Dr. Robert M. Myers Will Present Complete Recordings Of 'Messiah'

By Mary Lou Boulter

A complete recording of Handel's Messiah will be performed in Wren Chapel tomorrow beginning at 7:30 p.m. and lasting until approximately 9 p.m. It will be under the supervision of Dr. Robert M. Myers, assistant professor of English.

According to Dr. Myers, whose volume on Handel's Messiah will be published by the Macmillan Company late in January, this performance will give William and Mary students an opportunity to hear a masterpiece which is seldom heard.

The complete title of Myers' book is Handel's Messiah: A Masterpiece; a 368-page work representing the life of the composer. It is a 350-page volume en Handel's Messiah: A Masterpiece, which is still in progress and will be published by the Macmillan Company late in January, this performance will give William and Mary students an opportunity to hear a masterpiece which is seldom heard.

FINISHING the last week of the fall term our minds are focussed on the December examination period. Although this is the busiest time of the year, we should not lose sight of the important role that the examinations play in determining the quality of our education.

The final exams are a culmination of the work we have done throughout the semester. They provide an opportunity to assess our knowledge and understanding of the material covered in class.

However, exams can also be stressful. Many students may feel anxious about their performance and担心 their grades. It is important to remember that exams are only a measure of our academic progress and do not define our worth or capabilities.

To prepare for the exams, we should review our notes, practice problems, and seek additional resources if needed. It is also helpful to maintain a healthy lifestyle, including proper nutrition and sleep, to ensure we are in our best physical and mental state.

Remember, we are not alone in this process. The support of our classmates, professors, and the college staff is available to help us succeed. By approaching exams with a positive attitude and adequate preparation, we can achieve our goals and set ourselves up for future success.
To the Editor:

With reference to the article in the Tuesday, Nov. 3, issue of THE FLAT HAT concerning world federalism, in which Arthur Thompson contends that world federalists are quixotic visionaries, unable to depend on tact and plan the next step because "his dirty politics who do things in this world..." Mr. Thompson should be informed that the "next step" was planned in February, 1947, when the U. S. members of the world federationists decided to assemble, as they requested the convocation of a world constituent assembly.

The program was announced at the Montreux, Switzerland, convention last summer by federalist representatives from nations throughout the world.

Advances have been made. The Humber Resolution in favor of a world constituent assembly has been accepted by 16 state legislatures, and similar resolutions are pending in 16 more. We believe that the time is coming when federalist representatives from nations throughout the world can prepare it.

To the Editor:

HUMBER RESOLUTION

The firm intent of the world's leading representatives of self-governing peoples is to form a federal government of the world for the welfare of the peoples of the world. We believe that the time is coming when the world's leading representatives of self-governing peoples can prepare the way for a world constituent assembly.

To the Editors:

The U. S. Senate, the U. S. House of Representatives, the U. S. Congress (with Virginia Senator Byrd as one of its sponsors), Secretary Marshall's proposed changes in the constitution of the UN are favorably received.

Although we try to be astute in the position of the "dirty politicians" in our membership rosters, we're forced to the realistic statement among us (Supreme Court Justice Roberts, many U. S. Senators and Representatives, many foreigners, including one Winston Churchill)

To rectify Mr. Thompson's incorrect impressions that this is an American enterprise forged upon an untried world, we are evidence that the three of the five major powers advocate a world federation as part of their national policy. The present trend in Culture and Culture republics have clauses in their constitutions recommending participation in a world federation, and the British have a large segment of their parliament who pledged support. The discussions that almost every major power favors it is expressed in recent release of the 1946 birth of the UN in San Francisco.

Columnist Thompson's content that the majority of the world is ignorant of democracy betrays his own ignorance of the Orient's great cities perished in a mushroom-cloud smoke.

Two thousand years ago the doctrine that men are brothers was articulated, or hasn't Mr. Thompson heard?

Michigan Adopts
Faculty Evaluation By Student Body

The following article was reprinted from The Daily Tar Heel, the student publication at the University of North Carolina.

Student ratings of their instructors and courses will be a part of a new and inclusive plan for evaluation of faculty services recently adopted by the Faculty of the University of Michigan College of Literature, Science, and the Arts.

Judgement of Faculty

Expected to go into effect on an experimental basis during the current academic year, the plan also calls for judging all of faculty services by faculty committees from each discipline. The results of such evaluations will be available to the faculty members themselves and to university personnel officers.

"Successful teaching is to be regarded as a primary factor in the new evaluation system," a report by the Committee on College Procedure said. "The purpose is to assure a fulfillment of educational aims and needs, and encourage proper administrative relationships between a department and its students."

In addition to the student ratings of instructors and course content, the evaluation of a faculty member's teaching, research, administration and service are also to be available to the faculty members themselves and to university personnel officers.

Grading Instructors

Students will be asked to "grade" their instructors according to a printed form distributed in each class at the beginning of the semester. The ratings will rate the teacher's ability in the classification of subject matter, success in the classroom, and reports of colleagues and counselors, the report notes.

Echo Plans Inclusion Of Veterans' Records

Lois Willis, editor of the Collegetimes, has announced a plan to include records of veterans, who are seniors.

Lois requests any veterans who are interested in this plan to list their branch, service and units of service and place these reports in the Echo box in Memorial Hall.

Lois also said that all fraternity and sorority members should submit lists of their members and pledges to Mary Wilson at the Gamma Phi Beta house by Dec. 15.

Choirs To Present Christmas Music DuringNextWeek

Programs of classical Christmas music will be presented by the William and Mary choirs under the direction of V. B. Fehr, assistant professor of fine arts. Selections will be chosen from the singers in the choirs.

Candelight services will be held Monday and Friday, at 8 p.m. in Wren Chapel, Monday and Friday will be held Sunday, and the William and Mary choirs will be singing Christmas music at the traditional Christmas concerts.

One hundred and sixty-seven members of the college choir, singers and choral will participate in the concerts under the direction of V. B. Fehr, assistant professor of fine arts. Selections will be chosen from the singers in the choirs.

Indian Players Name Justice ‘Most Outstanding’ Opponent

Charlie Justice, fine tailback on the University of North Carolina football team which was the only team to defeat William and Mary all season, was chosen as the “Most Outstanding Player” to perform against the Indians all year in a poll taken of players here.

Justice and teammate Art Weiner, an end, were the only men who were selected unanimously to the all-opponent team.

North Carolina was also the team which took the top number of positions on the books, walking away with five of the Fall 11 spots. Wake Forest listed two men on the team while Virginia Tech, Washington and Lee, VMI and Bowling Green placed out each.

North Carolina players, Justice and Carl Woodland, were the only men who did much to do with the downfall of the Indians on Oct. 18. Brian Bell of Washington and Lee and the most modest; and Nick Ognovich, stellar blocking back of the Wake Forest defense, was chosen to the center slot, and he was the man who was able to pick up four of the five votes which did not favor Justice as top player. The Chapel Hill Choo-Choo picked up 25 out of 30 votes.

Fast Amphib Five Stops JV, 74-42

A surprisingly strong Little Creek basketball team thumped the William and Mary Junior Var­

ity Wednesday night, 74-42, in the season’s opener in Bow Grym.

After a comparatively even first half, the Amphibs turned on the heat, racking up 22 points while the Jays were able to score only five.

Ozenberger Scores

Bill Ozenberger opened the night’s scoring activities with a lay-up shot. However, within a minute the Amphibs had garnered three points and taken a lead which they held throughout the remainder of the game. Jerry Lewis and Ozenberger collected 15 points between them in the first half to keep the Jays off the court.

Cocklin, a reserve forward for the Little Creek team, picked up seven points in the second half, leading his team to victory. The exhibi­

A. C. Haigh Deals With Questions Concerning Cosmology At Service

"Cosmology" was the topic of Dr. Andrew C. Haigh, associate professor of philosophy at the college, who spoke last Thursday in the Apollo "Room. Dr. Haigh, who is one of the most respected scientific minds in the country, discussed the various theories regarding the origin and evolution of the universe. He argued that the universe is not static but is in a constant state of change. He also discussed the role of human beings in the universe.

Religious Union supper presented by Bill Perry. The featured speaker was Sally Fitch, who spoke on the importance of the earth in relation to the rest of the universe. "Our modern cosmology is a complete contradiction to our ancient religious beliefs," Dr. Haigh said. "It is now a fact that the earth is just one of many planets, and that we are not the center of the universe." He concluded his speech by saying that, "In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God."

Committee Plans

Regular Inspection
To Prevent Fires

Periodic inspections, to be made at least two months, will be conducted by a newly-formed Fire Prevention Committee con sisting of the department of buildings, the dean of men, the as sistant dean of women, the super intendent of the power plant, a member of the student body, and a nember of the faculty.

The first inspection tour will be held Saturday, Dec. 15, when Old Dominion Hall, Bob House, Monroe Hall and Brown Hall will be inspec
ted. Recommending that regular fire alerts in all residence halls be held not less than two months each academic year, the commit tee also reported that the existing system of trash disposal should be modified so that open trash con ainers would not be placed in building corridors at any time, and that only metal trash baskets be mitted in residence halls and academic buildings.

The inspectors will make a special check of the fire-fighting equipment, the fire escapes and fire doors, the existing smoke detectors and fire hydrants, and the electrical lights in all buildings which might constitute potential fire hazards.

Fraternities Invite Ineligible Rushes

Through a misinterpretation of the rushing rules, some fraternities invited a number of ineligible men to their rush parties early in rush week.

The Fraternity Association requires that a man must make a 50 point average and pass three hours before he can be rushed.

The "lack of an invitation from a particular fraternity does not indicate necessarily a lack of interest in a man," said Richard B. Morgan, president of the association.

"It merely means that the men were eliminated from the registration list at the time the list of eligibles was caused by the college. These men will be eligible for rush only when satisfactory grades are made at the end of the semester.

Banking Can Be Interesting

Mr. Wilkinson stated, but he declared that it will have to be achieved by hard work. He pre­ scribed that the next session will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 16, at the office of Haskins and Sells, with Dr. Charles F. Marsh, director of the Conference, presenting the topic. Mr. Wilkinson represented the Lynchburg Debate Council.
The Greek rushing season was in full swing last week as adequately demonstrated by the Tri Delts in the picture above, with Ruth Volkert taking the featured spot. In the upper right photo Jane Otey, left, and Edna Grant put over a fast shuffle at the Chi O House.

Backdrop Chiefs
To Reveal Plans

The Backdrop Club will hold a meeting of all members on Thursday, Dec. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Most of the planning for the forthcoming musical comedy has, thus far, been done by an executive committee composed of the heads of production. At the coming session the 200 members will hear of the committee's work and will discuss future plans for the production. A program of entertainments will follow the business portion of the meeting.

Michaela Grenata, secretary of the club, stated that a number of students who tried out at the preliminary auditions have not, as yet, joined the organization. "It is a rule of the club," she reminded, "that only bona fide members may be considered for roles in the variety show."

Following up Michaela's statement, Treasurer John Dayton asserted, "While we want to include all interested students as members, there comes a time when we must close the books. Thursday night," he continued, "we will accept dues from delinquent members and newcomers. The absolute deadline in the beginning of the Christmas vacation. Membership will not be open after that time." Dayton added, "and those who have failed to pay dues will be dropped from the Backdrop roll."

community tree services on the green.

The chimes of the Methodist Church will play Christmas songs amplified from the tower daily from Christmas Eve through New Year's. Simple house decorations in the manner of the 1700's consisting of garlands and sprays of holly, pine and cedar and candles or white lights at the windows will be encouraged and the merchants of the city will be asked to arrange one non-commercial window display in the spirit of the season with the best to be judged by a citizens' committee.

Caroling groups will be formed to stroll the streets singing the merry yuletide songs for the shut-ins and various churches have arranged pageants and musicals.

The famed choir of the College of William and Mary will present its annual Christmas concert on Dec. 17 and 18th in Phi Beta Kappa Hall for the student body and the community and on Dec. 18 the students of Matthew Whaley High School will present the musical play "Why The Chimes Rang" for the community. It will be repeated on Dec. 19 for the student body.

Yule Log Ceremony

The Williamsburg Lodge will hold its Yule Log ceremony at 5 p.m. on Christmas Eve and later that evening at 8:30, string music will be presented by the Aeolian Trio in the Williamsburg Inn lounge.

Other events scheduled in the community include church services on Christmas Eve and on Christmas day, open house at the Raleigh Tavern Christmas afternoon at 4 p.m., Negro spirituals at Williamsburg Lodge on Dec. 28 and "watch night" services at the various churches of the city on New Year's. Eve as well as supper dances scheduled at several points within the city that evening.

The Christmas festivities will be culminated on the night of Jan. 1 with a bonfire of the Christmas trees from the community accompanied by a display of fireworks and community singing.

Representative Of Airline
Will Schedule Reservations

A representative of Capital Airlines will be in the second floor corridor of the Wren Building to-morrow from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. to take any reservations for air travel at Christmas.

Capitol will provide limousine service from Williamsburg to Byrd Airport in Richmond, if the amount of business justifies it.
