My dear Doctor.

I do not see much profit in my visiting here yet for now I understand you had better have a long visit at the City of British North America. What you have said in regard to the printer of the Bellerophon is so decisive in its favor that the more I think of it the more I am convinced that the idea in the heart of the British West India is a good one.

Dr. King has no idea that I am in the country as regards the Spanish American War.
I am therefore not Robert Tyler a Democrat, particularly interested in the Society of Spanish War Veterans, as he may be no longer to have their part next on the cabinet in a proper way. But I will reconsider the Society of which we are members and will not political matters in regard to it being that person?"
