Honorary Sorority Accepts Members
Coni Conway, Nancy Exley, Pat Jones, and Janet Nelson will be inoculated into Chi Delta Phi, national honorary literary sor- of the Pi Beta Phi here. Her son is editor of Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

The honorary literary society, which he considers would improve the student body, has unusual recognition when the original Phi Beta Kappa was founded in 1729 at the College of William and Mary. Since 1941 there has been a steady increase in the study of the subject here. In 1946 the enrollment shows a three per cent increase over that of 1945.

Dr. Macys proposed several changes which he considers would improve the study of foreign languages. According to his plan, during the first and second semesters, the langua- could be studied for six hours credit, which would mean that classes would meet one night a week, and in the third full-year course could be covered in one semester. The speaker went on to state the necessity of a larger per- of language study, a six hour course would be devoted to conversa- and reading.

After this time, interested students would continue their study of the language by taking classes, as stated that this intensive training would enable the student to become more familiar with the language.

Dr. Macy pointed out that the pur- of this wide plan is to provide the student with a thorough knowledge of language to be used in foreign territory if necessary.

In discussing German in particular, Dr. Macy said that after this war there would be a demand for more people than ever before. He expected that during the last war the study of it would be considerably minimized, and

"Juno and The Paycock" Given December 13, 14; Styled "One of The Greatest Of Modern Tragedies" Irish Accents, Dublin Tenement Set Atmosphere For O'Casey's Masterpiece Of Struggle in Ireland

"Juno and The Paycock," the William and Mary Theatre's next play, will be given Wednesday and Thursday, De- cember 15 and 16. This play has been called "One of the greatest of modern tragedies," and Jean O'Casey, the authoress, has stated, "The poet dis- maniak of living Irish playwrights."

The plot revolves one period in the life of the Bogey family and involves the fight between the two fractions within the same family—the Din- nicks and the Bogeys. The two families, however, are not in continuous conflict. And so we have a series of episodes which the characters, with their individ- al philosophies, live in a two room apartment of a tenement house in the Dublin slums. However, for them in- come another one in their own words. "Juno"'s" patience and long-suffering, speaks of her husband, "Captain" Boyle; "Everybody calls you 'Cap- tain' Boyle because of your face—" The "Paycock" herself, "Nobody but myself knows the soft- ness of the man they call Captain Boyle with the palms of these legs in my mind."

"Banshee," a lawyer, comments on the 'Paycock'; "That's an im- ner name! It reminds one of flamer's glorious stories of ancient girlers. You have one of those typical Flanagan's line. 'Take away this morning's paper, and he'll never read one again."

This character has no right to the play pre- sented some difficulties to the cast, but has been mastered. This, along with the vivid representation of a Dublin tenement house by Mr. John T. Boyd, provide a truly Irish atmos- and background for O'Casey's masterpiece.

The Apollo room will be open De- cember 1 1 through 12, from 4:00 to 6:30 and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. in order to sell the last of the materials for the Christ- mas Red Cross boxes. Articles will be on sale in this room.

The first meeting of the new Inter- club Council will be held tomorrow evening at 6:45 p.m. in West 100.

The Reunion Reception and Sandburg Speech
Meeting informally with Carl Sand- burg, well known American poet and author, students and faculty guests of Chi Delta Phi will attend a reception in the honor of the poet. The reception will immediately follow Sandburg's program, which starts at 1:00 p.m. in Pi Beta Kappa Hall.

Greaves, Mortar Board, Is Traveled Army Brat

Her Special Interests Include Art, French, Journalism And Social Work.

Friendly and intelligent, Nellie Greaves, is one campus leader who can be seen almost anywhere anytime as she attends one event after another. Nellie is chosen chairman of her class in sophomore year.

She is a member of Gamma Phi Beta, social sorority for women, and Chi Delta Phi, national honorary literary society, chairman of the Publications Committee, and has a consuming interest in journalism.

She is a senior representative to the Student Senate and the War and Home Council, the first social chairman of the Canterbury Club, and a member of the Dramatic Club. Through her interest and able participation in all these activities, she merited the highest bestowed upon her when she was chosen as Treasurer of the Class of 1945.

Nellie's varied and keen interest perhaps can be attributed to her family life. She proudly announced that she is an Army "brat," consequently is widely traveled, and can claim to have studied art in Europe. During her stay two years in Panama, she was prejudiced in favor of the Army. Her father and brother both are Army men. Her favorite likes: green, black coffee, West Point, and the honor of a new country.

If Nellie cannot be found at one of her regular meetings, she can be found indulging in one of her favorite extracurricular activities: developing films, playing bridge, or shopping.

Nellie Greaves is definitely sold on the idea of being a career woman. Already, she has had one offer from an Epsilon ...

Chaplains’ Graduation Offers New Life; Officers Are Told To Produce Results

"You men have to readjust your efforts completely to a new, hard way of life," said Rear Admiral John J. Bracy, CSC, USN (Ret.), the speaker at the Chaplain’s School graduation ceremonies in Gamma Phi Beta Kappa Hall at 7:00 p.m. on Sunday, December 2.

"There is one thing you are not to get — results," Father Bradey, a Chaplain since the last war, emphasised to the following: Chaplains: Barnston, Walter S. Barwell, Marshall John B. Hughes, Tracy H. Lamar, and Lawrence G. Weist. Specialists included: from the division of social sciences: Dr. Guy and Dr. Miller. The latter will act as chairman for the round table — resuks. Greek Homecoming was attended by students, faculty and staff with the homecoming dance being held at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, November 22. The dance was held in the Student Union Building and was sponsored by the Student Activities Council.

Most of the students were dressed in their finest attire, with many of them wearing formal dresses and suits. The dance floor was packed with people, and the music played by the live band was lively and upbeat. The atmosphere was one of excitement and anticipation for the event. The dance lasted until late in the evening, and everyone seemed to have had a great time.

As of Jack Frost smartly making things too cold for outdoors and atmo­spheric conditions, it is only fitting that this review be given of the Old Dominion football team's first year of interscholastic foot­ball after a season spent in the Civilian team, in general, have found the weather. On the other hand, schools such as Duke, Carolina, and Pennsylvania have sailed and marines to Tommy Smith thank for a happy ending. William and Mary and Watava Tigers needed their fingers and offered a silent prayer. . .

Coach McCray called his gridiron together August 15 to begin those warm-ups, uncomfortable summer ses­sions. They had three sessions. Outstanding backs were uncovered in Mackiewicz, Magdziak, and Bruce, and all three gave super running perfor­mances at various times throughout the season.

The first team to be McCray's child were. Johnny Clowers returned to the fold after his discharge from the army. Jack Shook, a fresh­man guard in 1942, also showed a football uniform again. Tom Mikula, and Denver Mills were the only linemen who had not entered last season's varsity team.

Ed Minsterman, Lee Creashen, Tommy Thompson, and Knis Ramsey were called in to fill the line gaps. With the loss of a few players, the line was green but they were ready to learn. Against Fort Monroe and Hampton Polytechnic the team had a powerhouse in rolling up 6 points to 0 against both. McCray's hope at Philadelphia which cannot be blamed on anyone but which, unde­sirable, would never happen again.

A brief taste of what a weaker North Carolina State team could do to a state championship team, an Indian Squibber, convinced Coach Bob McCray that a few changes would help matters greatly. Mikula, a great guard, was moved to the blocking back also. Denver Mills moved to end, and Clowers was changed to his old guard position from tackle. After­wards, Coach McCray, Ramsey, and Pellack. The results of these changes were amazing. Clowers and Shook, both of whom had not hit their peak all year, played a game against Naval Academy. Denver Mills, who switched to the blocking back last in the season, Ramsey, Shook, Thompson, and Broe, were moved to second team, while Wright and Magdziak were given honorable mention.

SPORTS

By El Webster

Hockey intramurals will not be continued this year. This decision was reached at a meeting of Intramural managers and referees, representatives of the better teams, and those responsible for the college library. The reason given for the decision was the large number of bad weather and lack of cooperation. Girls who have non-sports in practice the required hours for intramural points will receive intramural pay on the percentage of their attendance. If any one team has all their practices accounted for, it will not receive intramural credit.

Ping pong may start between December 6 and December 9. No practices are necessary so there should be no trouble in having a big tournament this year. Each sorority or fraternity may have as many as three teams with a maximum of four players on a team and minimum of two. Any match combined of two brothers and one sister. One player may not play in both singles and doubles.

AllComplaintsHandled By Two Campus Groups

Complaints from the students on the administration, the cafeteria, and the toastmasters have come in constitutively to the FLAT HAT, to the cashiers at the cafeteria, to almost everyone. The lodge itself has been sending the proposed reform through. Actually, there are two possible methods of handling complaints: (1) complaining with something else in the murk of complaints; (2) Dink Baker, refreshments; Harriet Ramsey, John Stetson's Orchestra. The last one is difficult to do by attending this Saturday night's dance.

All complaints will be handled by either the Student Activities Committee or the Business Committee, according as it is about either the cafeteria or the lodge, a special committee appointed to deal with complaints in order to get any helpful ideas toward clearing up tricks in this department of the college. If the complaint is about the lodge, the committee of the Business will be appointed to deal with it.

Food Poisoning Examined; Not Caused by Spoilage

Two Types Of Bacteria Poisonous To Humans; College Enforces Health Rules And Inspections

Miss Blank has given information concerning the causes and prevention of food poisoning. The symptoms of this so-called food poisoning are not necessarily caused by the spoiled food. There are, however, two types of bacteria whose products are poisonous to humans.

The first type is a common group of bacteria found on the skin, in the throat, and in the air. These are so numerous that it is extremely difficult to prevent them from coming in contact with the food. The prevention is accomplished by avoiding these conditions.

The second type of food poisoning is caused by specific kinds of bacteria.

There are at least eleven girls on the William and Mary campus who are not disturbed by the man shortage come the weekends, and though they are a different eleven each week, they are lucky.

At the beginning of the school year the Camp and Hospital Committee had two hundred junior and senior girls as volunteers to entertain convalescent soldiers at the Langley Field Station hospital. Each Sunday afternoon Betty Matthew, chairman of the Camp and Hospital division, and ten girls chosen from the original list, leave for Langley Field in two cars.

Probation Rule Rumors . . .

The new probation rule, for pre- and post-vacation absences has given rise to many strange rumors.

These rumors, about 90 days on bread and water and 90 days for a year," are entirely unfounded. Probation means that the student must be required to attend all classes for a certain period of time without any cuts thereby liquidating the three cancals usually allowed every student each semester. The rule the student warrants it. Probation does not affect dating effective in keeping the students at the College until the seriousness of the offense.

Many students have asked the question, "What's wrong with the five dollar system?" Last year at Christmas they asked it. The five dollar system, five dollars, has been effective in keeping the students at the College until the end of the regular vacation period. The probation rule will also regulate the criticism that the administration employed the five dollar system as a means of gaining cash for the College.

Since each case must be treated individually, no definite set of rules can be made and the students will have whom they would like to know if they are eligible for special consideration. Students should call or visit Dr. Landrum, who is quite willing to discuss the problem with them.

The Pacific War, And . . .

... Your Dollars

Beginning yesterday and lasting until tomorrow night, the Sixth War Loan Drive, sponsored on this campus by the War Council, has significance for each of us.

Outstanding are dollars, along with the men from all over the country, will, most important of all, help save lives by shortening the war. To us, it means, our father, brothers, and fellow students will come back sooner—and will stand a greater chance of coming back to continue their education. If you can't send it right now, use money—our money has been well spent.

The European war was expensive, but almost every thing in the Pacific war will cost more. The same amount of freight costs 25 percent more when shipped to the South Pacific than to Europe; it will take twice as many cargo ships. We shall need more B-29 Superfortresses at $50,000 each, more tank destroyers, more amphibious tanks, more planes, more medical and hospital equipment. More money!

In addition, your dollars will bring you 29 percent, compound interest, will help prevent inflation, will spell future security for you and them.

For your own interests, and for those who are risking their lives, support this drive in the only way you can—with your dollars!

Man Shortage Relieved By . . .

Air Corps

Because of the existing man-shortage on campus, fifty Langley Field officers will be entertained as a formal dance this Friday night. Although the first dance of its kind, the officers will be more of them depending upon the success of this one.

In past years enlisted men have been brought here from Ft. Eustis for these sign-up dances, but they met with little enthusiasm from the women students. Perhaps the glamour of the "gold-bars" will make this dance more popular. For, after all, it's better than the alternative.

This plan of College arranged dances has many favorable points. It affords one of the best means for the women students to meet all-campus men. In this way the more interested, and of possible service men can be inducted as both are important.

Dances of this kind will provide a chance for service men when they return and ship off, when they are college men and are anxious to get into the swing of campus life again, even though it may be for just a short time.

These affairs will encourage the girls to attend more college sponsored functions. On many campuses, women students have to go to the "club" to attend dances and this plan eliminates all such unfavorable conditions.

With so many appealing qualities these dances should certainly be held more often in order that girls, from all the classes can enjoy them.

Double Trouble Brews In European Politics

BY MARYLOU MANNING

Double trouble would seem to be the order of the day. The allies are found with not one problem child, but two. Poland and Jugoslavia are the two countries of interest. Historically these countries have been at war with each other under both German and Russian occupation. Both are countries that have been destroyed by these forces. However, the situation is different. Poland has the status of a satellite state of Germany, but Jugoslavia is a part of the Soviet bloc. The question is whether Mikuladych is or is not going to be the new leader in Jugoslavia. It is not clear who he is, but there are conflicting forces in Poland which protest violently. For the moment, at any rate, there is no clear answer.

Britain and Russia and the United States not only have a war to fight abroad but they have the constant threat of communist and semi-occupied territory behind them, nagging at every step. It results in an uncertain and uneasy situation. For the moment, at any rate, there is no clear answer.

What has been the policy in these newly acquired areas in war? What should it be? These are difficult questions to analyze, as there has not been any stated definition of procedure to be followed in the occupation. Thus, there must be some type of arbitrary and final answer. To every law there must necessarily be a certain amount of flexibility. For example, the pre-war conditions of property owners are protected. The property owner is not to be evicted without due process of law.

For your own interests as it was the idea of stating in print what we, the students, are doing. It is a way of showing that some students want more than one copy,—

New Dance Committee Side-Tracks Few Issues

BY BILL ANDERSON

Coming out of the upheaval of disputes between administration and students, a tentative plan for a student dance committee was drawn up,—by the students. This proposal has been referred to the faculty committee for examination and final recommendations.

The idea behind the drafting of such a proposal was to put some much-needed money back into the student budget. As it was the idea of starting in print what we, the students, would like to see at the College of William and Mary.

When the proposal was put down in black and white, it was given to the administration for their discussion. Following this plan, the administration wrote to the President of the College for his examination, along with suggestions and changes made by the administrative committee.

Such was the understanding at the last joint meeting we attended. And now the hope of the students present and of those behind the movement.

The item which appeared in the last issue of The FLAT HAT was written from information delivered to the chairman of the student dance committee in a statement from the President's office. The student committee has met the President on this matter.

Somewhere, somehow, the issue was side-tracked. With things standing as they are today, the only thing that can be said is that several important ideas fell through.

The house has been built; now there seems to be nothing to do but live in it. In doing so, there are many that know the structure cannot always stand, and when it fails, the new one will be more like the one we inhabited before. The idea of starting in print was good, even though modified, whereas before we had nothing.

Only enough copies of The FLAT HAT are supplied to each dormitory for there to be one for each resident. When students take extra copies to put them with their roommates, there is no place to go.
