We Won't Be Back

We won't be back. We came back. But only in the physical sense of the word. Actually, we will never completely leave the College, for we will always carry with us the lessons and experiences that we have gained.

As we are spending our last days together, we carry with us the lessons we have learned and the experiences we have had before; and we shall be able to come back, even if we have gone before, so the College will retain some notion of us.

We have done our fair share of griping and complaining and we have been critical on many occasions. But we have been interested, for we have been part of the culture and traditions of this College environment; we have made friendships that are lasting; we have learned to live; but above all, we have learned to live.

Life in Williamsburg and at William and Mary has been fun; it has been difficult; it has been stimulating. To leave any place after four years is hard to do. To leave William and Mary is a particularly hard thing to do, for this time we will be leaving soon, but only in the physical sense of the word. Actually, we will never completely leave the College, for we will always carry with us the lessons and experiences that we have gained.

Different Mediums Show Subjects Ranging From Realistic To Abstract

By PATTY LOU YOUNG

Art, from the standpoint of an amateur, it is at times a somewhat bewildering affair. As I climbed the steps to Phi Beta, I anticipated that the exhibits of the Annual Art Raligh of the week presented by the aspiring artists on our campus.

On entering the quiet, dimly lit room, I seemed to stop, for a moment, from the world of reality. I was among people gracing from Architectural Design to Calligraphy, the exhibits exemplified almost every form of art. Since it would be impossible to give full account of each piece of work, I can only give my opinion of those which most impressed me. In sculpture, which is most realistic, I liked Race for Action; The Relentless Dragon, for the body of Mother-Could-n't, for softness; and Pansy for emotion. The most abstract, in the center of the room, displayed a certain solid strength in the gravity�始 firearms. Gust of Wind and Growth were excellent in their freshness of color. The wood design: Tuba and trumpet brought out the quality of the wood to the present advantage. In a class of its own was the water color. The illustration, The Country Mouse and The City Cat, told a tale of its own, and showed the qualities of the medium.

Squaw Tennis Stars Trim
North Carolina Team, 7-0

Co-eds, Paced By Elaine Passow,
Chalk Up Second Victory of Season

Gaining their second victory of the season, the William and Mary co-ed tennis team defeated the University of North Carolina netters 7-0, last Saturday.

"The Squaws just lost one set on our way to victory," Libya McLaughlin and Jean Morgan dropping their doubles match against Doris Brommer and Betty Marks. McLaughlin and Morgan, with the third set, however, to win the match.

In the singles matches, Elaine Waites, 6-2, 6-0, Pat Macken, playing number two for the Squaws, defeated Emma Lee Rhyne, 6-3, 6-3, Betty Marks in a little difficulty with Doris Brommer but the Squaws "got their own back". Playing in the number five slot, Hunt Cromwell Downed Betty Marks by a 6-1, 6-3 tally, and Marjorie Oak stopped Helen Moran, 6-3, 6-2.

Barbara Davis and Betty Corry, the William and Mary number one doubles, easily won their duals match over Joyce Fowler and Kelly Weir. Elizabeth Gerger and Betty Marks went down before the Tri-Color's Libby McLaughlin and Morgan, 7-6, 6-1, 6-4.

The victory over North Carolina gave the co-eds a two and one half point margin over the Tar Heels.

The Singles
Elaine Passow (W-M), defeated Joyce Fowler, 6-3, 6-2.
Pat Macken (W-M), defeated Emma Lee Rhyne, 6-3, 6-2.
Doris Brommer (W-M), defeated Barbara Davis, 6-4, 6-4.

The Doubles
Barbara Davis, Betty Corry, (W-M) defeated Joyce Fowler, Emma Lee Rhyne, 6-3, 6-2.

Marjorie Oak (W-M), defeated Helen Moran, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Gill Hurls Win Over Va. Tech

Giving up but four scattered hits, Bob Gill hurled William and Mary to a 5-1 victory over Virginia Polytechnic Institute, 7-1, last Monday at Blacksburg.

Big guns for the Tribe were shortstop Tommy Korczowski and leftfielder Leon Larned, each driving two hits in four times at the plate. Korczowski piloted a home run in the ninth, which increased his total to three round-trip in two games.

Tech's pitcher, Pinner, gave up seven hits but for seven innings and was relieved when the Tri-Colo's had a three-run up in their half of the seventh. Rebuff, another Virginia Tech visitor, was then in the eighth and allowed two hits.

Nether, Phillips, and Post increased their batting averages by slaming out run-producing triples. The locals hold only five men on base, while the Techmen left eight.

The Indians meet a trio of opponents this week-end. On Friday and Saturday they play host to Duke and North Carolina State. Then on Sunday the squad travels to Richmond to tackle the Country Club of Virginia.

"Citizens In Action" Seek Support Of Food Relief

Committee Urges Individual Concern

"Citizens in Action," a committee created to detect selfish political interests in the national government and inaugurate a program to back the move to America to send food to starving Europe, is being hailed by the committee from each individual citizen in the country in a three-point system of attack.

The three methods of contributing to the program are: 1) By voluntary donation of time, energy, production, 2) by contribution of money or actual goods to be used in the campaign, and 3) by supporting Washington in the measures taken and pressing it for further action.

In supporting Washington, letters are to be written to President Roosevelt. The committee urges that the Department of Agriculture, the Secretary of Agriculture, and Congressmen, and to private organizations. Gradually this method will be used to the point where it may be called its campaign.

Distributing outlines of letters to be used in this movement is a "Citizens in Action" stated, "We have got to make up our own mind, and we want to urge our friends to do the same for the coming year. Every individual citizen and every family has an immediate part to play, because without citizen insistence, cooperation and enthusiasm, we won't get very far.

"Individually, in cooperation, and through our government (each member being indispensable to the other), we can make America's contribution to a needy world a shining landmark in the history of human effort to save the world."

The managers of the committee are Melvin Kahn and Barbara Simons.

Committee plans to hold a picnic at the Shelter on May 18 and has invited the Paris Church Ladies to lend a hand.

The managers are: Mrs. Frank C. S. McGraw, Mrs. Rose Belk, Mrs. A. P. Middleton, Mrs. Margaret A. Godfrey, Mrs. Jane哪些, Mrs. Anna Smith, Miss Helen Gayther, Miss Betty Schneide, Miss Betty C. Williams, Miss Ada Hooker, Miss Alice Walley, Miss Maude White, Miss Margaret A. Godfrey, Miss Elizabeth R. Brown, Miss Betty C. Williams, Miss Ada Hooker, Miss Ann Anderson, Nancy Crank, and Miss Helen Gayther.

Date, May 18 at the Shelter. Committee heads for the picnic are Mrs. Frank C. S. McGraw, Mrs. Rose Belk, Mrs. A. P. Middleton, Mrs. Margaret A. Godfrey, Mrs. Jane哪些, Mrs. Anna Smith, Miss Helen Gayther, Miss Betty Schneide, Miss Betty C. Williams, Miss Ada Hooker, Miss Ann Anderson, Nancy Crank, and Miss Helen Gayther.

of college woman. In short, the object is service, scholarship, and leadership. Seven Juniors Honored: Activities are an integral part of college life, and students who hold office in campus organizations are leaders. The Mortar Board is one of these organizations.

Seven juniors and seniors were honored for their contributions to campus life. The girls are: Miss Evelyn M. Acomb, W. Warner Moss, Edgar M. Foltin, and Sharvy Southworth will conduct this seminar meeting on Friday, May 10. The topic to be discussed is the UN and its role in world cooperation. Miss Acomb, chairwoman of Dr. S. Donald Eagleton of New York University, will discuss the UN's enormous authority. If the UN is not a world super-state, is it not a world superpower? Do states have the right to assist or assist in their own defense? Is it necessary for states to recognize the UN as an international body? What is the UN's role in world order? The UN has enormous authority. The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. in the college chapel.

Rogers Hall. Parting from the Nar for this year will be held on May 15.

Eagleton stresses necessity of five power agreement.

"The five powers agree, the UN has enormous authority. If they do not recognize it, it is pretty well stymied," stated Professor Clyde Eagleton of New York University, distinguish scholar in the field of international law, before the seminar meeting on Friday, May 10.

Chairman for the meeting was Miss Evelyn Acomb, who introduced Dr. Eagleton's topic. "The United Nations Organization and World Cooperation."

Professor Acomb opened the meeting's outstanding qualifications, citing his membership in the American Society of International Law and in the National Organization of Women. It is well known for its participation in the San Francisco conference of last year.

Mr. Eagleton began by outlining some of the basic concepts in the organization of the United Nations. He emphasized that it is not a world superstate. Do states have the right to assist or assist in their own defense? Is it necessary for states to recognize the UN as an international body? What is the UN's role in world order? The UN has enormous authority. If the UN is not a world superstate, is it not a world superpower? Do states have the right to assist or assist in their own defense? CITI』s a great one for going in for recordings and recorded hits from shows. Looking over their latest batch of recorded promises, there is indication that Decca intends to keep on with what they have been doing. There is a good album, SING OUT, SWEET LAND, from the musical of the same name. Alfred Drake and the publicly nominated Burt Lort are given top billing in this collection of best standing favorites, such as BLUE TAIL FLY, THE ROARING CAMERON, FRANKIE AND THE JORDAN MOUNTAIN, and I'M GOING DOWN THE ROAD. Also sealed for release is another album of H MAY AN ISLAND, with the dramatic backdrop, Queen Welles. Here, the creator of the war with Met is set down to a personal medium, resolving hudioc, and innumerable words of famous names - Peletas, John Donn, Thomas Paine, Patrick Henry, the invincible Lincoln (his Gettysburg address), and so on. Yet another collection of records offered by Decca is a series of readings for children called THE CHILDREN'S HOUR. On three long records, Donald Crisp, of movie fame, tells the stories all about THE VILLAGE MUSSET ORCHESTRA, THE BUILDING OF A SHIP and other appropriate subjects. Longfellow's poems are skillfully arranged for the record. There isn't too much of Dr. P. C. Bolling, the red Alther's DRINK IN THE BOTTLE, which is more for your Party, and THE CRAWL is not the same thing, partly because of the narration. Yet, interesting, and possibly a clue for more records by Alther's every time you're in the mood for a good, old-fashioned melody, which is often. The world of the record player continues to grow.

On three long records, Donald Crisp, of movie fame, tells the stories all about THE VILLAGE MUSSET ORCHESTRA, THE BUILDING OF A SHIP and other appropriate subjects. Longfellow's poems are skillfully arranged for the record. There isn't too much of Dr. P. C. Bolling, the red Alther's DRINK IN THE BOTTLE, which is more for your Party, and THE CRAWL is not the same thing, partly because of the narration. Yet, interesting, and possibly a clue for more records by Alther's every time you're in the mood for a good, old-fashioned melody, which is often. The world of the record player continues to grow.

In the music of love," but it is still a fact that Perry is among the best of this generation. Russ Case, former Raymond Scott side man, directs the sugarey accompanying studio back. Backing is from Kelly's A LITTLE TOUCH OF MAY, and Perry is at his best. Victor.
