He himself studied at the Paris Conservatoire, graduating with all prizes. His career soon covered not only Europe but North Africa and South America. He made his American debut in January, 1935, with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra. Toscannini, who was in the audience at that first concert, immediately invited him to play under him the following season.

Today, Casadesus is a name of renown in this country. With his wife, -also a gifted pianist-his two growing sons, and a small daughter born here, he has made his home for several years in an old stone Revolutionary house in Princeton, New Jersey, just off the college campus. Canadian Born Corey Is Acting Economics Head

Sports Enthusiast Plays Golf, Hunts; Initiated Placement Bureau At College

By CONNIE CONWAY

It isn't hard to discover the fact that Mr. Hibbert Dell Corey, acting head of the department of economics, was born and attended grade and secondary schools in Canada, because his Canadian accent belies the fact.

Born in Ontario, not far from the waters which separate Canada from the United States, Mr. Corey graduated from high school there before entering the University of Michigan. In school he played what he terms "the usual amount" of football, basketball, and track, and his liking for sports has continued to the present day.

Majoring in economics at Michigan, Wesleyan soon after receiving his B. A. degree. Later he took his Master's degree at Ohio State, and came to William and Mary sixteen years ago in 1929 as an assistant professor in the economics department.

Before the war when time and gas would allow, Mr. Corey was a golf enthusiast, shooting a good low game, we understand. Lately some of his spare time has been devoted to hunting. He is a member of one of the hunt clubs in the vicinity, and until recently raised his own hunting dogs. He still has an Irish setter named Gus Christmas vacation Mr. Corey did some bird hunting on Hog Island in the James River, bagging mostly ducks and geese. Sometime after the war is over he and Dr. Jackson expect to do some dove hunting.

Fairly tall, rather quick-eyed with a subtle humor, Mr. Corey enjoys a good game of bridge or poker. He smokes a pipe and cigars as well as cigarettes.

Femmes Tell Tall Tales Of Fabulous Vacations

B-17 Crew Entertains One Coed As Others Have Odd Adventures

By BOBBIE STEELY

What do William and Mary coeds do their first night back? For some it was an evening of rest after a strenuous vacation; for others it was one of study in preparation for exams; for the other 99 per cent, Accounting Club Meeting-Mar- it was an opportunity of telling tall tales about Christmas vaca-

Bomber Crew Entertains

Tallest tales of all came from Barrett Hall. William and Mary girls are honest, but who believes the story of one lone junior who met an entire B-17 bomber crew on the train, was entertained by them all the way across the prairies, and met them again in Chicago for an eleven-men-to-one-girl dinner date.

Less fabulous but funnier is the joke on one Monroe Hall freshman. Quote the porter, "Someone's bags done popped!" Quote the Monroe minor, "Ha, ha!" Quote the porter, "Miss are yo' bags them with the William and Mary stickers?"

Surprise Visits

Some of those coeds who had been pouring their hearts into V mail letters were happily surprised to find many service men home for Christmas. Others who had anticipated a dull vacation had their spirits lifted by long distance phone calls from Hawaii and Panama.

Steaks, charge accounts open for use, cars, mattresses (with inner springs), teas, dinners, cocktail parties, debuts (one of our freshman New Yorkers can be seen in Life at her debut). dances-were all a part of life back home. Several students, however, didn't reach the home town. A Barrett brunette found her way to West Point where she spent her time strolling down Flirtation Walk. After he still didn't take the hint.

Cold and Snow

Colder climates offered snow for sleigh rides, skiing, and skating. In fact, there was so much snow in part of Ohio that one coed was snowbound for four days and her vacation activities drastically curtailed. (There ain't no justice.)

New Year's Eve was vary gay for some, but for others it was "just another evening" spent in writing letters and thinking of happier years when champagne wasn't just a mem-

New Furnishings Redecorate Dorm

Bright new furnishings of wine and green make the old Jefferson Dormitory living room almost unrecognizable. New rugs and furniture were chosen before the Christmas vacation by Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts and Miss Alma Wilkin, Assistant Professor of Home Economics, after a careful inspection of Jefferson Dormitory's needs.

The redecoration includes four new rugs for the living room, a new rug for the office, slip covers, table lamps, floor lamps, and drapes for the large and small living rooms and the office.

All of the furnishings came from nearly 15 years of dating her cadet, Miller and Rhoads in Richmond.

Library Has Book Series Telling Stories Of Rivers

Gray, Masters, Wilde, Havighurst Tell Of Early United States History

Seventeen books on the rivers of America by such well known writers as James Gray, Edgar Lee Masters and Harry Emerson Wilde have recently been added to the Memorial Book Shelf at the library. This series, widely used by the students for research in history and other Ken Murray, now of the Naval Acasubjects, although not yet complete, has a wide range. Further additions will probably be made to this collection.

The Mississippi, Brandywine, Allegheny, Illinois, Deleware, and Chicago are among the rivers that are discussed in these accounts. One of the chief features of these books is that they vigorously and vividly recount the early history of our country, the been awarded the Distinguished Unit settlers, and the part the rivers played in the building of America.

"Upper Mississippi" by Walter Havighurst portrays the adventures of the Scandinavian immigrants who came to America in the 19th century and made the valley their home.

Hodding Carter in 1942 wrote the "Lower Mississippi," which follows by five years the printing of the less, exciting story of the Upper Mississippi. The author says, "The story of the Lower Mississippi is the story of the people in this valley and of the river that has nourished and tempted and troubled them." Exciting tales of the Indians, explorers, Spaniards, French and English settlers, the modern builders and engineers are all part of this colorful book which has been called one of the best of the "Rivers of America" series.

The story of the Brandywine river, and the Quakers who settled there has been written by Henry Seidel Canby, who was born on its banks.

James Gray said of these works, "These volumes have set a high standard for the series. In back of them a poetic mind has played over the liveliest kind of folklore, warming up old tales to bring out the bouquet of a rich and flavorsome life."

Tigers Edge | Sports Tribe, 41-39 EnemyScoring Led By Fisher

William and Mary absorbed its fourth defeat in five starts in Blow Gym last Saturday night as Hampdenscore of 41-39.

Except for the first five minutes of the game and another five-minute period late in the second half, when the Indians were completely outclassed, it was a nip-and-tuck contest. The lead changed hands repeatedly during the last half and the outcome was not decided until the final seconds.

Hampden-Sydney took over at the start and quickly piled up seven points while the Indians, who couldn't penetrate the Tiger defense, were held scoreless. The Tribe then came to life with the help of three baskets in a row by Stan Magdziak and, with three minutes of the half to go, trailed by only one point. Hank Chandler then sank two which made the count 17-14 at intermission.

It was a rejuvenated Brave squad which returned to action in the second half. Led by Austin Wright, who racked up eight points, they outplay-35-30 lead.

Then Hampden-Sydney turned on the heat. Sparked by their ace, Mike Fisher, they rapidly rolled up eleven points, while the McCraymen, unable to stem the tide, got nothing. The Tigers then displayed their technique of "freezing" the ball as the last minutes were running out. Finally reonly four before the final buzzer.

SKIRTS in SPORTS

By El Weber

With Christmas vacation at an end, our female sports enthusiasts are back, ready to round up their preparations for basketball intramurals. No doubt, some hard practice will be necessary to make up for training breakdowns caused by those late dates and parties at home. Be sure to notice the practice time changes for dormitory and sorority teams for the remainder of the semester. Remember, any player on a team who has not had five practices will cause the team to be disqualified from tournament' games. . .

The Women's Athletic Committee has authorized one trip for a girl's varsity basketball team. One game will be played with Westhampton College and one may be scheduled with the Richmond Hockey Club, which engages in basketball competition as well as

The net team is to be chosen from girls enrolled in advanced basketball classes and those that reseived basketball honors last year. The latter group was sent notes inviting them to tryout for the varsity team. These girls must have extra practices aside from those for intramurals. They will not be excluded from intramural play.

Elections to fill the vacancies re- Snatches: maining in the student assembly will be cording to nominations completed on ton originals. Monday, January 8.

Frances Fleming, Barbara Hughes, Spewak, Helen Thompson, and Mary Ann Hook are the girls nominated from the freshman class.

The freshman boys are Ben Bray, Jim Bray, Anthony Chiaramonte, "Sonny" Davis, John F. Hunt, Jr., Allan Jones, Adolph Null, Harry Sizemore, and Leon Talmage.

College Club Shares Books

Among various activities carried on by the Woman's Club of the College of William and Mary is a book sharing group. The club, made up of women faculty members, housemothers, and faculty wives, has instituted a plan whereby a member buys a book and passes it on to another member and in turn receives one. The interest in this plan was so great that two book sharing programs are now in process. One group passes weekly, another biweekly. Fiction, non-fiction, and a combination of both are the types of books being read.

This plan was started last November 5 and will continue until May 6.

Business Administration Uses Lab, Case Methods

Numerous Projects Provide Interest, Experience For Marsh's Students

Business administration students are finding their work more interesting then ever before with increasing emphasis being placed on the laboratory approach used by the department, according to Dr. Charles F. Marsh.

Although labs were always used in accounting and statistics, it was Sigmund Romberg is busy with dress not until recently that the laboratory and case methods have been applied to other courses in the department. The equipment used by

Paper dolls are one project of the business majors-although they aren't "Accentuate the Positive" and called paper dolls, and they can't be dressed up. Using "templets," small cut-out pieces of machinery, students were given "machines" and a building floor plan, and had to work out a plant layout for a dressmaking establishment by pasting the templets in the proper places. Some results were, of course, rather hilarious, but Dr. Marsh says the project is excellent experience in that type of work.

Winter Dance "The use of such machines will be Is February 10

Midwinters will be held Saturday, February 10, according to plans made by the Dance Committee at a meeting Saturday afternoon, January 7.

The dance will be formal and the William and Mary College Band will play. Bill Britton is in charge of decorations for the hop. Admission is $1.25 per couple. Refreshments will be served.

Plans are still being organized for a final dance with a name band in June. The Dance Committee will begin a drive soon to sell 200 five dollar subscriptions for the Finals.

The Dance Committee took complete charge of the dance last Saturday night, January 7, because it came so soon after the Christmas holiday that the Committee felt no organization would have time to work on decorations and entertainment. The William and Mary Colonials played.

The Committee is composed of three students and three members of the faculty. Dr. H. R. Phalen is chair-
