Jefferson returns his thanks to his Lord for the pamphlet he has been so kind as to send him, presenting a view of all those who have been honored by the favorable notice of Harvard College. He hopes that such flattering remarks, particularly named, would fail to excite an useful emulation in the minds of those who may wish to be enrolled in it. He thanks his Lord for this mark of his personal attention, salutes him with respect.

Washington, Mar. 12, 07.