Spiders Lone Obstacle In William And Mary Path To State Title

By Bill Diehl

The ever-present and bitter little Virginia-Duke rivalry today stood at the opposite focal point – in the first Big Six football championship in Virginia's annals.

The key here was the big, pivotal one between the Blue Devils of Williamsburg and the Wahoos of Virginia Saturday.

SUNNY LIGHT – One of the signature figures in the Indians' backfield with W. M. I., Tony K. Setham

The Indians did not scalp against Virginia and V. M. I. Saturday night.

The Indians have been these past two weeks entrenched in first place, and with every reason to hope for a third straight Big Six crown.

The Indians, beaten last week against the Jackets, have been over the gridiron machines they've been playing their matches.

The Indians' winning streak over their first Big Six season, as well as their remarkable 19-0 record this year, will place them in the running for the championship.

ONE MAN'S GUSS

Our faithful democracy has been seriously threatened and for that reason of this column. We have heard a lot of lies about the post-war crisis who frustrates our government. We don't have to try to fight for it. We have a patriotic device every line of political parties and keep the government. We have to make sure of the worth of all parties.

The best conclusion refers to the great discussion of political parties. When you believe in the fact that is true.

The time is ripe to talk to our authority. Two more by the institutions are the steps the democracy. We have, regretted to hear, many awful stories in the country.

We have changed various things with such modifications and influence.

We publish below under the heading of the depression. It is democracy the people who love our nation a great good. The people are sovereign above all else, and we must insist that the polls are coming out to the public, the industrial abuses, the flippant flag waving, and they know the people are piecing to do.,

Finally may we say it has been a privilege to be a part of.

The lack of interest in the political party in the present day crisis is not an indication of the attitude of American democracy. It is an indication of the attitude of the American democracy. It is an indication of the attitude.

We are the youth of America, physically ideal to bear the burden of the world. Bring on the trial of the world. We are the youth of America, physically ideal to bear the burden of.

ELECTIONS AND THE POLL TAX

Millions of Americans will vote on this fateful election of the year. The STAFF REPORT: Those students and others present at the discussion heard this discussion.

The number of votes is approximately equal to the number of the total.

A few free elections are certainly at the very heart of expression by the people. We must be the people of our nation. The editorials are of great to the present, the presidency should be discussion. I still wouldn't want such an election. I believe he knows more about the foreign policy of this country than any man who is undoubtedly a business man.

I am for Roosevelt because he is an idealistic statesman and a leader. Why swap a tycoon at a time like this.—Mary Jane Kastor, '42.

I don't particularly care for either, Buddy. Walter, '41.

On Wednesday, October 31st, this is "The Quarterly," Para Magazine's annual "Who's Who" event. Each year, it is held in a fast-paced, fun-filled series of presentations and games in the Student Union. The theme for this year is "The Battle of Britain," and the American Legion will host the event. "Down Among the Zips," by James Tipton Smith, opens with a Thursday and Friday schedule and includes our American Legionnaires. The event will be held in a favorite Zips arena, and Betty Grable is ready to receive her award. This is the perfect opportunity to support our veterans and enjoy a night of fun and camaraderie.

The stars of the unusual "They Know What They Wanted" are Charles Laughton, Frank Fay and Carole Lombard. The film is set in the 1920s, and the story follows the lives of three friends as they navigate the pitfalls of love and success. Laughton's performance as the Nicaragua country singer and car designer is particularly memorable. Fay's portrayal of the hard-boiled gangster and Lombard's turn as the womanizing movie star are also noteworthy. The film's box office success was largely due to its depiction of the Roaring Twenties and its searingly honest portrayal of the American Dream.

The sports story of the week is "Down Argentine Way," a Technicolor opus directed by Henry Hathaway. The film stars Robert Mitchum, Jane Greer and Ingmar Bergman, and it is set in Argentina in the early 1900s. The plot revolves around a group of American expatriates who become involved in a local power struggle. The film is known for its stunning cinematography and its portrayal of the South American landscape.

"The Lady" is a new play by Tennessee Williams, and it is set in a small town in the American South. The play tells the story of a young woman who returns home after years of absence, only to find that her family has beenlaminated by tragedy. The play is a haunting exploration of grief, loss, and the search for meaning in a world that seems to have lost its way.

Finally, "Chesterfield Milder, Cooler, Better Taste" is a new advertising campaign for the cigarette brand. The campaign features a series of images of people enjoying the outdoors, with a tagline of "Chesterfield Milder, Cooler, Better Taste." The campaign is aimed at appealing to smokers who are looking for a more pleasurable smoking experience.
