YWCA Sponsors Bond Bazaar; Campus Groups Act As Barkers

A huge Bond Bazaar sponsored by the YWCA will be a different and yet attractive Halloween entertainment on campus this year. In the form of a county fair, it will be held in the Sunken Garden. Every club, organization, and dorm of the College will have a gaily decorated booth, and games of chance, with prizes, will be played at the cost of a defense stamp. Many surprises are in store at this gala occasion.

Members of Scarab Club will draw sketches of people who attend, and refreshments any other fun available. Halloween evening, one is buying war stamps and being patriotic at the same time. All students, charters, faculty, guests, out­dets, and townspeople are invited.

The Thetas entertained a group of alumna last Thursday night. Jean Saltman, Publicity Chairman, organized the various bazaar committees, with Winita, as co- worker, and urged everyone to take interest in this event which is not to be missed.

As the members walked into the meeting they were greeted by colorful decorations, gaily decorated sisters, and a Bond Bazaar booth drawn on the blackboard. Group singing was held in the Sunken Garden. Every club, organization, and dorm will have a gaily decorated booth, and games of chance, with prizes, will be played at the cost of a defense stamp. You hear it hundreds of times during the day; you see it in every dorm; you read it on Tuesday night. No, it is not the usual "Bond Bazaar" of every college. It is the Squashed Cap, or the Mash-ol-a, Jr., and the WAM Corps. We asked the Editors and they didn't know, and who else? If we asked you, you wouldn't know either.

In a double-decked vault in the college, in the Library, among other rare and valuable documents, lie every FLAT HAT from Volume I, Number 1, to last week's issue. It is from the first editorial in the first FLAT HAT and from Dr. Swem, that we have most of our information concerning the FLAT HAT and its little journal.

Back in 1920, before the United States were born, the FLAT HAT Club was founded in the college. It received its name from the mor­tar boards the Seniors wear at graduation—after all, what are the mortar boards for? That fact re­flects the popular idea that the name is a typographical error for Pat Heads—or something.

The club was purely social in its inception, and for many years it was so. However, when the first staff was faced with the problem of thinning their brain-child, they thought it only fitting to adopt the name of the club with its max­ims, "Utilitas et Fides," we derive our being, and inherit a very honorable name and motto.

Coeds Entertain Chaplains At Reception In Phi Beta Function Given By WAM Corps

Dancing, to the tune of a violin and an organ, was the main feature of entertainment at the WAM-sponsored reception for the Chaplains in Phi Beta Kappa Hall last Friday night.

Since fewer chaplains than were expected attended the reception, the dancing was organized so that the girls did the bringing. Those who didn't dance figured out some scrambled words, conversed, or partook of the refreshments of punch and cookies. This first so­ cial function of the school year for the Chaplains was given by the WAM Corps, and junior and sen­ior girls were invited to be pres­ent.

The Dodge Room was decorated according to the season, and fol­lowed the autumnal theme with bright colored leaves and sprays of foliage attractively arranged on the punch table and on the mantle.

Pat Kyle was chairman of the reception, with Frances Butler as her assistant. Committee heads were Barbara Perkins, head of decorations; Elaine Lewis, refresh­ments; Mabel Trencher, titula­tions, and Evan Kelly and Norma Grebe, co-chairmen of enter­tainment.

Active Judicial Chairman
Holds Two Scholarships

By NANCY J. GRUPE

"May I please have permission to date out of social hours?" "Can I possibly sit him on Monday?" Such are the questions that Fran Lenoir, president, chairman of Judicial Committee, must answer nearly every day.

Flan Lenoir, a junior, said that Fran is in a member of the General Co-operative Committee, the Student Senate, and the Assembly.

With all her activities, though, Fran spends her afternoons serving as secretary to Dr. Morton. This past summer, Fran attend­ed the summer session here, which will enable her to graduate in February, at the age of 18. Her one regret is that graduation is coming all too soon. In summer school, we was president of Woman's Student Government. Fran has a very natural way about her, so any-who make girls feel at home in her room in Jefferson. Her inestimable intuitions are not her alone in the Co-Eds.

During her first year she was initiated into Kappa Delta Sorority of which she is now president. As a sophomore, Fran was elected Representative-at-Large to the Judicial Council.

Fran's junior year was a color­ful one for her. She became president of both the French Club and the Cantebury Club. Toward the end of the year she was tapped for Mortarboard of which she is Historical. Soon after this she was elected Chairman of the Judicial Committee.

Fran was also a member of the Colonial Dames Scholarship, of which she is now vice-chairman. She was elected treasurer of the Student Senate, and the Assembly. cost to count in a series of exhibits at leading museums and university galleries. Most of the pictures are for sale and the entire proceeds will go to the artists themselves. The price of the works range from five to three hundred dollars.

A number of these pictures will be remembered from their appearance in Life magazine in the fall of 1942. Among them were: "Practice Landing," "7:00 A.M.," "A Soldier's Dream," etc., all of which, in addition to countless others, will be on view at the exhibit.

Another news item from the Fine Arts Department concerns the inclusion in the collection of recorded music at the College Library. Friends of William and Mary have made a gift of twenty new albums and two of these have been added to the Hill collection. The library hopes to have between 1900 and 2900 records available to the students in the near future.

FRESHERS VS. PLEBS

Rain, hail, and a hurricane wind, combined with a squad of 90 Navy plebes, made too much for the Pioneers to cope with in one afternoon. Eight deep in every position and playing 77 men, the Plebes used their size and weight to advantage over the Freshmen.

The Indians donated the first Navy touchdown by failing to cover a punt properly. Eisenman, who returned the kickoff, stopped the mighty Navy backs cold twice after time, forcing them to kick. The Yeomen, who had to throw on their second secondary for guard for two quick touchdowns, the first on a 51-yard pass, and the second on a 40-yard toss to Rainie. Navy’s only game touchdown came in the third period on a sustained drive and an 8-yard pass.

Before the game Coach McCray told the Pioneers that this game would “separate the men from the boys” on the field. Every William and Mary player that entered the game realized that he was up against an opponent 30 pounds heavier than he was. But you would never know it, because those Indians played hard bruising football. Those players were men, every one of them, and they applied Navy’s intricate attack repeatedly for losses.

Benny Raimondi, the human bowling ball, played a fine game as he ran the Middle Way from behind in the failed passes to Galbraith. The gale, however, hampered Benny’s passing and kicking no end. The Indians also were strong that week, when Benny kicked away from the 10-yard line, his punt was caught by the wind and blown back behind the goal line, giving Navy an automatic safety. On another occasion Han- son’s kickoff traveled 90 yards in the air as the wind carried it over the goal posts into the street.

On Tuesday night, October 11, William and Mary Captains Warren Gat- reath caught passes from Raimondi and continued to break through to spoil Navy backs for losses. On defense, Bill Sydnor intercepted two passes and backed up the line viciously. Art Fonseca and Tom Milbouk spent most of the afternoon in the air in attempts to gain a first down for the William and Mary offense. It was a good game in which the Indians gave a valiant defense to the Navy. Bill Jolley tackled well.

McCray expressed deep satisfaction in the way his team played their straight second loss to the Indians.

Wolves Lead By Half Game In Intramural Volley Ball

The College Wolves, rolling along toward the intramural vol- ley ball championship, received a sharp test of their ability. The Wolves were in the game when they dropped their first contest, but then the job was too much for them.

The loss tightened up the pennant race, although the Wolves still owned the lead. On Monday, the fourth, the Yankees and Commodores, with the Commodores having to take the sort: 15-12, 17-15, 18-16.

On Tuesday, the Indians gave Captain Robinson’s Wolves their first win when the Indians had to be defeated. The Wolves led 12-10 on the second game when they dropped their first contest, but then the job was too much for them. The Wolves scored 15-12, 17-15, 18-16.

Wednesday the Bobcats tied 16-16 with the Bolts, 18-16 the final, with Jenkins as the winner.

Out for revenge, the Bobcats came out on Thursday night to win 16-14.

The Yeomen defeated the Bobcats Tuesday by scoring 16-14 and 18-16, in what can be considered the team’s opening rout by the Goldbricks, 15-9, then taking the second game at 25-14.

Did You Know.

That William and Mary has played and beaten the Univer- sity of Richmond 7 times in the past four years.

That in the past ten years William and Mary has won 45 games, lost 49, and tied 77.

That William and Mary had its best team in 1941, (6-6-0) and 1942 (6-4-1).

That during World War II William and Mary did not have as distant varsity football? Compare this with World War II.

The Yeomen took the reins at W. M., the Indians have not lost a home coming contest, although on a several occasions going into the fray a decided underdog.

Hard Schedule Faces Coaches

Present conditions find the Phys- ical Education Department hard, with, almost twice as much work as there was in peace time. This semester the coaching staff is faced with men who are neither football players nor members of the group.

Not only are the classes more numerous, but the rules of teaching is quite different. The civilian students are now being taught as such, and they are not as strong as one would expect.

This means a revision of all rules and methods, as well as teaching civilian students.

The present standards are equal to the old standards, but the civilian students are given different treatment.

The use of the contact course is about the same, still following the present physical education program.

W.M.A.S.T.U. Play Air Base Nov. 20

The William and Mary Athletic Association announced last week that it had added a game with the Newport News Air Force Base to its November schedule.

The William and Mary plebes were selling out the new stadium, and the plebes will play the Newport News Air Force Base on November 20.

The Air Base has a record that we cannot call spectatorial; nevertheless, after being at a far more advanced Richmond University team, they did an about face, tying Virginia’s favored Car- dinal eleven, and casualties on the teams of the A.S.T.U., and together, they will face the Navy.

The game will be played on November 20 at Cary Field, and becomes the fifth game on the William and Mary schedule.

Aukamps Camp in Wren Kitchen

Mama and Papa Aukamp have raised Wren Kitchen for the last two years. They are the principal characters in "Papa in All," the opening play of the William and Mary Theatre, to be held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, October 27 and 28, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, Rehearsals, under the direction of Miss East and Mrs. Boyz, are now under way in Wren and on the Phi Beta Kappa stage.

The story concerns "Papa," who reigns supreme in the lives of his family, Mama, Jake, and Emma. Mama, Yoder, the Aukamps' grocery neighbor, contributes much humor.

John Manos, Aukamp, took the part of Napoleon in Shaw's "Mask of Dishonor," and Emilian, the Foot in the Russian farce, "Squirting the Circle," Anna Delee Konning (Mama) played Jive in Shaw's "Back to Methuselah," and Tonya "Squiring the Circle," Betty Driscoll (Mrs. Yoder) and Ronnie Ritter (Emma Aukamp) both played Lepidina in "Squirting the Circle," Leri Mather (Jake Aukamp) played a young role last summer in "The Fighting Littles." Season tickets have been on sale for the past week, under the direction of Joan Winstead, campaign manager, and will be available through October 15. In the scene shop classes in stagecraft and design under Mr. Boyz are turning out the single set of the play, a realistic Dutch kitchen.

ASTU Review In Honor Of College Student Body

Officers Of Week

Take Over Parade

The A.S.T.U. has held parades in honor of the Mayor of William and Mary in the past, but this year, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, October 27 and 28, will be reviewed by a much larger group of college students, the students of William and Mary. The parade will be held on the parade grounds at 6:45, and will be under the direction of Lieutenant George Krey. Lieutenant Krey is an Infantry officer and, as the new Fins and Training Officer, will have charge of all parades in the future.

The parade will be led exclu-sively by the Cerro members of the week, with Cadet Major Benjamin Bucho and Cadet Adjutant Albert Bernsweig, of Company A, in charge. In the future all parades will be under the command of the Cerro Members and the Cadet Major and Adjutant will alternate between Companies A and B each week.

To Relieve Officer

The Chapman's School has new an added attraction—a WAVE in the person of Ensign M. Elizabeth Russell. She says, "I've come here as Supply and Disbursing officer, and I'm reliving a man for six duties."

Lt. W. C. Bauknight.

Ensign Russell, Cornell '40, is a WAVE, too. Joining the Training and Supply Corps of the WAVE on December 25, 1942. She was soon as an apprentice to the 29th, and waiting, for 20 days for instructions and on January 15, received in commission as ensign. Next, Ensign Russell spent 18 weeks at the Radcliff Branch of the Navy Supply Corps School of Harvard. Her first tour of duty was at Roosevelt Base, Terminal Island, San Pedro, California, from which she was assigned permanently to William and Mary College.

There are only five hundred WAVES in the Supply Corps and Ensign Russell was in the first class of commissioned officers to graduate.

Sly Organises Mixed Chorus

Mr. Allan B. Sly has organized the new William and Mary Chorus, which consists of both students and A.S.T.P. boys. The chorus rehearses every Tuesday and Friday evening from 6:45 to 8:00 p.m.

The purpose of organizing this group, according to Mr. Sly, is to develop a large chorus of both male and female voices. All members of the Chapel Choir automatically become members. Membership, however, is still open to all students and Army cadets.

Club Notes

The French Club will hold its first meeting on Thursday night, October 21. Dr. Marc will speak on his experiences in Undergraduate years. Some campus talent will entertain and refreshments will be served.

The Women's Debate Council will hold second try-outs at the Club's next meeting, Wednesday, October 27, in Philadelphia Hall at 6 o'clock. The Council asks all aspirants to prepare a five-minute speech on any topic to be given at the meeting.

Saturday—Yes it is that I must be continually surprised—perhaps it shouldn't surprise me at all, I mean certain perplexing experiences in the dining hall—which is all adding up to the same thing—I don't really know it. There was a sombreity in my soul, which I picked out with even more disdain. It was a WAVE, Oh Yes, it was a WAVE. I called the waiter over—a slow, stumbling, blindly stumbling boy. He made the impossible dark thing in my cafe, and with a slight shrug said, "Don't you think that's just a trash?" And that, Oh yes, that was that.

TUESDAY—The Other Bunk and I went to bedroom riding today. It was a commerce sort of day and with not a hair on its clear blue face. We might have gracefully accomplished the demolition without much if it hadn't been for the Other Bunk's vehicle. There was an abnormal rebellion and unsegregated sound of sound to the crash at the bottom of the plate. The Other Bunk gracefully, however, picked up four distinct pieces. One, I believe, was a head. As she mentioned dragging All the long road home, "There's just nothing like an Experience."

FRIDAY—it's a Grimm fable this English Literature. The Happiest Bunk at last tackles the story. It took several non-stop talking recitals to keep us away from her mind. You see, it weighs on her so proportionately great—this problem of her Green Knights or did he not?

SATURDAY—NOW LET'S HIT THE ROAD—DANCING—THAT'S ALL.

SUNDAY—DISORGANIZED, AND WE LOVE IT.

Soldiers Make Social Debut Sat. Night

At First Military Ball Of World War II

By PVT. HERMAN J. OBERMAYER

On Saturday night, the men of the Army Specialized Training Unit made, their social debut, and proved to Williamsburg that there was some justification for the major moral about a "soldier and a gentleman." During the evening, men introduced their friends to their dates as "Cadet Jones" and "Cadet Smith," but they had no idea why they used the title "Cadet," or if it has any real meaning in the A.S.T.U. The deb of the evening "dame de compagnie" was Miss Vivian M. Sears, sophomore from William and Mary's First Military Ball of World War II, complete with the usual array of bands, drums, the snappy cadets of soldiers, and the "demure" smiles of cadets.

As the girls were preparing for the dance there and telling their boyfrie nds, they warned them to the careful, and don't let those soldiers haul you about," put after as an addition, have full confidence in the cadets, they're, those girls suppressed giggles, put a final touch of居果" into the preparations, and hopefully awaited their dates. Girls think of the terms "Military Ball" and "Cadets" together, but they almost always associate them with "dragging" at West Point or V.M.I. This is one of the first times that these terms have been associated with a dance given by the men in the Army, where efficient service men introduced their friends to their dates as "Cadet Jones," or if it has any real meaning in the A.S.T.U.

Columnist criticizes student government

By JERRY HMYAN

Student government is on the defensive again! The slow-moving committees that have so far been formed are making little or no progress. The statement was misleading. Perhaps not. For this is true democracy when free men speak freely, and we hold a close check on the acts of student government. Although we have criticized the Army Military Ball when some-thing was given a thorough trouncing. Perhaps not unappreciative of fact. We would take away the one chance to fight for the men who have fought for in the past. They have of learning self-government, a true non-partisan body, one that the students are not unappreciative of fact.
