Helen Douglas To Speak Sunday In Phi Beta Kappa
WSG To Honor Noted Legislator
Tentative plans have been made for Helen Douglas, daughter of the Hon. William Douglas, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, to speak Sunday evening in Phi Beta Kappa hall.

Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas, noted American stateswoman will be the guest speaker Sunday evening at 7:30 in Phi Beta Kappa hall. She is well known as a former California congresswoman and United Nations delegate.

A native of New York City, she has resided in California for the past 56 years. She is a graduate of Vassar College and has a law degree from Columbia University.

Author Of Play
She is author of the play "Laura," now being produced on the New York stage, and "When the Moon." After her appearance in the play she married Bill Tyler, who is a member of the University of California law faculty.

Mrs. Douglas will speak at 7:30 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa hall. Following the talk, she will be seated in the Dodge room. She will be the guest of the WSGA women's student organization.

Helen Douglas was an English major at Vassar College, from which she graduated in 1912, and then attended Columbia University Law School, where she studied law. She was admitted to the California bar in 1916 and 1923, with a friend of hers, and was called to the bar "in the moon." After her appearance in Broadway plays, she turned to New York and appeared on the stage, Mrs. Douglas gained international recognition as a close study of political and economic topics.

International Recognition
Miss Gahagan played a leading role in the World Psychiatric Association in 1943 and was named as a member of the United States delegation to the World Health Organization.

Tyler, Bill Harrison, Bob Jacobs, Newton, Mass., Barbara has participated in the Chorus, Alpha Phi. Hailing from West Virginia, she was educated at Berkeley Institute and entered the law school of the University of Virginia in 1930 as professor of jurisprudence and head of the department of law.

Dean Landrum...

For twenty years Dean Grace Warren Landrum has served William and Mary. It was a duty and a pleasure for her to graduate as an English professor of English. In such an association, it is not remarkable that there has been much influence on both sides. It is not strange that Dean Landrum has come to be a close and lovingly beloved member of the student body. She has come to be dear to the hearts of the students and everyone connected with the college for bear fruit and drudge.

She has served William and Mary in many ways: in the kind and understanding guidance she has given every woman student, in the priceless love of good things in learning she has imparted to her English students. Dean Landrum is the symbol of all that which is known of the tradition of the college, and in simple refreshing of the soul.

Dean Landrum came to us in 1927 from Wesapeake College, University of Richmond, where she spent six years as associate professor of English. She is the second dean of women at William and Mary that we have ever had.

Before she came to Virginia, she taught in Tennessee, Kentucky and Georgia. She is a native of Augusta. She is a graduate of Radcliffe college, she took her A.B. degree magna cum laude. She received the M.A. degree magna cum laude. She was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, a distinction not conferred upon any female student, since there was no chapter at Radcliffe when she was an undergraduate.

Administration and teaching have consumed most of her time here, and yet she has contributed her energies to a broad field of activities. She has been a member of the campus homecoming and the American Student League. She is the author of a number of articles published by the learned journals. She is known primarily as a Sperianian.

Dean Landrum is a member of both the Virginia of Phi Beta Kappa and the Virginia division of the AAUW, and she is a member of the Virginia Education Association, the College English Association, Delta Sigma Sigma and the Sweet Briar club.

In the college she has served on many administrative committees. She has been a member of the Faculty Policies Committee, a personnel committee, and a member of the Alumni Memorial Service and the Christmas Yule Log Committee. At all the times the committees of the college have found a helper in or guide of her in the administration.

In these ways and in many others, William and Mary will miss her when she leaves in June to go on lighter studies and further success. We are fortunate to have known her.

Finality...

After four years, the senior class is closing the books, and finishing up all the odds and ends of a college career. That in itself is one of the significant reasons for getting ready for the last time we’ll do these little things in a while, and it could outprint all our old interests.

“We’re going into Washington or Rogers or West to a class. The last bell is ringing and we only have time to get into a class. The last bell is ringing and we only have time to gather at the shelter to eat food and drink beer and finishing up all the odds and ends of a college career.”

And yet, now every time, and the middle of a term paper or a club meeting, it seeps into our consciousness that the campus have raised the same question. These veterans had not been erected. It was discovered, in answer to prosecured.

However, with only about two weeks before final examina-

Exeter Scholarship Award Goes To Roger Woolley

Roger S. Woolley, FLAT HAT political columnist, has been named William and Mary representative to Exeter College in England, under the exchange scholarship which went into effect last year. In recognition of his efforts, the Exeter Scholarship Committee, in concert with the Exeter Dean, gave the Exeter Scholarship Award to Woolley.

In his address to Woodberry during his early visit here, Woolley described the intellectual atmosphere of Exeter College and expressed his enthusiasm for the scholarship. He said that the Exeter Scholarship is a rare opportunity and that the scholarship recipient is expected to be a good student at Exeter.

Woolley thanked the Dean and the Scholarship Committee for the award. He said that he plans to use his scholarship to study law and economics at Exeter College. He also expressed his gratitude for the opportunity to study abroad and to experience a different culture.

Woolley is currently a junior at William and Mary and is majoring in political science. He is a member of the William and Mary Student Council and the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He has been involved in a number of campus activities, including the debate team and the student newspaper.

The Exeter Scholarship is a prestigious award that goes to one William and Mary student each year. The recipient is chosen based on academic excellence and leadership potential.

Bot-E-Talk

The Flat Hat is pleased to announce the return of its popular online forum, Bot-E-Talk. This week's topic is "Why is it important to be friendly with the women in your life?"

Woolberry Plans Concert Thursday

Maryloun Woolberry will present the first student solo concert to be held on campus this year, on Thursday, May 13, at 8 p.m., in the Keller Keggs auditorium.

The concert will feature a cello sonata in two movements with the William and Mary Choral. The performance will be conducted by the music director, and will be open to the public. The concert is presented in recognition of Woodberry's European concert performance earlier this year.

Greek Letters

Dr. Woolley's motion to initiate Greek riding rules was passed at a meeting of the WSCGA held last night. The motion stated that junior and senior women shall be responsible for their own cars, providing they have written permission from a member of the organization and a guardian, who will be held liable if the car is used by a minor. The motion was passed by a majority vote.

Since returning to college, Woolley has been active in a number of campus organizations, including the Student Voice committee, treasurer of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and member of the editorial board.

WSCGA Passes Riding Permissio

Russell David Von Beren, New Hampton, Va., Clarence Emory Suggs, Alexandria, La., William V. Thomas, Roanoke, Va., and June Lochenour, Norfolk, will furnish the music.

Woolley's motion is a step toward improving the safety of the campus and ensuring that students are responsible for their own actions.

The motion was passed by a majority vote and will be in effect for the remainder of the year. It is hoped that the new rules will help to prevent accidents and ensure the safety of all students on campus.
SOUTHERN CONFERENCE CHAMPION. Gardner-Lawrence Tribe tennis ace, named his latest conference winner at Chapel Hill when he defeated Victor Seixas, of the University of North Carolina, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0, in the finals of the conference tournament.

THE WEEK IN SPORTS

Voting To End On Thursday

Voting closes Thursday, May 15, for the Outstanding Athlete to be selected from among the College of William and Mary's many colorful performers.

Nominations

Already some ten or 12 athletes have been nominated. These include Tommy Kirkconnell, William and Mary's baseball pitcher; Bob Gill, basketball forward and home run hitter; Chet Giermak, football center; and Captain Tut Bartzen, the Independent League's top shortstop.

Bartzen, the middle infielder for the Virginia-Virginia Tech baseball team, is considered by many to be the outstanding player at William and Mary for the first time.

Tennis

Recently announced by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association as the outstanding athlete for the past season for the University of North Carolina is Victor Seixas, a native of Brazil. Seixas is one of the most consistent players in the country and has been favored in most of the major tournaments.

The winning streak of Seixas has been maintained for some time and his play has been consistent throughout the season. In addition, Seixas has a strong serve and a good backhand, making him a formidable opponent.

In the match against the University of Virginia, Seixas played an excellent match and won the first set, 6-2. However, in the second set, he was defeated by the Virginia player, 6-0.

In the final set, Seixas regrouped and fought back, winning the first two games, 5-3. However, in the third set, he could not hold off the Virginia player and lost the match, 6-0.

The Virginia player, who is also a strong performer, played an excellent match but was unable to overcome Seixas. The match ended with Seixas winning the final set, 6-0, and Seixas being declared the winner of the match.

Braves Play Host To VMI

This week the Tribe baseball team will play two games, both at home. On Friday the Norfolk Air Station comes to town for a single game and Saturday V.M.I.'s Cadets will meet the Indians in a return game.

Last week batting averages and fielding percentages will start as the Tribe played a doubleheader, 2-1, and Norfolk Air Station played the Tribe in a three-game series. The Tribe scored nine runs, while Norfolk had only two. The Tribe's first baseman dropped a ball, the Tribe second baseman bobbled the ball, and the Tribe pitcher walked in two runs.

William and Mary's tennis aces turned in their most satisfying performances of the season last week when they trampled North Carolina and then went on to win their first Southern Conference tournament. There is not much point in repeating all the things which have been said about the squad so we'll just offer our congratulations to the guys on their terrifically successful season.

OTHER SPORTS

We'll try to keep from going too far off the track in our stories about the tennis team. However, we did enjoy a most pleasant day at the William and Mary classic recently and it is possible that we'll stir up some interest in outdoor activities.

One of the most painful losses of the entire season was the Indians' upset rout at the hands of Virginia by an 18-3 score. Reports indicate that the game was so one-sided as to be almost humorous. At any rate, the Cavaliers fared very well against the Indians.

One story concerns a freshkiss happening that occurred when Allen Dawson was on the mound. One of Gas Tebell's men hit a high fly to left field but as Bob Neile got ready to take it a stiff wind carried the ball back toward the infield. Tommy Korenowski gave chase and signalled for the wandering pellet. It evaded him also and just as Dawson was preparing to grab it he was hit on the head by the ball.

The difficulties of getting a tennis court and keeping it long enough to finish a match seem to be increasing every day and some this week end when the Southern Conference tournament is run off. This is definitely true of the area at the University of Williamsburg. The members of which have more rights than the general public, solve this problem.

The only entrance to the area is on a rotating basis with a distance of 200 yards. A first place in any event would be a decided moral victory and would be worth the price of the trip.

William and Mary might handle the event this year under the leadership of their players who have been excelling throughout the season.

The college baseball "World Series" championships, completed at the University of North Carolina, the question has most sections of the country hold over. It is hard to understand why, since the South should have been involved. A tournament designed to bring all these players together at one place would be a dream the nutcracker comes to the Philippines.

Library Displays Gift Of French Periodicals

A collection of contemporary French books, periodicals and newspapers is now on display in the library lobby, R. H. Land, associate director, announced.

Presented at the request of Dr. Marcel Rebois of the modern languages department, the display is a gift of the Service de Consulat Culinaire Foreign Cuisine. It is intended to acquaint students with the present-day output of the French press. Included are matter dealing with fashion and style, architecture, travel, the theater, government, politics, art and philosophy. Books selected for the collection deal with the German resistance and the French resistance movement during the war.

Two interesting features of the display are the newspaper (Arts concerned with writing, drama, movies, painting and sculpture, and Adam, a magazine roughly analogous to Esquire.

Biological Club Takes Trip To Dismal Swamp

Members of the Claytor-Grimes Biological club took a field trip to Lake Drummond in the Dismal Swamp on Saturday, May 3.

The group, which also included department librarian, accompanied a few former biology students who took nature classes at the Elizabeth City campus to the lake. Specimens were collected on the lake and later in the woods.

A hot dog roast was held on the shores of the lake after all the specimens were collected.

Duke Announces Building Of Four New Warehouses

Four warehouses are being constructed behind the college laundry, Charles J. Duke, Bursar, has disclosed.

Mr. Duke stated that the warehouses, of the "quonset hut" type, are being built under the supervision of the Federal Government, and are being constructed for the benefit of veterans.

Mr. Duke also revealed that the grading has been started on the site of the projected fraternity lodges.

Psychology Major Fehse Plans
Personnel Work, Travels

Professing to have had an "abnormally normal" college career, Nonnie Fehse is looking toward June and graduation with a nostalgic eye. As president of Mortar Board, and representative-at-large to the executive council, former president of Tri Delt, and a member of the varsity basketball team in '45-'46, she has been an outstanding leader in campus activities, with a large scope of interests to keep her more than just "normally" busy.

"At this point, I'm nomadic," said Nonnie, "Where I'm living is the question of the hour...somewhere in the state of New York."

A psychology major, Nonnie has no definite plans for her post graduate life. She would like to work at Altaian's, in some field of personnel work. Her main interests lie in the realm of sports, basketball and swimming being her favorite

Chi Omega And Barrett Hall Triumph

In Women's Intramural Softball Finals

The finals in the series of intramural softball games were held on Friday, May 9, with Chi Omega and Barrett, taking first place in their respective leagues.

Chi O's triumphed over Kappa 20-8 to take first place. Lucy Jones, Chi O's regular pitcher, was out of town and Harriet Hochstrasser took the mound to pitch a very good game. Kappa's pitcher Jean Morgan couldn't keep the Chi O's from hitting and had to be replaced by Jane Copland. Both teams contacted for hard hits but Kappa's pitching wasn't up to par and this gave the Chi O's a decided advantage.

Also Chi O's second and third teams downed their opponents to take first place in their leagues. Remaining undefeated in dormitory competition Barrett downed Jefferson 15-4. Frances Hawley did the pitching for Barrett that stopped Jefferson hitters, while Reba Burgess, Jefferson pitcher, was unable to stop with Barrett sluggers as Stellie Tankard and Jane Hogge.

With a score of 26-10 Phi Mu walked away with third place over Pi Phi. This game created some excitement because Betty Hayes, Phi Mu batter, became so excited over an infield fly she hit that she passed two other base runners in an effort to make a homerun...she was out.
