This is for the convenience of naval personnel in advising correspondents of assignment to a new ship or station. An appropriate number of these cards will be issued to each individual concerned by his commanding officer if he desires, within 15 days of his arrival at his new permanent station.
Few men on American battleships ever see their vessel in action because most battle stations are below deck or under cover. For instance, when the new U.S.S. Iowa goes into her first encounter, at least 2,200 of her 2,500 officers and men will be able to follow the fight only through the description of its progress broadcast to them over loud-speakers.
