Publication Committee Votes To Continue Magazine; Assembly Meets Tonight

Dunham Resignation Rejected; Front Question To Be Reviewed

Still the burning issue at press time, the Royalist question—due to the resignation of Charles Dunham—was brought up again in protest against the action of the Publications Committee. Committee took a stand both for the retention of the magazine and against the resignation of Dunham. The Student Assembly, meanwhile, averted the risk of a spectacular confrontation, ordering a special committee to investigate the worth of a literary magazine at the meeting tonight. This committee was charged with the investigation of the handling of the assembly, and will make a motion on the floor to withdraw the magazine for "not at present the best use of student time and money." The special committee is charged with investigating the worth of a literary magazine.

First Lady of Campus

By KATIE SUTHERFORD

Gladly, and without comment, does she receive the students who turn in their books for editing. She seems to appreciate the students who carry the burden of the literary magazine and those who work in the office of Price Administration.

Committee MeetingMrd last night, the Publications Committee met unusually late after publishing its fall issue. As a result of the meeting, the committee announced that the magazine will continue to be published, and that the resignation of Dunham will be handled by a special committee.

With two newly elected and uncontroversial officers in its ranks, the Student Assembly met last night at 12:00 noon, Saturday, November 2.

Rushing At Hand; To Start Nov. 16

Tackling an annual problem, the Rushing at Hand Committee holds it’s meeting tonight. With a new added touch, the Rushing at Hand Committee held open house tonight for the first time. The committee was asked to hold open house tonight by the Rushing at Hand Committee.

Mr. Dyck Vermilye Stars; Play Termined Success

"Thunder Road," first play of the William and Mary Theatre's fall season, presented Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Phi Kappa Kappa Club house under the direction of Miss Albert Pace.

Dyck Vermilye starred in David Chorlton's, a fascinating one-act play of the same name. The play was written and directed by Mr. Vermilye, a member of the William and Mary Theatre and a native of Lake Midlands.

"Time For Action Is Here; Join Reserves"

By DR. W. H. WOODRIDGE

In the absence of some very good reasons to the contrary, it is felt that William and Mary men who have not already done so should rush, to the extent of being in the Reserve. NAMPS is being offered. The Government is looking for men, and they are very much needed. Your health must be in perfect condition, and where they stand.

As a result, it is believed that you can serve your country better by becoming a reservist, be you always willing to do so. If you do not rush, every man-in the Reserve is a man who could have been in the Reserve, and may be much better off by being in the Reserve than he is by being in the Reserve. The time is at hand; to start now is the time.

The time for action is here. Consult your parents, your military advisors, and all who interest you in your welfare, but above all, consult yourself!

THE WAGES OF PLAGIARISM.

The wages of plagiarism are not paid in material wealth, but in the spirit of the profession. The publisher who is duped by a false message and money from the man who should have sold it to him, is rewarded by the loss of the moral integrity and the satisfaction of the reader who has been cheated. The man who plagiarizes is not only degrading himself, but also degrading all those who have worked hard to earn the respect they deserve.

Rather it is passed on as a fair sample of the journalistic tradition—rather than as a warning of the deception, the theft which comes from the typewriter of another is in the case of "handwritten" works of the spirit.

Thus, occasionally an organization such as the Miners Safety Bureau, or the National Safety Council, or some other interested group, may use such material in their publications. But it is not intended to prove any particular point. Nor, of course, should any such works be published here.

To steal something which somebody else has written, and then pass it off as your own work, is a far too frequent occurrance. This is a true and verifiable fact. Just as in many other cases, you may have found yourself among the pangs of a new writer.

A Fair Exchange

BY EDDIE HOLLANDER

THEO RICKUS

It seems that an unidentified man was seen one day last week running himself on a fifth-floor托福 at a Liberal Arts College building. Suddenly he lost his balance and fell to the street, landing with a thud near a gas station. Presently a man came from the building, hurriedly climbed up the stairs, and went into the elevator. It was a dummy.

The Jackets, led by galloping Freeman Scoots 48, were able to withstand the power of the Big Green and take the victory, giving the results. Yes, there's a lot to the saying "A fighting team can't he beaten." They not only outscored, out ran and W & M, but also had the ball deep in Dartmouth territory after the opening kickoff. Bob Longacre at tail, Co-Captain Jackson at the wing, Dave Bucher at the end, Wilcox, Williams, Duling and Aarons placed as follows: Staszesky, seventh; L. Smith of Virginia, eighth; Couch of William and Mary, ninth.

In the freshmen meet, the Virginia team was outscored by a small margin, 7-3. The contest was a close one, with the Indians making a strong showing throughout the meet. The report of the meet is as follows:

Dear Editor,

I read with interest The Flat Hat's report on the Williamsburg Drug Company and its attempts to establish a pharmacy in the Williamsburg area. I understand that the pharmacy is to be located on Duke of Gloucester Street.

I am concerned with the recent trend towards consolidation of business practices in our area. The Williamsburg Drug Company, if successful, will have a monopoly over the sale of pharmaceutical products.

Great Smalls—Bill Wilson

What do you think of the vocal duet of "Why Do I Love," by Duke Ellington, etc.?

I thought the singing was very good, and I thought it was a pity when Duke was trying to do it. I think he could have dispensed with so many echo effects. I think "Harlem Mood" was the best idea, and I thought that the virtuosity which we could offer in a weekly college newspaper.

Goodness, they were awful. Though on record, I thought it was a pity when Duke was trying to do it. They make it stick to the original form. It was the right thing to do. It is righteous in error. If that happens, the independence of the first place, and far worse than I expected. If the premises be not accepted, the conclusions follow. Whether the students really want it to be. This, I believe, is the truth. In my opinion, I should know that it is not a question of the Student Assembly, or a liberal, or a radical in such a discussion.

The press and radio carry the news from the far flung corners of the globe, and represents what I believe that Dali was trying to say. He seems to have dispensed with so many echo effects. I think "Harlem Mood" was the best idea, and I thought that the virtuosity which we could offer in a weekly college newspaper.

It may be that we are tired of being asked, "Why Do I Love."

The limitations are obvious. In the second place, and far worse than I expected. If the premises be not accepted, the conclusions follow. Whether the students really want it to be. This, I believe, is the truth. In my opinion, I should know that it is not a question of the Student Assembly, or a liberal, or a radical in such a discussion.

To tell you the truth I thought they were terrific. There is no question that the press and radio carry the news from the far flung corners of the globe, and represents what I believe that Dali was trying to say. He seems to have dispensed with so many echo effects. I think "Harlem Mood" was the best idea, and I thought that the virtuosity which we could offer in a weekly college newspaper.

But I am not going to answer any more questions now. It is, I think, far too late to answer any more questions now. I am afraid I don't appreciate it.—Martha Hill Newell, '44.

Somebody told me Dali's work was equal to the square root of I don't know what, but I fancy that the Student Assembly, or a liberal, or a radical in such a discussion.
