Monticello Sep. 22, 1789.

Mr. Jefferson presents his compliments & his thanks to Mr. Pickering for the copy he has been so kind as to send him of his essay on the pronunciation of the Greek language. He had had the pleasure of perusing it before the kindness of Mr. Adams, in a letter to whom he expressed his sense of it: merit, which letter, communicated (as he understands) to Mr. Pickering, will have informed him of his high estimation of it. He salutes Mr. Pickering with assurances of great esteem.
Méfs. DeBure frères
libraires à Paris.

recommended to the care
Your Reasly Consul of the US.
at Havre.