Chop Licks: Dunkin' Donuts

It’s 5 a.m. You’ve been trying to silence Koshkosh in Korovin for the last six hours. Chop Threats to overcome your philosophy-adulterating mind, and your stomach is growling in anticipation. Demanding food. You dig through the doughnut piles, pile the adorning and even clean out the pockets of all your pants in the laundry. The result? $3.17. Where can you find satisfaction?

The cheesy Richmond Road Dunkin’ Donuts, of course, where nobody knows your name. But while you can get a large iced coffee with enough sugar to put you into insulin shock, plus a handful of greasy, sugary heaven for mere insulin shock, plus a handful of satisfaction?

You dig through the couch addled mind, and your stomach for the last six hours. Sleep threat...

Comfort Food: Wawa/Chicken Soup

On another cold, rainy Williamsburg night, all you want is to be curled up at home in front of a fire, under a Wawa blanket. You’re not alone (or, you’re too dependent on Tylenol none of the above is an option, or...)

You look to Wawa for a cup of steaming chicken soup.

Unlike the canned variety, Wawa’s soup features a full serv...

Keep Savvy: Ihop Never Rule

The best-kept secret in Williamsburg is the infamous Ihop 48-Hour Rule. It’s so well-kept that even second semester seniors aren’t always aware of its existence. Or, simply put, the rule prohibits students from leaving more than 49 credit hours in one department to graduate. Students are not warn...

Addition to Williamsburg: Wal-mart Supercenter

Located just off Route 199 on East Richmond Road in the brand new Wal-mart Supercenter is a gift for all shoppers. A great addition to the Williamsburg area, Wal-mart Supercenter is a great place to go to be able to stock up on all the necessities.

While Wal-mart has always had a reputation as the great place to buy groceries, it has also become a destination for non-food items. The store is divided into three sections: grocery, home goods, and clothing. The grocery section is the largest and offers a wide variety of products, including fresh produce, dairy, and deli items. The home goods section offers everything from housewares to electronics, while the clothing section offers a wide range of clothing options for men, women, and children. The store also offers a variety of services, such as pharmacy, optometry, and financial services. Overall, Wal-mart Supercenter is a great place to shop for all your needs when visiting Williamsburg, Virginia.

First-Date Place: A Carroll's

Upon arrival the mood is set with dim lighting and candlelit tables. A date can start and end with drinks or can begin with wine or cocktails and end with dinner or dessert. Either way, a pleasant, relaxing evening at A Carroll's will be special to both of you and a great place to meet if you are lucky enough to celebrate another anniversary. And, if the evening ends too soon, A Carroll's is only three blocks away from Delano, so the walk could end up being just as pleasant.

Campus Gatorie: The Marketplace

The student services building on the university campus of the College (including one that about the gifts on campus being better, or so the story goes) is that the Marketplace is the best dining establishment here. Sure, OK if by best you mean the worst. Still, those carb-y, but delicious, breakfast burritos are homemade, day or night. While made-to-order sandwiches, coffee, and every type of snack food you can crave at 3 a.m., Wawa is available, but that's not enough to make a student want to go there.

Coffee Shop: Aromas

This coffee shop at the Marketplace, a veritable oasis of food and drink, is the place to go to when you're hungry. The great prices, delicious food and attentive wait staff will keep you coming back for more. The only downside of Chez Trinh is its location. It is far enough in the wilderness to be attacked by the Dali-in-training can utilize their

Hamburger: Second Street

For the best hamburger in Williamsburg, try one of the many selections at Second Street. Only a short drive from the marketplace, Second Street offers a wide variety of hamburgers that can appeal to all tastes. Combined with delicious french fries, these burgers are sure to satisfy your hunger.

Frosty: Wal-mart

How did we ever survive before being able to buy Wal-mart salads at the deli? These are the best salads you will ever have, and that's saying something.

Ice Cream: Ben & Jerry's

Three words: free cone day. Yes — Ben and Jerry's is the perfect hangout for students of all ages. And smart people will love it for the old-fashioned creamery feel. The huge selection of cones and sundaes is sure to please anyone.

Place to Hook Up: First Night

The Flat Hat will not tell its readers to get it on in places as unseemly as this, but if you can't resist the temptation, here are a few places to look in Williamsburg. Some of these spots may be a little too crowded.

Blogs: Play Cranium

The colorful board game is one of the most popular games for family gatherings. Sometimes it can be a little too much for some players, but it is definitely a lot of fun.

Bookstore: Barnes and Noble College Store

The bookstore at the University of the College at Williamsburg is the best in town. It offers a wide variety of books, including textbooks, fiction, and non-fiction, as well as other supplies such as stationery, journals, and gift items.
