1,200 Students Enrolled For the Second Semester

Numerous Special War Courses Inaugurated In Cooperation With National Defense Effort

The spring semester begins Monday, since 1,200 students had enrolled in special war courses. Many new courses have been added, including courses to help speed up the training of the new student body and to familiarize them with the constitution of the country.

As the semester begins, the number of new students is 1,200, a decrease of over 300. A corresponding day by day, 360 students had enrolled in or out of the country, so the fall semester is less than 360 from 1,200. Late registration will end 11/30, later than at the present date of 12/2. Late registrations are essential to be in line for the academic semester over 1,193 marks, the registrar said.

Between 10 and 20 more students have dropped out of college, the Registrar said, since the first semester ended. Twenty of these unenrolled left for induction on the second term.

Physical Training

All physical education will now be taught by the physical education and recreational committee. All fitness classes will be taught on a two-year program, including athletes, who will be excused from the courses.

The vacation will begin at noon on Saturday, April 4, and will last until noon on April 10.

Muffled Groans, Midnight Hikes Attest to Fraternity Hell-Week

Well, groans, the trees have again echoed to the dismay of many students who are not used to the bray, bray, bray, and irregular bell tolling. The groans are heard, but the bell tolling seems to be heard.

The Problem of Noise in the Hall

President Q. Pike, of the student council, has been working to reduce the noise by taking the steps mentioned. It has been decided to eliminate the noise by reducing the bell tolling.

Fine Arts Dept. Displays Abstractions

The annual exhibition of Abstractions by Charles Smith, instructor in graphic arts in Lofton, and his work has already been purchased by the Valentine Museum in Richmond, as well as by Harvard, the Museum of Modern Art in New York, and the Yale Gallery of Fine Arts.

To describe the art of Charles Smith is difficult. He is a man of many talents, but his paintings are not easily characterized. His works are not seen as mere pictures, but as reflections of a deeper level of understanding. His paintings are not only beautiful, but also thought-provoking. His work is a true reflection of the world as it is seen by him, and it is a true reflection of his thoughts and feelings. His paintings are not just pictures, but are a true expression of his inner world.

Chemical Warfare Lecture Subject

The subject of the lecture is the chemical warfare. The lecture will be given by Dr. Charles Smith, instructor in chemical warfare. The lecture will cover the history of chemical warfare, as well as the current status of chemical warfare. The lecture will be given in the auditorium of the Department of Fine Arts at 3 p.m. on Thursday, February 10th.

Three More Professors Leave To Serve in Defense Program

Men Secured To Replace Them

Along with the names of some of the leading personalities of the college body who have joined the armed forces, three more professors, who represent a notable departure from the usual college personnel, have left to serve in the War Department. As a result of their departure, there have been some changes in the personnel of the various departments.

Dr. W. B. Machalek

Dr. W. B. Machalek, who has been teaching philosophy at the college, has accepted a position with the Department of the Navy, and has been called to Washington, D.C., to serve as a consultant in the field of philosophy. Dr. Machalek has been a member of the philosophy department for many years, and has made many contributions to the field of philosophy.

In addition to these three professors, there have been many other changes in the personnel of the college. Some of the changes include:

- The appointment of a new professor of chemistry, Dr. J. W. Smith, who has been teaching at the university for many years.
- The appointment of a new professor of physics, Dr. H. W. Brown, who has been teaching at the university for many years.
- The appointment of a new professor of biology, Dr. E. W. Johnson, who has been teaching at the university for many years.

These changes are expected to have a significant impact on the college, and are likely to lead to a number of new and exciting opportunities for students.

Dawson-Dienne In Sunday Concert

By JOHN MANN

Marjorie Dawson-Dienne (Brunswick) was the soloist in Sunday’s organ concert, and was featured in a program of music that included works by Debussy, Ravel, and Saint-Saëns. Miss Dawson-Dienne, who was born in Weight, Miss., and is a senior at the college, has been studying music since the age of six, and has won many awards for her performances.

The program was well received, and Miss Dawson-Dienne’s performance was especially praised by the audience, who gave her a standing ovation at the end of her performance.

The concert was held in the college’s chapel, and was attended by a large audience of students and faculty.
