Directions to Albert-Daly Field
From the North/West: Take I-64W to exit 242A (Route 199 West), and turn right onto 199E at the top of the exit. Follow 199E to the Longhill Road Exit, turning left at the light onto Longhill Road. Continue the first light and follow Longhill to the second light (intersection with Ironbound Road). Turn left onto Ironbound, and left again at your first opportunity past the baseball stadium. The soccer field is at the end of the road, and parking is to your left past the dormitories.

From the South/East: Take I-64W to exit 242A (Route 199W). Follow 199W through five lights to the Monticello Road Exit. Bear right on the exit to get on Monticello heading towards the Williamsburg Courthouse. Follow Monticello through two stoplights, and turn left at the third stoplight (intersection with Ironbound Road). Continue on Ironbound through one stoplight, and turn right at the second intersection with Longhill Road to continue on Ironbound. Turn left at your first opportunity past the stadium. The soccer field is at the end of the road, and parking is to your left past the dormitories.
The William and Mary women's soccer program received a major facility upgrade in 2004 with the completion of Albert-Daly Field, an all-grass complex that gives the Tribe program the possibility of hosting NCAA Tournament matches. Named for William and Mary's long-time men's and women's soccer coaches, Al Albert and John Daly, the field is used by both soccer teams as well as by the College's lacrosse team. In its short time, Albert-Daly Field has generated a considerable home-field advantage for the William and Mary women's soccer program. The Tribe has enjoyed a 25-6-8 (.744) home record since competition began at the complex in 2004 and hasn't lost to a conference foe at home since October of 2004, enjoying a record of 17-1-3 (.881) against Colonial Athletic Association schools.

“I'm very, very happy,” said Daly at the dedication. “I think it’s badly needed for both the men’s and women’s soccer and lacrosse programs. Jim and Bobbie Ukrop’s gift gesture is just tremendous. It’s going to help in every way from scheduling and recruiting to the perception of the program.”

The previous home of the Tribe soccer teams was Busch Field, which features an artificial playing surface that prohibited the College from hosting NCAA tournament matches. W&M's women participated in 27 NCAA tournament matches in the years before Albert-Daly field was completed, and only four were held in Williamsburg, none since 1992. The completion of Albert-Daly Field, one of the top soccer venues in the region, has nullified the circumstances that prevented the Tribe from hosting in the past.

“The College has done a fantastic thing for our programs, because not only can we host NCAA games, we have also enhanced our ability to schedule quality opponents,” said Albert. “Just the overall perception of our program in recruiting and talking to people will be enhanced. It’s a great thing. The College took a great step when we got a home at Busch Field and now they’re taking another great step with this new facility. It’s one of the final pieces that we need to go all the way.”

In 2006, the Tribe used their home base to catapult themselves to one of the best seasons in school history, ringing up 16 wins and four ties against a single loss and finishing the year in the NCAA tournament and among the top ten programs in the country. At home, the Green and Gold faced 10 teams and battled through unbowed, allowing only seven goals en route to a record of 8-0-2, 5-0-1 in the CAA. The attack was just as potent as the defense, putting 23 shots into the bag, the most by a single W&M team regardless of gender.

2007 was nearly as spectacular for the Tribe, as it finished the year at Albert-Daly on a six-match winning streak and went a perfect 4-0 againstCAA opponents. The defense was again dominating, allowing only four goals all season, and just two after a tough 2-1 setback against Oklahoma in the first home fixture of the year. Fans of the College have responded enthusiastically as the side has reclaimed its prominence in the region and around the nation, setting attendance records each of the past two seasons.

The project began in the spring of 2001, when William and Mary received a $500,000 challenge grant from Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ukrop of Richmond, Va., to build a natural grass field adjacent to W&M's baseball stadium, Plumeri Park, located at the College's Dillard complex.

As graduates of William and Mary, Jim and Bobbie Ukrop have long been generous supporters of the College and have touched the lives of thousands of students, both in the athletics department and general college community, with their philanthropy.

“The challenge grant provided us the opportunity to enhance the competitiveness of three of our very successful programs, men's and women's soccer and lacrosse,” said William and Mary Athletics Director Terry Driscoll. “At the request by Mr. and Mrs. Ukrop, the facility would be named in the honor of those two coaches recognizing their long service and the success of their programs here at the College of William and Mary.”

John Daly reigns among the most successful coaches in America, leading the Tribe’s women’s soccer program over the last 20 years. Daly ranks among the top 10 in victories (293) among his Division I peers. He has also directed W&M to the NCAA postseason 19 times, including 13 seasons in a row from 1992-2004. Overall, the College has sponsored women’s soccer for 26 years with the team advancing to the NCAA Tournament 22 times.

On the field, during Daly’s tutelage, 13 W&M soccer players have garnered a total of 27 All-America honors, including two National Players of the Year in Megan McCarthy (1987) and four-time All-American Natalie Neaton (1995). Daly has been named CAA Coach of the Year four times (1993, 1994, 1999, 2006) and Mid-Atlantic Coach of the Year five times (1989, 1992, 1997, 2006).

Al Albert led the Tribe men’s soccer team as head coach for 33 seasons before retiring from coaching in January of 2004. He amassed a record of 401-187-64 (.664) during his tenure and became just the eighth coach in NCAA Division I history to reach 400 wins, and just the third to have earned All-America Coach of the Year honors. Albert’s teams were 12 of 13 in NCAA Tournament matches. W&M made its 12th appearance in the NCAA tournament 22 times.

A 1969 graduate of William and Mary, Albert’s teams put together 29 consecutive winning seasons (a W&M record) and 26 straight campaigns of 10 wins or more. W&M made its 12th appearance in the NCAA tournament in 2002, when the Tribe advanced to the round of 16 with wins at Duke and Virginia. Albert was named CAA Coach of the Year a conference-record four times (1987, 1992, 1994 and 1996), and earned the South Atlantic Region’s top honor in 1992, 1998 and 2002.

Al Albert led the Tribe men’s soccer team as head coach for 33 seasons before retiring from coaching in January of 2004. He amassed a record of 401-187-64 (.664) during his tenure and became just the eighth coach in NCAA Division I history to reach 400 wins, and just the third to have earned All-America Coach of the Year honors. Albert’s teams were 12 of 13 in NCAA Tournament matches. W&M made its 12th appearance in the NCAA tournament in 2002, when the Tribe advanced to the round of 16 with wins at Duke and Virginia. The 2006 season was a great one for the William and Mary women's soccer team, and 2007 was just as good if not better. However, with nine starters returning including two All-Americans and one of the best goalkeepers in the nation, 2008 has the potential to become one of the finest chapters in the Tribe's storied history. Head coach John Daly enters his 22nd year on the Compilation of his 200th career victory, and captains Dani Collins, Meghan Walker, and Claire Zimmek will lead the Tribe effort to make that milestone merely the first step in a magical season that doesn’t end until the College Cup in mid-December.

Forwards

As a returning Hermann Trophy semifinalist, Claire Zimmek enters her final season as one of the most respected and feared attackers in the country after accounting for 17 of the team's 36 goals last year. Despite being a constant target for opponents' best pair of defenders, Zimmek has the ability to break through her marks and score herself, or draw attention to open the field for her teammates. Her ability to score can be both prolific, with four multiple-goal matches last year, and pointed, as when she scored No. 2 North Carolina with the match-winner in the 85th minute. The two-time defending CAA Player of the Year, Zimmek is a strong candidate to become the first player in the history of the league to win top honors three times, and will also challenge for the Hermann Trophy again this fall.

Joining Zimmek on the frontlines will be junior Kellie Jenkins. The Williamsburg native ranked fourth on the team with nine points in 22 matches last year, punching in goals on four occasions. Two of her scores in 2007 came against arch-rival Old Dominion, including the match-winner in the 39th minute. Her speed and agility in the open field is surpassed only by that which she displays while in possession of the ball, making her equally as dangerous on a fast break as she is while twisting the defense into knots trying to stop her inside the box.

Sophomore Anna Kayes saw more playing time as the season progressed, and will be counted on to step into an even greater role this season. Kayes is looking to replace the production lost by the graduation of Emily Kitsleman and Donna Mataya (20 goals, 13 assists combined over the past two years). A pair of freshmen will also be counted on for added punch up top. Aline Le is no stranger to big matches, helping Lake Braddock to three consecutive Virginia AAA championship titles and back-to-back crowns in her four years. While most of her experience has been in the midfield, her natural speed coupled with a surfeit of talent at that position has Daly projecting her into a pure forward’s role. Stephanie Gerow was a VHSL All-Star game selection as a senior, capturing West Potomac to the district playoffs in 2008 while scoring 12 goals and earning second-team all-state honors in Virginia’s Group AAA. Gerow was also a captain on the VISTA Hotshots club team that won the prestigious WAGS tournament in the fall of 2007.

Midfielders

Daly will be able to draw from a large and deeply talented pool of midfielders to alter the College's philosophies on attack and defense at a moment's notice, in order to compensate for, or confuse, any schemes the Tribe might face. Hermann Trophy candidate Dani Collins is the outfield proof of the axiom that the best defense is a good offense, as she has the ability to frustrate foes’ opportunities before they can turn into full-fledged attacks. Despite missing seven matches last season, Collins was impressive enough to earn third-team All-American honors from the NSCAA last year and will challenge Zimmek for Player of the Year honors in the CAA this season.

Junior Krissy Vornadore is the most experienced player in the group, starting 31 matches over the past two years and appearing in 42 contests in 12 more. A regular on conference all-rookie selection two years ago, Vornadore contributed four assists in 2007. Her ability to possess the ball while striking towards the goal forces opposing defenses to mark her with multiple players, opening the field for the rest of the team. Classmate Sarah Quinlan has also appeared in every match over the past two years, and is an opportunist goal-scorer who also has the ability to chase down the ball in the midfield and win possessions back for the Tribe.

Junior Kendall Stone has played in 27 matches over the past two seasons, and looks to challenge for full-time billing this season after turning in an impressive spring. A tenacious player on both sides of the ball, Stone will be a key part of the team’s ability to possess the ball in the middle of the field and generate multiple attacks per possession. Sophomores Mary Carter Jacocks and Danielle Axenfeld earned significant playing time as freshmen and did not disappoint, accounting for four assists between them. Axenfeld served three balls to the forwards over the latter half of the season, while Jacocks helped on the winner against Drexel. Both have shown the ability to lock the ball in the attacking half either starting as a third or fourth midfielder, or coming in off the bench to spell teammates and change the tempo of the contest.

Providing depth in the middle is a strong corps of veterans. Sophomore Brittany Lane saw action in 16 games as a freshman and is poised for a breakout year after an exceptional effort this spring. Junior Kim Sunada and sophomores Emily DeNardis and Gabby Gonzales have seen only limited action so far in their careers, but will challenge for playing time this year as the season progresses.

A pair of freshman join the team who are talented enough to insert themselves into the lineup despite the aforementioned staggering amount of talent already on the field. Diana Weigel earned first-team all-state honors in Virginia’s largest division this year and was named the MVP of the West team in the VHSL all-star game. Molly Kaye was a two-time all-conference player for Paul VI in Northern Virginia, anchoring the midfield and defense against many of the toughest schools, both private and public, in the region.

Fullbacks

The Tribe defense was outstanding in 2007, with the backline making up a large part of the effort that limited opponents to 11 goals in 22 games. All of the team’s starters return in 2008, promising a potentially record-breaking season this fall.

A pair of seniors who have started every match over the past two years anchor the wings of the defensive line. Abby Lauer has started every match since she stepped on campus three years ago, a streak unmatched by any other current player on the Tribe. Lauer’s first-time appearance in 2002, Lauer’s mental savvy while patrolling the back third as well as her ability to serve the ball into the box from anywhere on the field makes her a strong Defensive Player of the Year candidate in the conference. Also looking to challenge for first-team All-CAA honors this year is senior Meredith Brown. In addition to being a lock-down defender, Brown displayed her versatility last season by being able to move forward and help direct the offense, feeding six assists into the team’s off of corner kicks.

Walling off the middle of the field will be sophomores Kaitlin O’Connor and Katy Winsper. Solid defensively all season long, O’Connor became more of a scoring threat as the season progressed, registering goals in three matches including against Georgetown in the NCAA tournament. Honored as a second-team Freshman All-American by Soccer Buzz magazine and as a first-team member of both the All-CAA and all-state teams last year, O’Connor looks to continue her development this season into one of the most dangerous two-way threats in the region. However, O’Connor wouldn’t be able to move forward without Winsper’s outstanding range and ability to close on opponents in the backfield. An all-rookie team selection in the conference and the region a season ago, Winsper is able to shut down large portions of the field and disrupt passing lanes to redirect attacks to less advantageous positions.

Providing depth in the defense will be a pair of upperclassmen who can spell the starters for long stretches without compromising the quality of defense. Juli Valls played in 16 matches last season after seeing only limited action as a freshman, and is blessed with great speed as well as an ability to intelligently react to the flow of play. Annie Macomber is in her second year on the squad while also playing on the College’s lacrosse team in the spring, and possesses a very efficient style that allows her to outwork opponents. Freshman Kristen Smith will have the opportunity to learn from all six veterans, and is talented enough to challenge for playing time as the year progresses. She co-captained Robinson to the Virginia AAA state championship in May and was a first-team all-region honoree each of the past two years.

In Goal

Coach Daly will have the services of one of the best keepers in school history for one more year, and a reserve of three superb athletes, any of whom could step into the box at a moment’s notice. Senior Meghan Walker allowed a paltry 11 goals in nearly 2000 minutes last season, ranking eighth in the nation with a 0.50 goals-against average and tied for fifth in the nation for total goals allowed for net-minders with more than 1,500 minutes played. She enters her final campaign atop the College’s record books for career goals allowed (26) and goals-against average (0.59), and will challenge for top accolades on both the conference and national levels.

Sophomore Grace Barnard saw action in three matches in her rookie campaign and was not tested in nearly 40 minutes between the pipes. Coming out of high school, Barnard was widely regarded as one of the best prep goalies in the nation, earning All-America accolades from the NSCAA and serving as captain of the Region 1 ODP team. Junior Jackie Bowman hasn’t seen significant action yet on the field for W&M, but is an invaluable contributor in practice and on the sidelines. Freshman Kathy Young brings outstanding potential to the team, entering her rookie year after leading Robinson High School to the Virginia AAA state title and earning Player of the Year honors from the VHSCA and the Washington Post.

Claire Zimmek

Dani Collins
John Daly enters his 22nd year as the mentor of the William and Mary women's soccer program on the cusp of entering truly elite company in the collegiate coaching ranks. A U.S. citizen since April of 2000, the London-born son of Ireland has guided the Tribe to 19 NCAA tournament appearances, including 15 of the past 16 years. Daly has coached the side in 445 matches, amassing a record of 293-116-36 (.699), 93-17-11 (.814) in the Colonial Athletic Association.

The magnitude of Daly's accomplishments, which include capturing nineCAA titles, six Regional Coach of the Year awards, and four NCAA Coach of the Year plaques, has not been lost on the greater William and Mary community. In 2004, the College named its new all-grass stadium in joint honor of Daly and former men's coach Al Albert, "the ultimate accolade" in a storied coaching career. Over the past two seasons the College is 14-1-2 (.882) at Albert-Daly Field, and is 25-6-8 (.744) in four years at the facility.

Amongst his peers, Daly by all measures ranks as one of the top 20 coaches in NCAA history. On September 7, when W&M hosts Columbia, Daly will coach in his 450th match, only the sixth coach in NCAA history to reach that milestone all at one school. Also likely to happen this fall, the fact that the Tribe owns an NCAA-record 26 consecutive winning seasons, will be Daly's 300th victory. Daly enters the year ranked 17th in career victories across all Divisions, eighth in Division I. Long the winningest-coach in school history, Daly surpassed his predecessor, John Charles, in 1992 with a 3-1 decision over New Hampshire to record his 64th victory and has since piled up an additional 229 wins.

National prominence has been a hallmark of Daly's teams and players throughout his tenure. He led the Tribe to NCAA tournament in 1987, his first year at the helm, and scored a 1-0 victory over arch-rival Virginia in the first round to reach the quarterfinals. Eighteen more trips to the national playoffs have followed, with the Tribe amassing a record of 10-17-2 (.379) and reaching the second round in five of the last 10 years. The national rankings have seen the College among the top-25 for all or part of 24 consecutive seasons, including a program-high No. 3 billing in both 1989 and 1994. In recent years, W&M reached as high as 11th in 2006 and 24th last year.

Under Daly's tutelage, 13 W&M players have garnered a total of 27 All-America honors, including two National Players of the Year in Megan McCarthy (1987) and four-time All-American Natalie Neaton (1995). In 2007, Claire Zimmer and Dani Collins were each tabbed to the All-America third team by the NSCAA, the first time since 1999 that the coaches have so honored a player from William and Mary.

Along with the success on the pitch, Daly's players have also distinguished themselves in the classroom, as eight Tribe players have earned Academic All-America recognition under Daly's watch. Robbi Lotze was a three-time honoree from 1988-90, while Tara Flint was selected in 2002 and 2003. Anna Young was the most recent honoree, garnering the distinction with a GPA of better than 3.8 in accounting following the 2006 season.

Last fall was another prime example of W&M's fortunes under Daly, with two All-Americans leading the Tribe to a 13-5-2 record and the second round of the NCAA tournament. The tone for the season was set early, with a 1-0 victory over then No. 2-ranked North Carolina at the VCU Invitational, the first time since a 4-3 penalty-kick shootout in the 1987 WAGS championship tilt that W&M had bested the Tarheels. The victory came in the midst of a 486 minute shutdown streak, extending to include all or parts of six matches. The team claimed its second-consecutive NCAA regular season crown with a 9-1-1 record with an outstanding defense that finished the year with a program-record 11 goals allowed (0.48 goals-against average, also a record) and 13 shutouts.

The 2006 season proved to be particularly impressive in the annals of Tribe soccer. In addition to winning the NCAA regular season championship and earning a bid to the NCAA Tournament, Daly guided the College to a 16-1-4 record overall and a 10-0-1 mark in conference play. The overall winning percentage of .857 was a school record, while the squad finished the season with a program-record 17-match unbeaten streak. Additionally, W&M was ranked 13th nationally in the final Soccer Buzz poll and earned a No. 7 ranking in the final RPI released by the NCAA.

The 2000 season was also a memorable one for Daly, as he achieved his 200th career victory with an exciting, 1-0 overtime win against Richmond. In 1999, Daly led the Tribe with nine freshmen on its roster to a 19-4-0 record and a trip to the NCAA Sweet 16, and was rewarded by being named the William and Mary Society of Alumni Coach of the Year. In 1997, the College smashed the previous program-record for victories and beat 20 of its 25 opponents, including two wins in the NCAA tournament to advance to the quarterfinals.

A key figure on the W&M soccer scene long before taking over as head women's coach in 1987, Daly was an assistant coach of the then-women's club team in 1979. He also assisted with the men's program before taking a full-time assistant's position with the women's side before the 1986 season.

Active at many levels of soccer, Daly served as assistant coach of the Region I (East) team that traveled to Holland and Italy in March 1989. In addition, he is a Region I Olympic Development coach with the United States Youth Soccer Association and has coached the Virginia under-19 girls' soccer team. Currently, Daly is Region I advocate to the National Program for U15, U16 and U17 teams, and has served as the coordinator of the NSCAA Women's Coach of the Year program for the past several years.

An avid golfer, he also enjoys the performing arts, Irish traditional music, travel and anything to do with William and Mary.

Britta Marmon
Assistant Coach

Britta Marmon is entering her second season as an assistant coach at William and Mary after helping guide the Tribe backfield to one of the best defensive seasons in school history. While Marmon assists with all aspects of the program, her primary responsibilities include working with the team's goalkeepers, practice/game preparation, recruiting, coordinating team travel and community service events. Additionally, she serves as assistant director for the John Daly Girls Soccer Camp, which is held each summer in Williamsburg.

In 2007, William and Mary's defense was one of the stoutest in school history, allowing an all-time program-low 11 goals, only 0.48 goals per game, which was also a school record. In total, the team pitched 13 shut-out games, the second-most ever at the College. Individually, goalkeeper Meghan Walker accounted for 10 of those shutouts, tying the No. 2 all-time mark she had set the year before, and enters her final campaign as the College's all-time leader in goals-against average (0.59) and goals allowed (26). Marmon has also taken a firm hand guiding her own development as well as that of her players, obtaining a National Diploma from the NSCAA in the summer of 2008.

Prior to joining the Tribe in the spring of 2007, Marmon was an assistant coach at Indiana State University where she worked with the team's goalkeepers and defensive players. She also handled team travel, community service projects, equipment management, ensured individual and team fitness and assisted with recruiting identification and campus visits.

In addition to her experience at the collegiate level, Marmon has also been instrumental in developing players in the prep ranks. She served as an assistant coach with the Indiana Olympic Development Program in 2006, as she oversaw the training of 92 girls. The prior year, Marmon worked at City High School, in Iowa City, Iowa, and was the assistant varsity coach and head junior varsity coach for the girls' soccer programs. She also spent more than three years as the goalkeeper coach for the Iowa Soccer Club.

As a player, the Newport Beach, California, native was a standout goalkeeper at the University of Iowa where she finished her career with five school records. A three-time team captain, she earned second-team All-Big Ten distinction in 2002 and was selected to the conference's all-academic team in each of her final three seasons. Marmon also garnered the Hawkeye's team MVP honor twice (2002, 2004) and was nominated for the Big Ten Outstanding Sportsmanship Award in 2004. She finished her career with four conference player of the week accolades and was selected to national teams of the week by Soccer Buzz and Soccer America.

Marmon, née Vogele, earned a bachelor's degree in history from Iowa in 2005. She was married in the summer of 2008 to Dave Marmon and resides with her husband in Williamsburg.

Kevin Denson
Assistant Coach

After serving as volunteer assistant coach for five seasons from 2001-05, Kevin Denson returned to the Tribe in 2007 as a part-time assistant, a role he will reprise this fall.

One of the most successful high school soccer coaches in the state of Virginia, Denson brings a wealth of coaching experience from a number of soccer affiliations. Prior to retiring as the boy's soccer head coach at Kempsville High School (Va.) in the summer of 2006, he guided the team to four state championships and a pair of national No. 1 final rankings (1992, 1997). His success was recently recognized with an induction into the Kempsville H.S. Hall of Fame. During his time at the helm for Kempsville, Denson won eight Coach of the Year honors at various levels, including three state coach of the year awards, and was selected as the NSCAA National Coach of the Year in 1997. This past summer, Denson was hired as the boy's coach at First Colonial, and will return to the high school sidelines in the spring of 2009.

Denson also served as the USYSA Region I Girls' ODP Head Coach, Director of Player Development for the Beach FC Travel Team and has been a member of the Virginia Youth Soccer coaching staff since 1989. In addition to his success on the prep level, Denson was the women's coach at Virginia Wesleyan College from 1985 through 1987.

Denson earned a bachelor of arts degree in recreation and leisure studies from Virginia Wesleyan College in 1983. He and his wife, Elaine, are the proud parents of twin boys, Luke and David.

2007 Statistics/Results
It says a lot for our program that former players have chosen to pursue coaching as a career. Jill Ellis was a very skillful forward with amazing dribbling skills. At one time she held our all-time scoring record. Jill comes from a coaching family and was a pretty good bet to follow a coaching career, which she did, first at Maryland, then at Virginia and Illinois, before moving to the west coast and UCLA. My favorite memory of Jill was of her scoring a brilliant goal against George Mason on Barksdale Field. She picked the ball up on the half way line, rolled the ball back with the sole of her foot, to beat a Mason defender and accelerated towards goal. She side-stepped another defender and sent a scorching shot into the upper corner of the net!

A teammate of Jill’s, both on the Bradcock Road Bluebelle and at William and Mary, was Julie Cunningham Shackford. Julie was a dominant center midfielder for the Tribe and, along with Megan McCarthy and Jill, formed a formidable central combination. Julie started her coaching career at Carnegie Mellon, before taking the head coaching position at Princeton, where she managed to lead the Tigers to a College Cup Semifinal against Jill’s UCLA squad. My favorite memory of Julie was during her senior year when we played Brown on Barksdale Field. We had played Central Florida the day before and lost Jill Ellis and Robin Lotze to injury. We were tied 1-1 against Brown when Julie took over the game and scored twice to give the Tribe a 3-1 victory.

Erica Walsh showed great leadership potential as a player here. Apart from the first game of her career, she started every game, capturing the team as a senior. I still rib Erica about the fact that she turned up late for her first game, which she would have started had she been on time! My favorite memory of Erica was of her turning in a wonderful performance at the Notre Dame tournament when we defeated Wisconsin-Madison 1-0. Erica had been playing in midfield and we needed her to play at the back that day. We had lost Ann Cook to injury the day before. Melissa Kenny gave us the lead in the first minute and we were up against it for long periods, but Erica marshalled the team expertly and kept the Badgers at bay. She showed exemplary unselfishness in accepting her role at the back, although she wanted to play in midfield.

Maren Rojas was an excellent goalkeeper. She was not the flashy type, preferring to stay on her feet and make good saves look easy. She developed into one of the best goalkeepers in the country and turned in many fine performances for the Tribe. My favorite memory of Maren was during the NCAA game against N.C. State her senior year. Her friend and rival, Michelle Bertocchi was in goal for the Wolfpack and kept the visitors in the game with a string of fine saves. Maren had been a spectator for most of the game, but showed her powers of concentration when Collette Cunningham for once escaped the shackles of Meghean Owings late in the game to fire in a low shot destined for the bottom corner of the net. Maren dived full length to her right to make a spectacular save. Minutes later Natalie Neaton fired home the winning goal!

Carrie Moore spent three season playing in the WUSA before relocating to Roanoke. Carrie is now the head coach at Hollins college. Carrie had an outstanding career at W&M, rarely receiving the recognition she deserved. She was one of those players who made a team tick. My favorite memory of Carrie was her running on to a through-ball from Missy Wycinsky to score the winner against Richmond in the CAA Final.

Not only do we have former players heading up very successful programs, but we also have former assistant coaches who have gone on to lead their own programs. Former National Team coach April Heinrichs started her coaching career at William and Mary after completing her playing career at the University of North Carolina. She brought an intense will to win to the team in 1987, relishing the victory over UNC at WAGS that year. N.C. State head coach Laura Kerrigan also spent three years here as an assistant.

Former Tribe players currently serving as assistant coaches on their own paths to the head coaching ranks include Lindsey Vanderspiegel at Hofstra and Whitney Paynter at James Madison, and Ann Cook, who is assisting Erica Walsh at Penn State.

- John Daly, August 4, 2008

“People ask me all the time about my time at W&M and whether or not I enjoyed it. The best compliment I could pay the school and my coach is having now worked at several different colleges for the past 14 years, I would choose to go to William and Mary again without a second’s hesitation. My fondest memories all blend together as a collage of smells and sounds of grass, teammates, students and professors and the occasional dog because our games and practices on Barksdale Field would stop everyone going to and from classes. With the beauty of campus surrounding us, it felt like the center of the world and we Tribsters got to be a special part of it for one brief moment.”

- Maren Rojas ’94, Head Coach at Bowdoin

“The more I discover about the inner workings of college soccer the more proud I am of my William & Mary education. We had to work for the degree and along the way we fought for a national championship. Each year we believed it could be our year. That belief stemmed from JD’s passion for us, William & Mary soccer, and the game itself. At the time I thought everyone around the country was getting about the same experience, but I have since come to learn that the passion we feel for our program is unique. We are a family. We are Tribe Soccer.”

- Erica Walsh ’97, Head Coach at Penn State

“After 21 years, what lingers for me are these 3 things: Working with great players who aspired to learn as people and players, and along the way, kept a great balance and spirit about their journey; secretly working at the Cheese Shop, but mostly being spotted behind the counter by Megan McCarthy and Jillian Ellis with only my arms visible; training with the men’s team ... Ron Rabb, Tim Larkin and John Tuttle were super players and people. Ron and Tim remain friends today.”

- April Heinrichs, former head coach of Team USA

“My fondest soccer memory was beating UNC in penalty kicks in the final of the WAGS tournament a mere 21 years ago. It was a great win for the program and it is a constant reminder that on any given day, any team can be beaten. I will always cherish the overall experience I was afforded at the College of William & Mary. My William and Mary education helped shape my life, challenged me and prepared me well for both graduate work and my coaching career. I feel very lucky to have had such great memories, and most importantly, friendships that have endured through the years.”

- Julie (Cunningham) Shackford ’98, Head Coach at Princeton

“My William and Mary education helped shape my life, 21 years ago. It was a great win for the program and it is a constant reminder that on any given day, any team can be beaten. I will always cherish the overall experience I was afforded at the College of William & Mary. My William and Mary education helped shape my life, challenged me and prepared me well for both graduate work and my coaching career. I feel very lucky to have had such great memories, and most importantly, friendships that have endured through the years.”

- Jill Ellis ’88, Head Coach at UCLA

“I’ve had so many wonderful memories from my days at William and Mary and nearly all of them involve Tribe Soccer! My coaches and teammates had a profound effect on making my four years in Williamsburg an amazing experience. I arrived on campus my freshman year anxious and uncertain about my future. I left with the confidence that my experiences and education would facilitate my journey.”

- Jill Ellis ’88, Head Coach at UCLA

“Having a head coaching rank include Lindsey Vanderspiegel at Hofstra and Whitney Paynter at James Madison, and Ann Cook, who is assisting Erica Walsh at Penn State.

ATHLETIC SUCCESS

- The 2007-08 season was another strong year for the College, as Tribe teams added four more CAA titles to bring the school's all-time league-leading total to 92. W&M also had eight different programs represented at the NCAA Championship level in some capacity.

- The men's cross country squad won its eighth consecutive CAA crown in the fall, while the women's cross country team won its fifth straight. The women's track and field team won its seventh CAA Championship in the last eight years, while the women's tennis team added its 20th all-time CAA crown in the 23-year history of the league during the spring.

- In total, W&M had five conference players of the year, five conference scholar-athletes of the year, 18 All-Americans and 100 athletes earned all-conference honors in their respective sports during the 2007-08 season.

- Individually, the women's tennis doubles team of Megan Moulton-Levy and Katarina Zoricic garnered All-America honors by advancing to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Doubles Championship. Moulton-Levy also became the first Tribe athlete and only the fourth in CAA history to win conference player of the year honors for a fourth time. Katie Radloff, who garnered CAA Swimmer of the Year and Swimmer of the Championships honors for the second straight season, earned a spot in the NCAA Swimming Championships for the second time in as many years. Christo Laundry earned All-America honors for the third time in cross country and also won the CAA Individual Championship. Women's soccer player Claire Zimmermann garnered CAA Player of the Year honors for the second straight season and was a semifinalist for the MAC Hermann Trophy. Additionally, Emily Anderson earned All-America honors with a fifth-place finish in the 1,500m, marking the best Tribe finish in 14 years.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

- The Tribe’s athletic accomplishments do not come at the expense of its student-athlete’s academic responsibilities, as W&M ranked fourth, the highest of any athletic scholarship-granting school and of any public school among the Division I teams when the NCAA released its inaugural Academic Progress Rate scores in 2005.

- In a recent NCAA survey on graduation rates, William and Mary athletic teams set the standard for academic excellence – 13 teams graduated 100 percent of their players. The overall graduation rate for our athletes is 96 percent (higher than 86 percent for the entire student body).

- There have been 45 student athletes elected to Phi Beta Kappa in the past ten years. Four Rhodes Scholars were W&M student-athletes.

- The College’s Athletics Department showed a Graduation Success Rate (GSR) of 86 percent among its student-athletes who entered school on athletics scholarships in the 2000-01 athletics year in data released by the NCAA in 2007.

- The national average among all Division I schools was 63 percent. W&M is tops in both the CAA and among all Division I Virginia schools.

- In 2002-03, the CAA created a Scholar-Athlete of the Year Award in each of its sports, and not surprisingly, W&M has set the pace with 25 winners in the six-year history of the award.
The College of William and Mary is a public university located in Williamsburg, Va. Founded in 1693 by Royal Charter issued by King William III and Queen Mary II of England, William and Mary is the second oldest college in the country after Harvard. William and Mary has a long history of liberal arts education and a growing research and science curriculum that demonstrates a strong commitment to undergraduate research. The College, which became a state university in 1906, has been designated a “Public Ivy,” and for nine straight years has been ranked by U.S. News & World Report as sixth-best public university in the country – and the nation’s top small public university.

Also referred to as “the alma mater of a nation,” the college has educated four U.S. Presidents - George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and John Tyler, which is the third most of any college in the country. William and Mary also claims several firsts, including the 1776 creation of Phi Beta Kappa – the country’s first academic honor society -- the first honor code of conduct for college students, and the first collegiate law school, established in 1779. William and Mary is also home to the Sir Christopher Wren Building – the country’s oldest academic building still in use – and the President’s House, the oldest home of a university president still in use.

WILLIAM AND MARY FACTS:
• In addition to four U.S. Presidents, William and Mary has educated a number of this country’s key historical figures, including U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice John Marshall and 16 signers of the Declaration of Independence.

• More recent famous alumni from William and Mary include U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert Gates ('65), the late David Brown ('78) (astronaut on the Columbia Shuttle), actress Glenn Close ('74), comedian John Stewart ('84), fashion designer Perry Ellis ('61), actor Patton Oswalt ('91), the late Mark McCormack ('51) (founder of sports and celebrity agency IMG), actress Linda Lavin ('59), NASCAR and Gibbs Racing’s J.D. Gibbs ('91), Minnesota Vikings star Darren Sharper ('97), and Pittsburgh Steelers Head Coach Mike Tomlin ('95).

• In 2008, William and Mary recognized as 5th-highest producer of Peace Corps volunteers among mid-sized schools (5,000-15,000 students). As of January 2008, 51 W&M alumni are serving. Since the Peace Corps’ inception, 499 W&M alumni have volunteered with the Corps, making the university the 82nd-highest producer of volunteers of all time.

• For 2007-2008, the College had more Fulbright Scholars than any other college of university in Virginia, and it had the highest application-to-award rate among nation’s top research institutions. In 2006-2007, 12 William and Mary students were named Fulbright Scholars. Eleven received the honor in 2007-08 and scholars are studying in countries such as Argentina, Hungary, Uganda, Sweden, Senegal, and Ecuador.

• In 2008, W&M received a record number of applications for undergraduate admission for the 3rd year in a row. More than 11,500 undergraduate applications were received.

• According to a recent survey, William and Mary students contribute 323,000 hours of community service per year. Seventy-five percent of undergraduates and 50 percent of graduate students report they volunteered during their time at the College. Ninety percent of undergraduates report they will volunteer in the community they reside in following graduation.
William and Mary is committed to building and maintaining outstanding facilities for all 21 of its varsity athletic teams. The College has demonstrated this commitment by investing approximately $16 million toward the construction and upgrade of its athletics facilities during just the last five years. Among W&M’s recent projects was the construction of the $11 million, 30,000-square foot Jimmye Laycock Football Center, which was dedicated this past June. In recent years, the College has hosted NCAA tournament events for football and women’s tennis, while a number of other W&M programs have hosted conference championships at Tribe venues.
Under the steady guidance and watchful eye of Terry Driscoll, the William and Mary Athletics Department has solidified its standing as one of the nation’s preeminent broad-based programs. As Driscoll enters his 13th year as athletics director, he has overseen an unprecedented era of improvement in terms of funding and facilities while also maintaining the College’s rich history of producing well-rounded student-athletes.

Driscoll oversees a program that is committed to balancing academic demands with athletic success. One of the department’s stated goals each year is to finish among the top 100 in the annual Director’s Cup rankings, which has happened in all but one of the years that Driscoll has been the director.

In the last five years alone, the Tribe’s program has combined for a total of 23 Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) titles. This past season, W&M claimed four CAA titles (Men’s and Women’s Cross Country, Women’s Track & Field, and Women’s Tennis). As recently as 2002-03, W&M had a school-record 10 teams compete in the NCAA Tournament, with four teams winning conference titles and six that finished in the top 25 at the end of their respective seasons. Overall, no institution in the CAA can claim more all-time league championships than the 92 William and Mary has earned.

As impressive as the athletic accomplishments have been during Driscoll’s tenure, the program’s academic successes have been even greater. In the NCAA’s inaugural (2004) APR rankings, a measurement of academic progress based on academic eligibility, retention, and graduation of student-athletes, W&M was fourth in the nation overall and first among institutions offering athletic performance-based scholarships. Additionally, the Tribe football team has posted a 100 percent graduation rate three times, while the majority of the program’s squads have consistently ranked among the nation’s finest in terms of graduation. In 2002, the CAA started recognizing Scholar-Athletes of the Year for each of the 22 sports it sponsors, and the College has had a conference-high 26 individuals receive the honor.

In addition to the many academic and athletic successes, Driscoll’s impact on the program has been equally impressive in terms of physical and financial improvements. Since taking over as athletics director, Driscoll has overseen the construction of more than $20 million in new facilities, including Plumeri Park (baseball), Albert-Daly Field (soccer, lacrosse), and the Busch Courts (tennis). Most recently, the College dedicated a new $11 million, 30,000 square-foot Jimmyne Laycock Football Center at Zable Stadium in the summer of 2008. During the last three years, the venerable stadium has been enhanced with an $800,000-plus video scoreboard (2007), the installation of a $650,000 permanent lighting system (2006), and an $840,000 state-of-the-art Field Turf Pro artificial playing surface (2006).

In addition to the physical structures, Driscoll has also worked with the Associate Athletics Director for Development, Bobby Dwyer, to increase the annual fund-raising totals for non-capital projects from $1.36 million in 1995 to the current annual total of approximately $2.7 million.

A true student-athlete himself, Driscoll’s leadership skills were developed during his collegiate years. As a student-athlete at Boston College, Driscoll captained the basketball team to the National Invitation Tournament Finals as a senior and was named the tournament MVP. In addition to being named an All-American, his success in the classroom as a biology major garnered him an Academic All-America honor.

After graduating from BC, he was the fourth overall pick of the 1969 NBA Draft, selected by the Detroit Pistons, just three spots after the Milwaukee Bucks chose UCLA’s Lew Alcindor, later to be known as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Driscoll chose to play a year in Italy first, but then returned to the U.S. to play for the Pistons, Washington Bullets, and Milwaukee Bucks before going back to Italy as a player and then coach until 1980.

Driscoll then entered the corporate world in 1980, working for Kazmaier Associates, Inc., an international sporting goods sales and sports marketing firm. After Kazmaier purchased Bike Athletic in 1986, KSG Inc. was formed with the objective of becoming the first, and only, national sales agency in the sporting goods industry. By 1987, Driscoll was president of the company and had expanded the agency to all 50 states just two years later. In early 1990, Driscoll’s contribution to a marketing research project for the NCAA was the initial step moving him from product marketing and sales to sports marketing and management. The result of the project was a joint venture between Kazmaier Associates and Host Communications - with Driscoll being named managing director and chief operating officer of NCAA International.

In 1993, Driscoll diversified his experience in the athletic world by working as the venue executive director of the 1994 World Cup site in Boston. In September of that year, Driscoll was again enlisted to launch a new business, Eagle International Group, an event management and services company. As vice president, Driscoll worked with Hawaii Pacific Sports to organize the Women’s World Volleyball Grand Prix competition in Honolulu.

Driscoll resides in Williamsburg with his wife, Susan. The couple has two children – Keith, a 1997 graduate of Holy Cross, and Leslie, a 2001 graduate of William and Mary.
