William and Mary Drive Starts
To Give a Full Ambulance To Britain

Students who are in favor of Britain now have an opportunity to present their interest in that cause. William and Mary have been asked to help the cause of an ambulance for the "All in the British" group. The college has already received money from the sale of the book written by Miss Jane H. B. D. R. E., who has been placed on the trip to Britain. Students are encouraged to give generously because these monies will be used for the purchase of an ambulance for Britain. Before Christmas a committee was asked to work on this project and to select the names of the students who will be in charge of the project. Those students who are interested should contact the staff members of the FLAT HAT, Thomas, Richard, and Betty Stevenson. Great emphasis is placed on the effort to raise funds for this purpose.

"SPRING"—AND FOOTBALL

Looking forward to a good spring schedule ever played by a William and Mary ball club, head coach Mac Pitt hopes to employ it to the best advantage of his players. This is the closest William and Mary come to a full football season, excepting the intramural contest, and the advantage is both educational and competitive.

TUESDAY

The Williams and Mary tankers lost to Norfolk, 3-1, in the second game of the annual bowling tournament, with a final score of 107-66. Bill Luschky of the faculty five, Bill Proud of the intramural five, and Peter Smith of the seniors five, recorded the times in the different events.

One Man's Guess

Up and down the corridors of the Alexander-Adams administration building, the student body is in an unprecedented state of excitement. The news of a college degree, whether it be a bachelor's or a master's, has caused a stir. The student body, looking to the future, is planning their next move in the job market or pursuing further education. The excitement is palpable, with students buzzing about their future endeavors.

With the recent events, it is clear that the decision to attain a college degree is one of utmost importance for the students. The pressure to succeed is immense, and the students are working tirelessly to ensure their success. The excitement is contagious, and it is somewhat of an understatement to say that the students are on cloud nine.

The excitement is not without its challenges, however.
The students are facing increased competition in the job market, and the pressure to succeed is mounting. It is important for the students to stay focused and motivated, as the road to success is not always easy.

In conclusion, the excitement surrounding the attainment of a college degree is palpable. The students are working hard to ensure their success, and the future looks bright for them. However, it is important for them to stay focused and motivated, as the road to success is not always easy.
Only Yesterday

By EDMOND GODWARD

Let's look back on our college and how students during the Four Year War. There is so many stories that express "Patriotism in action that" but how we can participate in the present War that we must be concerned.

March 4, 1917

As an obvious appearance in the press, college students were getting ready to join the army. But the real news, the actual news, was that the government had already begun to organize a body of college students leading to what is now the National Student Army. This new organization was designed to bring together college students from all over the country, to prepare them for the rigors of military training.

In order to carry out the aims of the organization, the colleges observe the needs of the Armed Forces in France and the needs of our armies in France. The college students were expected to "be ready" the moment the call came and be able to give aid as soon as possible.

In the end, the college students were prepared and ready for the war, and their efforts were acknowledged by the government.

C. E. Klug is now in the Army. He was graduated from Penn State in 1916 and was commissioned a second lieutenant. He is now in the medical corps.

Many former M. W. S. students who have found their way to the medical corps are doing their part in the war. Among them are:

1. Robert E. Bryan, a graduate of the Class of 1914, who is now in the medical corps.
2. Albert E. Reynolds, a graduate of the Class of 1915, who is now in the medical corps.
3. William E. Brown, a graduate of the Class of 1916, who is now in the medical corps.
4. Edward E. Williams, a graduate of the Class of 1917, who is now in the medical corps.

These students are just a few of the many who have answered the call to serve their country in time of need.

GREEK LETTERS

With the war, all Greek organizations have been suspended. However, many of them have continued their activities in various ways.

October

A MCA campaign was staged to make a million dollar free from taxes. This campaign was a big hit in the war effort, and the students of M. W. S. contributed generously to the cause.

A motion picture of the war has been shown to the students, and the film has given them a glimpse of the experiences of soldiers in the trenches.

The students are now being trained for actual military service.

In France

W. E. H. asked another question about the war, and Paul H. Mitchell, a graduate of the Class of 1918, answered it.

"My college friends back home are doing their part for the war," he said. "They are working in factories and doing other important work."}

The French government greatly appreciated the efforts of the American college students.

Shawn M. has been working in a factory and doing his part for the war. He has been working long hours and doing his best to help the army.

The French government has given him a medal of honor for his service.
