Admissions Committee Accepts 63 New Men

Sixty-three men have been accepted by the Committee on Admissions for the spring term, according to the latest available figures. The figures show that 22 seniors, 12 juniors, 11 sophomores, and six freshmen have been admitted.

Applications are coming in rapidly, and J. Wilfled Lambour, dean of students, has declared that as many new students as possible will fit into the existing program. Complete tabulation has not been made of the number of applications yet, and no accurate statement of the number of new men students can be made until this work is done, said Dean Lambour.

Lack Of Material Delays Recreation Room Plans

Planting for the small dining hall into a recreation center during the Christmas vacation has been delayed and will reach completion until next fall, stated Charles M. Major, college architect. It was planned that this room was to be completed during the Christmas recess, but because of the difficulty in obtaining materials this work has not progressed.

This smaller dining hall has been planned and painted in two tones of Wythe green. Work will be done on conversion gradually throughout the semester.

Dr. B. T. McCully Wins Praise For Political Study

Professor's Book On Indian Nationalism Shows Effects of English Education

Dr. Bruce T. McCully was the recipient of high professional praise and honor at a recent session of the American Historical Association held in Washington, D. C., on December 31. His book, "English Education and Origins of Indian Nationalism," was named among the awards of historical prizes at the banquet as one of the most distinguished recent works by an American scholar on modern India. It was one of the runners-up for a $500 prize offered in the field for excellence and importance in scholarly study.

A seminar on Indian thought as the origin of nationalism was the inspiration for Dr. McCully's study of the subject. Unable to find sufficient material at Columbia University, where he was at the time, he went abroad to collect material. After spending three weeks entangled in catalogues at the British Museum of London, it was suggested that he go to the Indian Office. There Dr. McCully collected data, breaking new ground with the use of primary material never before used by scholars in this field.

Using pamphlets, Indian-English publications, and journals of the East India Company, Dr. McCully worked for about ten months on research. While in southern England, Dr. and Mrs. McCully took week-end jaunts about the country, walking, picnicking and sightseeing around London, Kent, and other points of interest. Writing the book was not easy, according to Dr. McCully, who worked at it in his spare time until it was published in 1940.

King's Point, Fordham Furnish Next Competition For Redmen

Indians Engage Wake Forest In Second Conference Clash

The Indians have chalked up a pair of wins against one setback in their previous engagements, chalking last night's contest with George Washington which took place after The Flat Hat went to press.

In their opening tilt with Camp Pickett's garrisons the Redmen were forced to overtime before being able to eke out a 43-41 decision. Next came the 77-75 rout of an Old Dominion University team. Following this was an easy match with Pickett which went to the Soldiers by a 66-50 count.

Not much information is available on Fordham and King's Point, but it seems to indicate that neither has a major contender in the conference and material. The Rams of last season were only victorious in 4 out of 18 starts and should not have improved too much. The Merchant Mariners, who also claimed a share of first place last season, may be too strong to be overlooked, but the details are still unknown. On March 1, the Redmen will leave for a trip to New York where the Tribe engages King's Point in a series of three games.

Tribe Resumes Diamond Play

With the coming of the first peaceful Spring in five years William and Mary will continue this month, giving the students three more basketball games against five of the best teams of the country. All of these were among the strongest teams in the nation and are certainly not in the same class as Duke's Blue Devils or Wake Forest of North Carolina. This will be the start of the 1946-1947 conference tests for the Tribe-Collar.

Coach Holts has been sending his team into the winter sports sessions during the past week, taking advantage of the cool weather to get in as much practice as possible. The Tarheels lost their first home contest in 247 matches in a one-sided affair in which the highlight of the season was a 63 over the star-studded aggregation of N. C. Pre-Flight.

Letter To The

Sports Editor

It is a proven fact that any athlete who leaves the playing field with a case of the flu will be better off to press. The sick leave will be a big help in the end.

Among the many headaches of the athletic department are the attendance records of the home team. In the past football season, the final figures showed a crowd of 12,000 for the Duke game, which was the biggest home crowd of the year. And with twice as many students in attendance at the basketball game, one could not find a place to move around. The worst case of all was the Indian game; a large crowd turned out to press.

The Wake Forest game will be the last home contest before the Soldiers take off to New York. The Tribe-Collar will play a home game against Old Dominion University and the boys are hoping to have their fans all the way from the stands to cheer them on.
denburg Concerto No. 5 in D major with a chamber orchestra headed by Adolph Butsch. The performance was so great at the conclusion that the young pianist became flustered and played for an encore of Beethoven Variations in Bach which lasted 55 minutes.

Masterworks Rehearsals Among the recordings which Mr. Seckin has made in Bethesda's "Emperor Concerto" with the New York Philharmonic-Olympia Orchestra under the baton of Bruno Walter, He and Eulberg have recently recorded Beethoven's "Kreutzer" sonata and the Paris Chamber Players have made a record of Beethoven's "Ninth." One of the most recently released of his recordings is that of Beethoven's popular "Moonlight" sonata.

Tri-Cities Loses To Pickett Quint (Continued From Page 5) 3 for 3, led the home forces. Another factor which hurt the Tri-City offense was the lack of enough rebounds from the boards. This resulted in numerous points being scored by the visitors.

Crew of Ship Sends Thanks (Continued from Page 1) President John E. Pomfret has received a letter of thanks from John Benet, Ship's Carpenter of the S. S. William and Mary Victory. The letter was written on behalf of the ship's crew, thanking the College for the Christmas bonus that was sent to them.

The Red Cross Camp and Hospital Committee under the direction of D. Fairbanks and Jerry Willard collected 91 Christmas boxes, which were sent to the ship docked in New York on December 31. The S. S. William and Mary sailed December 30, and did not return until after Christmas.

The letter reads as follows:

Dean Sir:

I have been delegated by the men aboard the S. S. William and Mary Victory the pleasure of writing you this note of thanks. We of the crew were more than pleasantly surprised to find that the College had provided us with Christmas gifts, packages that were extremely useful and put to immediate use by each of us.

Those of us aboard the S. S. William and Mary Victory knew he to be a fine ship and to bear a name of which we can be proud. We will endeavor to carry her name and fame across the seas, to the troops she brings home to the States, and to her foreign ports.

We wish you, the faculty, and the entire student body the best of the Season's Greetings; we look forward to hearing from you again for having made our Christmas a merrier one.

Respectfully yours,
John Benet, Ship's Carpenter.

Spends Holiday In Mexico

By DOT FERENBAUGH

Christmas in Mexico was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. GILLEY, whose home is in the town named after them.

The couple was awakened by the sound of bells and found the door open. A small girl was standing there, holding a large bag of bed clothes. She greeted them with a Merry Christmas and invited them to stay just a moment longer and see the parade. They did, and then went on their way.

The next morning, the couple arose early to see the sunrise. They walked along the beach, enjoying the cool air and the sounds of seagulls. They then returned to their hotel, where they had breakfast, and then went out to explore the city.

The couple visited several of the city's attractions, including the cathedral and the pyramid. They also visited the market, where they were able to buy some gifts for their family and friends.

The couple spent the rest of their time in Mexico visiting friends and family. They had a wonderful time, and were able to see many different sights and enjoy the culture.

The couple returned home with many memories and a deep appreciation for the beauty of Mexico.
College To Provide Housing For Veterans

That there is a growing need for some kind of housing for returning veterans becomes more evident every day. The increase in the number of men being discharged from the service is causing enrollments larger. Many of those who wish to take advantage of the G.I. Bill of Rights are married. These men will not be able to return under present military regulations. The facilities for housing them can only be solved by individual colleges.

At William and Mary plans are progressing to meet the situation by the time the fall semester begins. The tentative plan, awaiting government action, is for the college to take over the housing unit on Richmond road. Single rooms and two or three room apartments will be available for families. Many of those who wish to take advantage of the G.I. Bill of Rights will be to those who have found that they had taken on too many activities and people were counting on them, and there simply was no time to give to duty. The same result is keeping always before them the thought of graduation and verse.

Every once in a while someone writes to me about something or other I have written in one of my unguarded moments. Usually, the comments are unkind and not very cordial, since the circulation of the Flat Hat is mainly confined to the campus. But, once in a while, one of our sub­scribers or readers has something to say in regard to what has appeared in this column.

Sometimes what the writer has to say is not in the least flattering, but I consider any kind of comment a great compliment since it shows that someone, at last, has taken the trouble to read what I have written. There are always much to say, in fact, in the great majority of the cases, it amazes me the way you can put together a five or six hundred word column and say as little. However, I have a letter which an alumnus wrote regarding a statement made in the issue of December 12. Whether or not I was actually saying anything, or where I was saying it, I am not sure. It must have some relation to the facilities and return to school.

Expenses will be held to a minimum and rates will be similar to college dormitory and boarding rates. This minimum will be assured because the college will make no profit and the accounts will be audited quarterly by government agencies.

The College plans to do everything it can to hold costs down, so that it will be possible for a number of veterans to take advantage of the facilities and return to school.

William and Mary Go-Round

One year has passed to the second oldest college in the United States. It hardly seems proper to allow such an event to pass without comment. Among the topics which come to mind is the matter of freshman. It has been noted, while theFreshman has a tendency to deride the metier, and it is no wonder. But, in choral singing, it is possible, but almost inevitable.

The manner in which man prepares himself for the new year is a factor contributing to his future. He must prepare himself for the new year is a factor contributing to his utter per se. At the same time, you must remember that many entirely lose self. At the same time, you must remember that many entirely lose control of themselves after the first drink. . . . Now it is humiliating to read in the college paper of your former classmate, "I have erected the very highest cultures and the best of alumnus wrote regarding a statement "I made in the issue of December 12. Whether or not I was actually saying anything, or where I was saying it, I am not sure. It must have some relation to the facilities and return to school.
