Senior Class Vice-President Desires Career In Law And Life Of Travel

“arvest greatest ambition is to make money and be able to spend it as I like” states Frank Davis, president pro-tempore of the Interfraternity Council and vice-president of the senior class.

A native of South Carolina, Frank has dropped his southern drawl somewhere along the line. The reason may be that he has been living in New York for the past 16 years. Before the race, Frank was an electrical welder in a defense plant. Soon after leaving his defense job, he served in the Naval Reserves for the short period of one week. He also served in the Army in November, '43, and was discharged the following October.

Frank has many varied “likes.” They range from brunettes to beer, handball to “piezzarizz.” As for the latter, he has his own special recipe for this delicacy. It is to handball to “piezzarizz.” As for added for taste; and the dish is

WILLIAMSBURG, VA.
Dr. R. H. Henneman Returns After Service In Air Force

Virginia Born Psychology Professor Brings New Ideas From Army Work

Wearing a newly-purchased brown suit, Dr. Richard H. Henneman, former Army Air Force psychologist, arrived on campus only last Thursday, November 9, and is staying in Brafferton Hall until he can find a home here for his wife and two-year-old daughter, Betty, who are now in Charleston, S. C.

Dr. Henneman has been on leave of absence since April 1945 when he joined the Air Corps psychological program. This program selects and classifies members of crew groups. Dr. Henneman's first station was at the Kelly Field Classification Center in Texas, and from there he was stationed at Headquarters of the A.A.F. Training Command at Santa Ana, Calif. He also spent a year with the First Air Force at Mitchel Field, N. Y.

Dr. Henneman supervised administration of aircrew aptitude tests and took part in the development of research.

While in New York his unit was slated for Far Eastern service, but the atomic bomb cancelled these plans. Quoting him, "the work in this program was just psychologists' dream," and from his Army experiences he has received many ideas on new college curricula, especially in the field of psychology. Further on in his work he smiled and said, "there is nothing so unglamorous as an air corpusman on the ground."

A native Virginian from Rockbridge County, Dr. Henneman graduated from Hampden-Sydney College in 1929 and taught at McGuire's Preparatory School in Richmond, Va., for two years. He then entered the University of Virginia to do graduate work in psychology and it was here that he became a Phi Beta Kappa.

The Phi Psi's entertained their pledge at an informal party following a pledge-active meeting last Monday evening. Pledge officers of the Delta Delta Delta Sorority include Lynn Grenner, president; Doty Dedrick, secretary; and Judy Felix, treasurer.

Founder's Day was celebrated by the Gamma Phi Beta's Sunday meeting, November 11.

Jackie Sarras, '45, spent Sunday, November 4, visiting the Alpha Chi Omega's, Phyllis Swanson, president; "Onnie" Thomas, vice-president; June Crouse, secretary, and Rusty Jennings, treasurer are the Alpha Chi pledge officers.

Billie Ray and Ruth Lynch were taken into Kappa Delta Sorority at a second degree pledging ceremony Friday, November 9.

Three years later, on a graduate fellowship to Columbia he received his Ph. D. in psychology under Dr. E. W. Woodrow, prominent psychologist, doing his doctoral research in visual perception.

Directly following graduation, Dr. Henneman came to Williamsburg in September 1935 to general, experimental, and theoretical psychology.

Two pet enthusiasms are traveling baseball teams and, secondly, football fans; Dr. Henneman was an Indian follower.

When he was asked how well he felt about being back in Williamsburg he smiled and said: "It feels like a homecoming in spite of the predominance of strange faces."

Lord Botetourt Becomes Symbol Of College Life

President And Professors Purchase Governor Berkeley's Statue For $100

Lord Botetourt's statue has come to be a symbol of the College to the students, and after their graduation they will still remember him fondly as "Botty" or as the old boy to whom they had to curtsy as they entered the circle.

Botetourt Popular Governor

Although Horace Holroyd, former Governor of Williamsburg for only two years until his death in 1770, was one of the most popular of Virginia governors for this reason the General Assembly voted money with which to buy a statue of him. The statue was made in England under the supervision of John Norton, a merchant, and arrived in Williamsburg in 1776.

Faculty Repairs Statue

For a number of years the statue was removed periodically from the plaza of the Capitol in Williamsburg and the colony continued to vote money to keep the statue in good condition. By 1810 or before the statue which had been in the Capitol for a number of years was purchasable. The President and professors of the college bought the statue for $106, repaired it, and placed it on the grounds of the college. During the Civil War it was placed in the grounds of Eastern State Hospital for safety, but was soon brought back and placed in front of the Sir Christopher Wren Building for a while it has remained ever since...

Historical References on Botetourt

In many old letters and historical papers on Williamsburg's early days, references are made to Lord Botetourt's statue being mutilated. While some people think his note of the Assembly of the Colony voted money with which to buy a statue of him, the statue for $106, repaired it, and placed it on the grounds of the college. During the Civil War it was placed in the grounds of Eastern State Hospital for safety, but was soon brought back and placed in front of the Sir Christopher Wren Building for a while it has remained ever since...

Pink Marble Not Natural

Favorable rivals of Williams and Mary have given Botetourt a decidedly pinkish color with applications of red paint during football season. Students and alumni feel that a statue should be made to explore the original status and that Lord Botetourt ought to be returned to its original status, the College.

A Home Nursing course, taught by Miss Mary Farkas, Public Health Worker of James City County, started Monday, November 11. The class is conducted in an upper room of the old hospital and will last for a period of six weeks. Enrolled in the course are Pattie Morris, chairman; Betty Rigby, secretary; Betty Ellett, Dorothy Drew, Kati Thomas, Barbara Thomas, Brenda Cahill, Betty Brown and Mary McGinnis.

The College unit of the Red Cross has been assigned a quota of 200 Christmas boxes to be packed for use in camp hospitals on the Pacific. Further information concerning the contents of the boxes will be released later.

Tri-City Meets Point Mariners Saturday In Final Home Game Of Season

Redmen Seek Fifth Triumph

After six consecutive weeks of play, Mr. Gallagher is looking to his senior and junior varsity grid teams to return to Cary Field for their final home game Saturday, playing host to the Merchant Marine Academy from Kings Point.

The Bravos, edged out last week by Williamsburg High, will be seeking to add another victory to their record of four wins in seven starts.

The Mariners, not playing too long with a successful team, are likely to be in competition. As a result, they defeated Remember Polytechnic Institute and then blanked Franklin College in the fall of 1940. Instead of making all-southern ends, Mr. Gallagher is looking to add another victory to their record of four wins in seven starts.

Swimming Events

Swimming intramurals will take place the later part of November in Blow Gym. There will be eight major events. Three will be forty yard swims of the crawl, back, and breast strokes. One of the main events will be the eighty yard relay. The fifth contest, diving, will have one of the winning teams dive, and the back dive. Two optional dives must also be chosen.

No one person can be in more than three events. Each sorority and dormitory may enter both first and second teams. A minimum of five participants is required on each team and there may be as many more as desired. All participants must have four practices or their whole team may be disqualified.

Four days have been set aside for the four events. The preliminary meets will have one evening, and each sorority league will compete with the members of that league separately. On the last day the finals will be held between the winners of the previous meets.

Members of the varsity hockey team are most grateful to Miss Martha Barksdale, their coach, by the following tribute which we print here. "The success of the varsity hockey team this year has in no small part been due to the able coaching of Miss Barksdale, and the personal attention instructor. It is no easy job to get more than twenty girls to practice faithfully over six hours a week, but it is a job Miss Barksdale has accomplished. At least three days every week the team can be seen on the hockey field working hard at perfecting their skills. Miss Barksdale is always there working with the girls, helping and urging them on. It is our firm opinion that this companionship and cooperation has been a great part responsible for the fine showing the Mariners have made this year."

Here is one of the reasons the Mariners will have one evening, and each sorority league will compete with the members of that league separately. On the last day the finals will be held between the winners of the previous meets.

Alumni Group Aids Veterans

Plans for the 1946 Charter Day Gifts Fund are being formulated, and the interest of December, approximately $12,800 alumni will receive formal solicitation by mail.

Each year the Society of the Alumni advocates the alumni's cooperation in contributing to the College for the support of its scholarship programs. This society is endeavoring to establish funds for scholarships that will bear the name of every alumnus who lost his life during the present war. To date, more than sixty names are inscribed on the Honor Roll in the Wren Building.

Last year's contribution, which was made on a limited solicitation, amounted approximately $7,000.00.

William and Mary Go-Round
By FRED FRELICHT
I've been attending this college for almost four years. I have stayed here all this time because I'm under the impression that this isn't such a bad place. But I need to explain that all things considered, the faculty, students, and administration are a pretty good bunch. Of course, there are some hickory sticks among this lot of people who make up this thing we call life. I guess that no matter which school one attends, he will find something to gripe about.
In the past few months, I've heard all kinds of vocal attacks directed against the administration of this school. Practically no phase of administration has escaped scathing criticism by one or more groups of students. I'm not going to express any of these opinions, at least, I still think that the big fault of all the machinations of the college lies in the failure to decide on a few key questions. If both sides could see all sides of an issue, I'm sure that there would be much less of the friction that exists now.
To sum it all up, I'm still of the belief that all the parties concerned have one thing in common, one thing which, in the long run, causes all of the friction. That one common aim is to make William and Mary a better school!
Now, since I try to speak for the students, I want to offer the administration a plan which would be to all of the students that they do understand the needs of the students... and one of the biggest shortcomings of the school.
It is not obvious, even to the administration, that there is a definite lack of a student recreation center on this campus. The whole question of what to do on free evenings has been gone into for a few editions. With the hampering effects of the war have prevented any effective measures being taken.
Now however, the opportunity to remedy all this has arisen. With a few quick, comparatively easy moves, the whole situation could be remedied.

College Life Can Develop Independence of Individual
By BUDDY CANOLES and HARRY STINSON
We have often wondered what each student expects of the college he chooses as his institution of higher learning. We wonder even more if he gets what he came for. There are many different ways to run a college, but we would like to employ the simplest. Now that time is coming. With the institutions the enrollees are told that they must learn to assume responsibilities in a way that will prepare them for life. The new student is told, "You will be independent." He may even be told: "You must realize that he must face. But he is not worried, for he has confidence in those who are to guide him.

Classmates, it is you who have suggestions for bigger and better rallies, they will be gratefully received by the cheerleading squad.

In the past, attendance at pep rallies has been compulsory for entering freshmen a handbook on "Cafeteria," and a slide rule to aid them in figuring the cost of their meal.

Sincerely,
