm as contrasted with the spirit shown last year points out a serious defect in some department of the Intramural organization. Varsity basketball also showed a degeneration of skills although the desire to win was prevalent. The Square express ended the season with a 1-0 win, last record. Since there is no intramural funding program involving sorority and dormitory teams the burning varsity should have clear sailing in their future bouts.

Swimming Difficulties

Swimming Intramurals were held in the fall and winter but were of a degree satisfactory. However, the varsity swimming squad formed this spring, while it has some outstanding swimmers, is more noted for the lack of squad marks than for last year's varsity which refused to go out for the team. One of the reasons might be the large amount of practice time involved which the inexperienced schedule does not provide.

It is the general consensus of opinion that last year's teams were far better from everyone's point of view. As things stand now it is pretty obvious that it is the finder's choice.

Sigma Rho Wins League Game; Vets Dorm Rolls For Title

Sigma Rho, whose record is marred only by a loss to Sigma Alpha Nuclon, and Vets Dorm "A", with all winning slate, now have the championship of their respective leagues in the basketball tournament. The title game will be played Wednesday, March 26, at 7:00 in Elm Gym. Sigma Rho will be led into the contest by their spark plug, Paul Colonna, and their high scoring ace, Jim Stewart. Vets "A" can draw upon Chuck Williams, Dick Gaines, and Dick Heebler for an outstanding game.

Bill Shearin, Go-Getter ace, won the ping pong tourney by defeating Norm Kozak of Vets "C" in the quarter finals and Harry Robinson, Pi Kappa Alpha, in the semi-finals. Heebler won his way into the last round by virtue of his 21-15, 18-21, 21-14 decision over Bill Colonna of Sigma Rho and 21-11, 21-7 win over Bill Smith.

Deadline for entering "softball" tourney is Tuesday, March 25. All teams must have at least 14 men on the squad.

The annual men's intramural swimming meet will take place during the week of April 24. For entries see the intramural bulletin board.

WAA Purposes Explained In Answer To Coed Requests

Many students have requested that an explanation of the Women's Athletic Association be given.

The purpose of the WAA "shall be the promotion of healthful and recreational physical activities for all women students of the college. A joint committee is composed of three members of the faculty and four members of the coed student body. Each member of the senior class acts as president, a member of the junior class, and a sophomore as secretary. The members are elected annually under the supervision of the WSCGA. The WAA is interested in explaining the purpose and organization of the WAA and in taking part in the main activities of the Association. The junior representative not only acts as a member of the class but also records all points earned by women students."
"Gold" Eleven Wins, 19-14, in Scrimmage

Serving three touchdowns in the first half, the "Gold" team defeated the "Green" team, 19-14, in a scrimmage game. The "Gold" team, evenly divided football squad begins with Saturday afternoon.

The rival backers, "Indios" Lex and Stan Magdziak, took to the air in a hot set up a score each. Jack Moger, a blocking back, intercepted a pass from Magdziak and raced 55 yards to the goal line for the second goal of the game. Lex added another point with a successful conversion to claim the first tally.

Lex Sets Up Goal

In the second period, Lex completed several passes to set up the third "Gold" touchdown. From position, Pat Hager, returned another two-yard line to add another six points to the "Gold" side of the ledger.

In Scrimmage from Magdziak and raced 65 yards for the first tally. Dick Hungerford accounted for the first "Gold" tally.

The brotherhood of man was a reality instead of being merely a vague conception and everybody lived happily all the time with no greed, no poverty, virtually no crime, no crooked politics; and everybody was equal to everybody else, regardless of his birth, race, creed or the way he cut his hair.

"I don't know if I like this idea of an interview." This was the rather disconcerting comment first received from Mr. Solomon concerning his personal opinions. (This is probably due to the common prejudice of all editors against giving personal opinions which they know will never pass through their own strict censorship.) Such an attitude of professional detachment is hard to deal with, to say the least. Nevertheless, a week later, we got a very cooperative reception.

Charles F. Marsh Heads Research On Hampton Roads-Peninsula Area

By EVA KAFKA

209 Marshall-Wythe Hall has until now been recognized by many students as either (1) a dispensary for ink, (2) a room containing a pencil sharpener, or (3) the resting place of a black and white cocker spaniel.

That 209 is actually the center of a project which affects all students of the social sciences is generally not understood. The work carried on is a series of studies of the impact of the war on this strategic region, and was initiated by the division of social sciences of the college on Feb. 1, 1945.

Impact Of War

The studies deal with some of the economic, political and social effects of the war on this region and are carried on as individual research projects by faculty members of William and Mary and its branches in Richmond and Norfolk. C. F. Marsh, professor of economics and business administration, is the chairman of the committee responsible for the coordination of these studies and for the provision of research facilities. James E. Pate, professor of government, and Charles F. Marsh, dean of the faculty, are other members of the committee, assisted by Wayne E. Kornodle, professor of sociology. Robert G. Caldwell, associate professor of sociology, Grace J. Blank, assistant professor of history, W. W. Moss, professor of government, Mrs. Caldwell, and Mrs. Wayne Kornodle serve as researchers and part-time research secretaries.

Grant from Rockefeller Foundation

A three year grant of $31,500, makes it possible for the research to be extended to the entire Hampton Roads-Peninsula area and to be conducted on a more stable, continuous basis, since faculty members can be freed from part of their teaching duties and provided with needed research facilities. The information which is gathered here and the records which are established will assist the provision of research facilities.

Kornodle chairs the committee which will review the progress and recommend the dissemination of the research. Members of the committee, assisted by Wayne E. Kornodle, professor of sociology, Robert G. Caldwell, associate professor of sociology, Grace J. Blank, assistant professor of history, W. W. Moss, professor of government, Mrs. Caldwell, and Mrs. Wayne Kornodle serve as researchers and part-time research secretaries.

Students Participate

Advanced students as well as graduates are working on the project as student assistants, but even the uninstructed graphs and reports collected in 209 Marshall-Wythe afford an illuminating glimpse into this field of timely research.
