Virginia Tech Shows Power Despite Losses

Virginia Tech's gridiron, ship in its league Big game for the season this year. ON RESTRICTING ACTIVITIES

There is much activity and talk going on with regards to restricting the number of organizations on this campus. It is in the attempt to broaden our horizons that we discuss these questions and to make the solution that best suits our needs and demands. There is no doubt that some of the organizations, for the reasons stated, are not functioning as they should. There is also no question that if we did not have so many organizations, there would be more time and effort with which to make these organizations truly successful. In order to make these organizations work, we must first of all make them understand what their purpose is, and then see that they are carried out in the best possible manner. It is felt by many that students here are dissipating their energy with the wrong kind of things. It is the same energy that should be used for the benefit of the college and Williamsburg.

As to the college calendar, what if there are innumerable activities in the college and Williamsburg? Students should be allowed to belong to any group they like. They should be allowed to take part in any activity that they feel will benefit them. To make sure that this becomes a reality, the student body should be involved in the activities and the administration should be aware of the possibilities that are available for them.

There is much activity and talk going on with regards to making the organization a reality. The organization is here. We have the means and the manpower to carry out our wishes. The administration, in my mind, should be involved in the organization and should be willing to support us in our endeavors. It is up to the student body to make the organization work and to make sure that it is the best possible organization that it can be.

Chesterfield says that Chesterfield is the one completely satisfying cigarette. Everybody who cares 'em likes 'em. Chesterfield's right combination of American and Turkish tobaccos is the best that money can buy.
